

THE LATE JAS. W. ANDREWS.

BY DR. THOMAS APPEL PARSONS. A MEMORIAL SERMON.

Going over the career of a distinguished Teacher—How He Finally Acquired an Education in the Face of Transcendent Difficulties—A Diligent Learner.

The following beautiful tribute to the late Prof. James W. Andrews was read by Rev. Dr. Theodore Appel, one of the old teachers of the deceased, in a funeral sermon delivered in the Union Presbyterian church, Colerain township, on Tuesday, June 21.

I propose on this occasion to give you a few of my own personal recollections of our deceased brother, which I think will serve to illustrate the noble world of his life.

"For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my thoughts above your ways, and my ways than your thoughts."

I met the deceased for the first time in the spring of 1853, at his father's home in Lancaster, where I was then a boarder and an inmate. His appearance was a sad one.

Previous to this he had been connected with a large mercantile establishment in Philadelphia, where by his energy and his fidelity to his trust he gained the confidence of his employers.

His prospective promotion and future success were flattering. Had his health therefore been spared the probability is that by his high energy and his noble character, he would have arisen in the course of time to honor and wealth among the mercantile princes of the city of Philadelphia.

But God ordered it otherwise. He had a higher and better work for him to do in his day. His employers trusted him, and at times allowed him to have a devoted family opportunity to rest on his shoulders.

In the heated season of 1852, as a consequence, his nervous energies gave way and he was brought home to his father's home in Lancaster, where he remained for some time.

When we first met him he had no hope of recovery from the disorder which had seated itself deeply in his system. Naturally gifted with a strong intellect, he was, however, resigned to his lot, and apparently happy—at least as much so as could be expected of one in his condition.

Never did I hear from his lips a murmur or a word of complaint over the sad dispensation of divine Providence, with which he had been visited.

On one occasion he inquired of me what I thought of his studying Latin. I encouraged him to undertake it, and he was soon enabled to give him such help as he might need. It appeared to me that this would be a healthful exercise to his intellectual faculties.

He went to work with a determination, and with his usual liberality carried out the precept of Horace, in pouring over the classics, with a "single tranquil eye."

It turned out that he needed little assistance from me. He was his own teacher. In less than six months he mastered the old Roman language, and he was able to read the legends, and to translate the works of the great authors, with ease and accuracy.

He then concluded to try his skill with the Greek, and he was soon enabled to read the original language of the New Testament with a better understanding of the meaning of the words.

After studying French in the same manner, so as to gain access to its beautiful literature, he was enabled to read the works of the great authors to which he was somewhat reluctant but afterward overcame his repugnance; and it was not long before he formed a new world of knowledge in the study of the German classics.

He was not content with his own progress, but he sought to impart his knowledge to others. His memory is still green in this community.

The fathers felt their responsibility and together exerted themselves in various ways to sustain themselves and their afflicted children under the stroke of adversity.

But James the brother, a man, we might say with only one arm, but a vigorous brain, likewise essayed to support himself and to win to him a living, and he was successful in the useful and honorable profession of teaching.

Friends and acquaintances in this country and in other lands were gathered around him, and he soon established a school of high grade, which for many years—from 1850 to 1855—was sustained with credit to himself and with great benefit to the youth of his neighborhood and surrounding country.

All this he knew, and it is not necessary for me to repeat to you the details of his life. He was well acquainted with his work—his father, the Rev. Dr. C. W. Stewart, a public occasion some years ago, thus spoke of him, and no doubt that he speaks of him with and without exaggeration when I say that the following statement of his case at the Lancaster office this morning:

There are more victims of Deady's than you would suppose. He had an unshaken faith in Christianity from youth upward; yet he was a free thinker, and his profession of his faith in Christ until he had approached the meridian, so to speak, of his years.

BULLETS FOR OUTLAWS.

DETAILED PARTICULARS OF THE BLOOD BATTLE IN KENTUCKY.

A Sheriff's Force Surrounds Craig Toller and One of the Band of Outlaws and Kill the Leader and Three Others.

All Captured Except Two. In Kentucky's shame, the lawless county of Rowan was Wednesday morning enacted what will beyond all doubt prove the final chapter in the bloodiest mountain vendetta known to the history of the state.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

The annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac began Wednesday at Saratoga. Among those present were Gen. Sherman and Col. Grant.

DUE TO CARELESSNESS.

WAS IN AN ABANDONED PARTTOWER MISS UNHAPPY EXPLODED.

One of the Workmen Entered It With a Naked Lamp—Four Killed and Four Terribly Injured—Of the Latter Some Begged That They Be Killed.

NANTICORE, Pa., June 23.—A terrible mining disaster occurred here this morning. It is reported that several miners have lost their lives and a dozen others injured. The mine has been very badly damaged.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 23.—Later news from Nanticoke is to the effect that the explosion occurred in slope No. 4, of the Susquehanna coal company. Three men were killed outright and four injured. It is believed that two of the latter will die.

