THE KNIGHTS TEMPLER.

Apont Seventy-Five Local Representatives

This morning Lancaster Commandery, N 13, Knights Templer, left for Philadelphia on Fast Line, at 6:05. They were accompanied by the State Capital band, of Harrisburg. They made a short parade from the asylum of the commandery to the depot. About 75 Knights left on that train. A great many went down yesterday and others on later The crush could not have been greater than that in the loyer of the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, Monday night, when from 4,000 to 5,000 people were furnished with refreshments. They were Knights Templar, their wives, sisters, cousins aunts and friends. They came from all over the state to attend the thirty-fourth annual conclave of the order, which began and will continue until to-morrow evening.

Committed for Trial.

Joseph Stern and Jacob Stern, members of a gang who assaulted and bad beatly Wash Pyle, of the Pennsylvania railroad police, who attempted to put them off a freight train on which they were trying to steal a ride on the night of Barnum's circus, May 13, were given a hearing before Alderman McConomy this morning. Joseph was charged with simple assault and battery and Jacob with fetonious assault. Both were com-mitted, in default of ball, for trial at court.

Reuben Heisler and A. L. Frey, who appeared at the alderman's office to testify in behalf of the above defendants, were arrested as principals in the seault and were held in eir own recognizance for a hearing on Saturday next.

Died at an Old Age.

Pairick Cherry, the liveryman, to-day recuived word of the death of his father, Daniel Charry, which took place in Limerick, County Clare, Ireland, on May 6. The fanoral, which was very largely attended, was held on May 10th. The deceased was in the 60th year of his age. Besides Patrick there are two daughters. One lives in New York and the other in San Francisco.

They give a Proc Concert at the King Street
Thestre Last Svening.
That celebrated musical aggregation known as Gilmore's band charmed a large audience in the King street theatre last evening. The fame of the organization had preceded it and almost every one of musical taste in the city might have been seen in the audience. The first number on the programme was "Der Freischutz," by Weber. It is a thrilling composition and was most efficiently rendered. position and was most efficiently rendered The second gem was a sweet euphonium solo "Concerto Originale," by Signor Raffayolo He svolved a great deal of delightful music out of one of the heaviest of horns and was encored. Then the full band gave Ellenberg's Romanzs, " The First Heart Throbs," which was followed by some wonderful flute playing on themes from "Faust," by Mr. Fred Lax. He was twice encored. The seiection from Meyerbeer's "Prophete," was aplendidly given by the whole band, and then Miss Letitis Fritch, the prima donna, sang Verdi's "Non fu Signo." She has a remarkably strong soprano of high pitch, but there is little of the sympathetic in it. To an encore she sang "Sweetheart." Mr. B. C. Bent rendered "The Lost Chord" on the cornet with extraordinary skill, and he too had a recall. The gem of the evening was the next number, a solo by Herr Metus on the E flat clarionet "Fantaisie Hongroise" by Paganini. The bird like notes that were evolved from this nstrument excited rapturous applause and the performer was recalled. Then came "The Patrol of the Owl's Club" by Escher, by the full band. Some good rollicking stu-dent singing was mingled in this piece. The solo by E. A. Lefebre on the saxophone from "The Bo emian Girl" was a work of art and was encored. The concluding number was a popular fantasie, "Melodies of Scotland, by the entire band. The whole performance was of a very high character and the applause of the pieces was trequent and prolonged.

From the New York World.

Patrick tellmore and his band were recently obliged to wait two hours for a train at Warren, 111. The Testimony Given Against a Chester County Company.
From the West Chester Local News.

Before 'Squire S. B. Russel, West Chester Saturday afternoon, the case of Joseph Bro-sius, president of the Chester and Lancaster County Creamery association, was continued. A portion of the testimony was as follows : Chester and Lancaster County Creamery association. Mr Carter corroborated John Watkins' statement about their having experimented with neutral oil at Cocffran creamery. Mr. Watkins is president of the Cochran

Creamery company.

The station agent at Parkesburg, John M. Essing, testified that there arrived at that station on rich. 17, 1887, lour barrels of neutral oil for Cochran creatnery. It came from Pittsburg. On the 28th of January a barre of manifested grease arrived at the station consigned to Cochran creamery. On January 7 two tierces of lard were thrown off for Mr. Jan. 25, two tierces: February 5, two tierce

Jan. 25, two tierces: February 5, two tierces of lard. Cochranville creamery company paid the freight and took the shipments away.

A colored woman named Grant testified shat she was in the employ of Mr. Spurr last winter. She said she saw white stuff very much resembling tallow in the creamery at various times. During the early part of February a lot of empty barrels were removed from the creamery to Mr. Sourr's cellar. from the creamery to Mr. Spurr's cellar. There was also a barrel of the white stuff referred to, and she testined that she saw Mr. S. carry it out by the bucketful, to the Walter Cochran testified that he had watter Cochran testined that he had worked in the creamery, and in January when he first went there they were making cheese by the emulsion process. He saw one barrel opened; it resembled lard; he stated that they ceased using emulsion some self. He stated that two or three barrels of the "stuit" had come to the creamery. The stuff looked like lard; thought it was lard. No defense was offered by the company. The justice reserved his decision until Tues day morning, out it is said that he has de cided to give judgment against the creamery and fine it $100 under the act of May 21, 1885, providing for the punishment of those adul-terating dairy products.

