BROT BIS SWRETBRART. And Then John Mats Ended His Own Life With a Pictol Builot. om the Beading Times.

Shortly after eleven o'clock Monday night, when the music of the orchestra had ceased for the night and the crowd of merry dancers at Lauer's park were leaving that well-known picnic resort for their homes, the reverberations through the trees of four pistol shots startled all in the vicinity, and when the first shock of the exeltement had subsided, John Matz lay upon the cold pavement surrounding one of the beer stands, still in death, with a bullet hole through his heart. Near him lay Annie Gring mortally wounded. That green-syed monster, jealousy, had been the cause of the tragedy, and the result of the shooting was an exact counterpart of that which took place in the park on the 6th of last September, when Morris Sanders, prompted by the same cause, fatally wounded his wife Mary, and sent a bullet into his own brain which ended his life.

The exact circumstances leading to the tragedy are not definitely known. About ale resort for their homes, the reverbersingedy are not deficitely known. About an hour before the shooting a man and a street of Lutr's saloon at the park. Officer their was called in by the proprietor, fearing that a fight would take place. The officer approached the couple and asked fearing that a fight would take place. The efficer approached the couple and asked the woman whether she desired to have the man arrested. She replied, "No; don't take him down. I only want him to keep away from me." Soon after the woman came down from the balcony and stood at the large tree near the entrance gate. Matz again approached her and the two were entered in conversation for some time when again approached her and the two were en-gaged in conversation for some time when the woman walked towards the first beer the woman walked towards the first beer stand. As she was leaving Matz was heard to say, "If you go with any other man I'il shoot you," and immediately atterward he followed her. She had passed a little beyond the beer stand, and Matz stood still right at the corner of it, pulled out his revolver and fired two shots at her. He saw her fall, and then turning the muzzle of the 42 calibre to himself he fired. The ball passed through his left breast, near the bear. He through his left breast, near the heart. He fell dead instantly. The crowd became greatly excited, but the more cool-headed turned their attention to the woman.

She was taken to her home, where the physician probed for and found the ball. The builet entered the abdomen near the navel and took a straight course, lodging at the base of the hip. Matz had been drinking to excess for some time. He was 25 years of age and a painter by occupation. age and a painter by occupatio

Large Audience at the King Street Theatre There was a very large audience at the King street theatre last evening when W. H. THE QUITTARY RECORD.

At twenty minutes past o clock this morning Miss Hits McCarren, one of Lancaster's best known young milliners, died at the boarding house of Lydia Cremer, No 22½ Rast King street. She was taken ill on Friday last and her case became critical almost immediately. Last evening it was hoped that she might possibly have a change for the better, but the end came to day. The deceased was in her 57th year.

Miss McCarren was the only child of Edward and Annie McCarren, and was born and reared in this city. Her grandfather, James Smith, was a well-known railroad contractor in his day. Her mother and herself carried on the business of millinery in Lancaster until seven years ago, when Mrs. McCarren died. Since that time the deceased has been engaged for herself, and had built up a very fine trade among the best people of the city. She leaves no relatives in this part of the country, her nearest connections being discounter oversion in Allenta Ca. Than have have She serves no resulters in this part of the country, her nearest connections being distant cousins in Atlants, Ga. They have been telegraphed to concerning the death, and no arrangements for the funeral will be made until they are heard from.

The deceased was one of the most popular young women in Lancaster, and she counted her friends by the legion. She had a great flow of animal spirits and a keen appre tion of the ridiculous that always made her company much sought after. Though alone in the world and of fragile constitution, she bore her part bravely and well, and the host of friends that gathered at her dying bodside gave testimony of the high appreciation in which she was held. She was an exemplary member of St. Mary's Catholic church, her presence will be sadly missed in the years to come. Miss Amelia Stranss

Miss Amelia, daughter of Herman and Bertha Strauss, died on Monday, after an illness of a few weeks, from congestion of the lungs. Deceased was employed for a number of years as a saleslady at Astrich Brothers and remained on duty until stricken with the disease, which terminate fatally. She was a member of the congregagation Shearia Shomain, and the members will attend the funeral. She will be buried to-morrow, the twenty-first anniversary of her birth. She was well known in this city, city, and her many friends join with her pe rents in mourning her loss.

Picnics Yesterday. Yesterday was a good day for picnics, as the weather was cool and bracing. Many people enjoyed themselves in that way. The Swiss Gruth association held a very large picnic at Tells Hain and it was an enjoyable affair. At What Glen the Ranger club spent the day dancing and otherwise amusing themselves. The season was opened at Penryn by the Knights of Labor, who had a very good pic-nic. After spending a pleasant day they re-turned to this city and reached here in very good time. All of the picnics passed off very

A great many people of the city who did not go to the picnics spent the day along the Concetogs. The East End Street Car com-pany did an immense business and the cars both ways were crowded all day and until late last night.

Lorman, the great Indian physician, with his teams of famous horses and musicians, gave us some excellent music while passing on his way to Lancaster and York, where he will stop for several weeks Evergreen Castle, No. 130, A.O.K. of M. C., will hold a grand fair and festival on the grounds belonging to Believue hall, on Friday and Saturday evenings, June 3 and 4.

The Spring Garden band will furnish the music. Mr. Joseph Baker, one of our townsmen who has been very ill for several weeks, is able to be out again. Another Society Organizing. LITITZ, May 31.—About sixty persons, numbers of the Moravian church, met in the old chapel Saturday evening for the purpose of considering a plan for the organization of s society having for its object the promoting of social and friendly spirit among the church congregation. F. P. Hart presided, John G. Zook acting as secretary. The pastor, Rev. C. A. Renike, offered a series of resolutions, for the governing of such an organization which, after some changes, were fixed upon and ordered to be presented to another meeting on Thursday eyening, when it is pro osed to perfect the organization. The public schools will have their closing exercises on Wednesday evening, in the Moravian chapel. The high school will graduate one pupil.

The Moravian Sunday school will picuic this year at Penryn Park. Linden Hall commencement occurs on Examination of School Teachers.

On Wednesday forencon a large crowd attended the examination of school teachers at Wakefield, held by County Superintendent M. J. Brecht. The class contained five pu-pils, and three passed a creditable examination and received provisional certificates two pupils failed entirely. At Oak Hill, on Thursday, a very large and interesting attwelve pupils, and they were severely criti-cised by the superintendent, and they passed a good examination, and a very creditable one to themselves. Misses Maud Patterson Mezie Fairlamb, Emma Esbenshade, Sallie Thomas and Addie Kelso, were among the teachers examined. The directors state that the schools are filled already by home appli-

The Teachers Not Display A paragraph in the Philadelphia Press this morning sets forth that the teachers of the public schools of this city are not pleased with the bill signed by the governor, authorizing the holding of a separate institute. Inquiry of the teachers developed that the opposition to the bill is very slight. Only two have expressed themselves as on-Only two have expressed themselves as op-posed to the bill. One of them has been for years an enrolling officer of the county institute, and the objection of the other teacher is that the city schools will be overrun with visitors during the county institute.

Detectives Miller and Tate on Monday at-ternoon arrested Michael Dougherty, George Hammond and Frank Harris on a crowded Hammond and Frank Harris on a crowded Thirteenth street car, at Hamilton street, Philadelphia, on suspicion of intending to plok pockets, and looked them up at the Eighth district station house. Dougherty is taid to be also known as "Red" Dougherty, and Hammond as "Eutrine." The two test named were arrested in this city about ten days ago, during the visit here of Bernum's circus, and were released after being looked up for two days.

The most significant step towards the conrummation of the projected steel works at