The names of the killed are: John McManamin, aged 33, married; James Kelly, aged 25, single; Levi Winters, aged 27, married; Edward Fishbein, one of the injured, died a few hours later, making four dead. Joseph Fishbein is fatally injured, and his death is expected at any moment.

The relatives and friends of the victims, when the latter are brought out of the pit, rush toward them with heartrending cries and endeavor to embrace their mangled forms. An immense crowd surrounds the shaft.

The news of the explosion traveled fast and the miners employed in the other mines quit work and hastened to the scene of disaster.

TAOULIN IN HANTONA. A Ketchikan Boy Escues His Fate Province Is Freed from One Building a Railway.

WINNIPEG, Man. June 23.—It is announced here that the Dominion government is firmly determined to prevent the building of a railway to the boundary line, and will crush out the disaffected in Manitoba.

They say that if they gave way now it would mean the surrender of the province. The construction of the road will be begun in about ten days, and if the Dominion authorities use force, a rebellion will take place.

The government has a force of 1,100 regulars in the northwest, 1,000 of them being mounted police in the territories, and a number of the mounted police and a few regulars.

The mounted police have their hands full keeping the Indians quiet. A battalion of militia has been ordered to be ready to go out, but this action is supposed to be in connection with the threatened Indian trouble.

They were ordered to go out in the event of a riot, but they would simply refuse. Premier Norquay has gone to St. Paul to arrange with the Northern Pacific for the running of trains over the proposed road.

INDIAN POLICE, June 23.—For some weeks past the township trustee has been quietly investigating the burial of papers by Hopley & Hedges, the contractors for the county, and the evidence taken has just been given to the public.

The relatives were able to bury the deceased, and the contractors collected the price of a "respectable" funeral from them and also charged the county the contract price.

In other instances the burials were reported and out of the ground, but the county trustee has been ordered to see that the contract price is paid.

ALLEGED CROOKEDNESS. LANCASTER, Mich., June 23.—The Evening Journal, of this city, yesterday printed an article declaring that Representative Macklin and O'Keefe were guilty of illegal practices in connection with the reconstruction of the United States Senator Stockbridge.

The article declares that the two men were guilty of a conspiracy to defraud the State of Michigan, and that they had received $70,000 from the State.

The article also states that the two men had received $70,000 from the State, and that they had used this money for their own private purposes.

The article further states that the two men had received $70,000 from the State, and that they had used this money for their own private purposes.

The article also states that the two men had received $70,000 from the State, and that they had used this money for their own private purposes.

The article further states that the two men had received $70,000 from the State, and that they had used this money for their own private purposes.

The article also states that the two men had received $70,000 from the State, and that they had used this money for their own private purposes.

The article further states that the two men had received $70,000 from the State, and that they had used this money for their own private purposes.

The article also states that the two men had received $70,000 from the State, and that they had used this money for their own private purposes.

The article further states that the two men had received $70,000 from the State, and that they had used this money for their own private purposes.

The article also states that the two men had received $70,000 from the State, and that they had used this money for their own private purposes.

IRLAND NOT PACIFYING.

THE OPPOSITE OF COMMON SENSE IN HASTY AND UNADVISED.

A Bitter Note to the Irish With Their Disregard of Arms Will Be Sent to the Government.

LONDON, June 23.—The effect of the queen's jubilee celebration upon the people of Ireland, has been something akin to the effect produced by flaunting a red flag in the face of an already exasperated bull.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

It is believed that the jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

THE COURT AUDITORS REPORT.

The Account of the Treasurer of all the County Institutions Given.

The county auditors presented their annual report to the court this afternoon. It sets forth that they examined the accounts of the county treasurer, treasurer of the poor board, prison inspectors, Children's Home, teacher's institute, and found the same to be correct.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

The following is a summary of the accounts: Balance on hand December 31, 1886, $1,000.00. Outstanding tax, 1886, 500.00. Total, $1,500.00.

IRLAND NOT PACIFYING.

THE OPPOSITE OF COMMON SENSE IN HASTY AND UNADVISED.

A Bitter Note to the Irish With Their Disregard of Arms Will Be Sent to the Government.

LONDON, June 23.—The effect of the queen's jubilee celebration upon the people of Ireland, has been something akin to the effect produced by flaunting a red flag in the face of an already exasperated bull.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

It is believed that the jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.

The jubilee celebration in London and throughout England has awakened a feeling of indignation in Ireland, and unless those who were only held in check by the restraining influence of superior intellect, or by the absence of a native, already the murmurings of the people, the portentous import of which was well understood by the local authorities, have penetrated the precincts of Dublin.