Funeral of Mrs. Abiano Frazer.

The funeral of Mrs. Abiann Frazer took lace from her late residence, No 38 North Lime street, at 4 o'clock Monday atternoon. There was a short prayer at the house, after Which the remains, in a handsome casket were borne on a bier to the Presbyterian church, and pisced before the altar. The funeral service, conducted by Dr. J. Y. Mitchell, was short, consisting only of prayer, hymns, and the reading of a portion of the scriptures. There was no tuneral sermon, but Key. Mitchell in his ser. mon on Sunday paid a deserved tribute to the memory of deceased. After the service an opportunity was given to those who chose to do so to view the face of Mrs. Frazier, after which the casket was placed upon the hearse and carried to Woodward Hill cemetery followed by a large number of mourners. pall-bearers were Messrs. A. C. Fling, H. S. Gara, Henry Baumgardner, H. B. Swarr, B. J. McGrann, John T. MacGonigle, William B. Middleton and George M. Franklin. The carriers were Officers Cremer, Stormfeltz, Walsh and Roerich.

THEIR OPENI G NIGHT.

A Large Audience to Hear the Grau-Gordo The Grau Gordon Opera company opened for a week in Fulton opera house last even ing to a large audience despite the warm weather and other attractions. The piece suns was "Girotle-Giroffs," an opera heard here a dozen times in the past two seasons. The only other in their reportoire which is equally familiar is "Mikado" for Wednesday evening, but that too will be attended by large audience. This evening "Fra Diavola" is the programme, and for the remainder of the week there are operas that should draw well. Miss Lynton, who heads the company, as the twin sisters, took these characters ex cellently, displaying at all times an easy com mand of her high vocal talent. She was compelled to repeat the drinking song, F. H. Frear so Don Bolero assumed the part in good style, and his wit kept the audience in almost constant applause W. A. Morgan as Masasquin, Louis Carlberg as Mourzonk, and Miss Lucila Dewey as Paquita, were very good in their parts. The chorus is not as strong as some other low-priced companies who appeared hers, but those above named, who take the impor-tant characters, are capable of doing work that cannot fall to please the most critical audience. Their coatumes are line. They deserve to be well patronized.

MARSHAL ANDREW H. DILL. The President Secures a Good Man for th Long Untilled Place

president on Monday appointed Andrew H. Dill, of Union county, marshal for the Eastern district of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Dill will make a good official. He was born in Baltimore, January 18, 1830, and is therefore still in the first haif of his fifty-second year. He graduated from Dick-inson college, taught school for a time in Frederick City, Md , studied law with James Lynch, of that place, and was admitted the bar in 1858. He practiced law for the bar in 1858. He practiced law for a short time in Columbia county, of this state, and later in Gettysburg. He then associated himself for a short time in the law business with his uncle, Isaish Dill, of Huntsville, Alabams, but in April, 1860, returned to this state and settled in Lewisburg, Union county, where he has since continued to reside. He served as first fleutenant of Company F, Twenty-eighth Pennsylvania volunteers, in 1882 fit. In 1880, he was alested a Democratic forms. enator from the same district. At the ex Senator from the same district. At the expiration of his term, in 1873, he was again chosen senator from the new district composed of Union, Snyder and Northumberland over Dr. Wagonseiter, the Republican nominee. He was re-elected in 1876 by an increased majority. In the Senate he easily ranked as the Democratic leader and received the cancus nominat on and the Democratic vote for United States senator into the resignafor United States senator upon the resigna-tion of Simon Cameron in March, 1877. It 1878 he was the Democratic candidate for governor, being detested by Henry M. Hoyt, the Republican candidate, by 22,333 purality, Mr. Dill is a man of excellent private charac er, a good lawyer and a fluent public speaker.

The office over which there has been such a fight is worth not more than $5,000 or $4,000 a year, $2,500 of this being salary, and the remainder fees. Formerly the perquisites of the position paid its incumbent $10,000 to $12,000 a year, but these have been mostly abolished by a recent law of Congress. The patronage of the place is mainly in the apit is probable that he will make Philadelphia his home during his term.

List evening the Lancaster Letderkranz had a big time in the grove in the rear of Knapp's saloon where the State Capitol band of Harrisburg, gave a concert. The rear of the yard was reserved for the members of the Liederkranz and their families, while the general public was admitted to the front. The audience contained many ladies. The concert was an excellent one, as the band is one of the finest musical organizations in the state. The folks present spent a highly en-joyable evening. The programme was as
