"A Parent " Gives His Reasons For Object to Superintendent Buchrie's Innevation. EDITORS OF THE INTELLIGENCER-A one of those who were and still are inclined to complain of Prof. Boehrie's " order " to the teachers obliging them to withhold from parents the results of their children's annual examination, I read with much interest and with the professor. I confess, however, that neither his nor your words have had the effect of making me see that his action is "A Prop r Order." In the first place, I protest that the "order" was not just and fair to teachers, parents of pupils, in that it was so suddenly sprung upon them. They had expected, and had a right to expect from the precedents of the past, that the reports of the scholars would be communicated as they had been for years. So radical a change of procedure abould have been announced before, long before the examination, and not afterwards, suddenly, unexpectedly and without a word of expla nation. Becoudly, the chief reasons given for the order." if they have any force, apply with the same force also against the monthly reports. If the yearly reports tend to over timulate ambitious children, I submit that the monthly reports must do precisely the same. Common consistency demands the equal suppression or abolition of all reports. Thirdly, the alleged "crowding out" of dull pupils in order to raise the average percentage of a teacher's class is not prevented so long as the teachers are made acquainted with their scholars' percentage as they now are. Besides, the suppression of the yearly report will not be as effective in preventing it as would be the suppression of the monthly Fourthly, however, if the teachers were to be left unacquainted with their pupils' per-centage what restraint or corrective in the matter of promotions would there be? The whole burden and responsibility would res upon one man, the superintendent. He rould have absolute power and unitmited authority and would be unable to disprove the inevitable accusations of favoritism, prejudice, whim, unfairness, &c., that would be made by the numerous disappointed ones. He would simply be an irresponsible autocrat

The case therefore stands thus : Unless the monthly reports are also abolished, and with the yearly are kept from the knowledge of the teachers, the " proper order " reach one of its main ends. But if this be done then a dangerous power and authority are given into the hands of the superintendnt, such as I am sure the public is not prepared to give, and our superintencent would be the last one to wish. The only escape from this dilemma appears to me to lie in referring the whole subject to our elected representatives, the board of di-rectors. They and only they are the ones in whose province it is to issue such "an order," for they are the representatives of the public, and are supposed to express that public's sentiments and will, and are directly respon-sible to the public. And they, I am sure, will not think a parent's interest in a child's standing in class and progress in its studies to be nothing but "idle curiosity"; but will recognize in the parent's desire to have an official report rendered on the subject a natral and commendable feeling ; the parent's demand for such report being based on funda-nental right ; and the rendition of the same only the plain duty of the public's servant to the public that employs him. While, therefore, I do not doubt that Prot. Buehrie had the best intentions and purest motives in issuing his "order," I still fee that he made a serious mistake in doing it. and that the order itself is very far from being "a proper order." Begging pardon for taking up so much of your space, 1 sign myselt A PARENT.

Let Them Come 11 207 197 of the board of pardons at Harrisburg, saking for the commutation of the death penaity of Samuel Johnson, the colored man in the Media jail who stands convicted of the mur-der of John Sharpless. A mong the strongest latiers is one from Henry C. Snowden, a member of the board of public charities, who does not believe the culprit deserves the gallows. Ex-Congressman Broomail has also written a letter asking for commutation in the name of Mrs. Sharpless, the wife of the murdered man, and several of her relatives' signatures are statched to a petition praying that the negro's life may be saved. The pot-tioners for executive clemency from the counties of Chester and Delaware are said to number nearly 10,000, many of whom are members of the Society of Friends. The case will be heard on Tuesday a week.
