

GOLDEN ROSE.
Admits has come back; stouder stang.
Through twelve months of absence;
And then, O Aphrodite, void of fear, Dost sport in gold; and thou, gold bearded thing, O water lily, drink at when vapors sting.
Their sacred track of many a barbed spear.
The scent of new mown hay; and vague, yet near,
The voice of the noisily chirping ring:
The sky is blue and gold and pearl beyond, High blazes color, larkspur, poppy, pink;
The air is incense; it is joy to live!
Yet only soulless creatures are omitted.
Alas! in all this splendor we were think, Beyond this beauty what has earth to give?
— Maurice P. Egan in Lippincott's Magazine.

Do Not Try to Reform Him.
With a Southern family in New York there has been staying for some time a young lady from the interior of the state.
She is of a philanthropic turn of mind, but her benevolent instincts have recently received a sad check. Fully convinced that where there's a will there's a way, she undertook to reform an old colored servant of the family, who loved whiskey "not wisely, but too well."
George Washington Jefferson was from "de South," and in consideration of years of faithful service the family took no notice of his falling. But the young lady tried persuasion, cajolment, and every other means, and everything else that a good heart and earnest purpose could suggest, to induce him to abandon his intemperate habits. But it was all in vain. At last in a fit of reasonable patience he said to him one day:
"I declare, George, I'd give you a thousand dollars if you'd give up drinking."
"Oh, young miss, replied the old incorrigible, 'd you know what I'd do wid dat thousand dollars if I had it. I'd joo buy me a couple o' hams, a ham o' pork, an' I'd hire a nigger, an' I'd joo buy my old black m' down on dat lounge, an' I'd joo make dat nigger pump dat whiskey down my frock f'r me, dat ud I'd joo buy me a pair o' jublin. Don't you temp' me dat way no mo'." The young lady has given up all efforts to reform George Washington Jefferson, and nobly remunerates with him now when he gets drunk.

Market Gardening by Steam.
An elaborate and effective plan for "forcing the season" in New England has been resorted to by a Boston market gardener, whose enterprise is worthy of recognition.
His gardens in Cambridge are spacious, being about three acres in extent. When lettuce is worth in the Boston market a quarter of a dollar a head, and "greens" and radishes are correspondingly dear, this enterprising Yankee makes money by supplying the market with artificial "greens" and radishes of their natural season. He does not only the glass coverings which are provided for ordinary hot beds, but a novel arrangement in addition to the system of a system of underground steam pipes for warming the garden. These are for the benefit of uncovered beds, as well as for those that are covered, so that in early May when the ordinary hot bed has gone by, the forcing process can still go on, even in uncovered hot beds by means of this "Boston heat" in the pipes. It is said to be a paying operation.

He came Up Calling.
From the New York Sun.
Brown—I say, Robinson, are you still sweet on Miss Tittleback?
Robinson—I'm afraid she didn't appreciate my visits.
"Why do you think so?"
"Well, the last time I called she had an alarm clock in the parlor, and had it set for 10 o'clock. I've given up calling there."

The Last Remedy.
"Humph!" grumbled the clock, "I don't know of any one who is harder worked than I am—twenty-four hours a day year in and year out."
And then it struck.

Breaking Down and Building Up.
When a man breaks down in the matter of physical strength, the question of his recovery depends in great measure upon the length of time he allows to elapse before adopting any remedial or restorative course. A course which gives a speedy and powerful impulse to the processes of digestion and assimilation, is the best auxiliary he can employ, and he cannot realize too early the dependence of his recovery upon the regularity of his meals and the quantity of his food. The agent which has ever proved to be the most reliable in such cases, is the vegetable food known as the "Vegetable Food," which is a compound of the most nutritious and easily assimilated vegetable matter, and is the best food for the system in such cases.
While not claimed to be a panacea, it is a most reliable and safe remedy, and is well adapted to the case.

SHOULD I TAKE CURE?
I have been a sufferer from the Catarrh of the Bladder, for some years, and first used Allen's Cathartic Pills, for a time, but they did not do me any good, and I felt down and out, and I fell down states and got a terrible wrench and pain. For several weeks I suffered acute pain in the shoulder joint, and getting no relief, or temporary relief, from various remedies, I put on Allen's Cathartic Pills, and kept it on for two or three weeks, and my shoulder was free, and they also cured me in six weeks of a most obstinate form of dyspepsia.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.
The Blood
is the source of health; therefore, to keep well, purify the blood by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.
This medicine is peculiarly designed to act upon the blood, and drives out from the system all impurities and humors. It has a specific action, also, upon the secretions and excretions, and sustains the system to expel from the system all impurities, impure particles, and other matter through the lungs, liver, bowels, kidneys and skin. It effectually cures weak, impaired and debilated organs, invigorates the nervous system, tones the digestive organs, and imparts new life and energy to all the functions of the body. A peculiarity of Hood's Sarsaparilla is that it strengthens and builds up the system while it eradicates disease.
Caused by a Spider Bite.
"Seven years ago, while my little boy was playing in the yard, he was bitten by a spider.
The poison entered his blood, and soon broke out about his body; they itched terribly and caused him intense suffering. Several times we succeeded in beating the sores up, but in spite of all we could do they would soon break out again. Finally we tried Hood's Sarsaparilla, and he took one bottle and one-third of another, when the sores disappeared, and never came out on him now, and I consider him positively cured." Wm. H. B. Wain, Downing-ton, Penn.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.
The Blood
is the source of health; therefore, to keep well,
purify the blood by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.
impurities and humors. It has a specific action, also, upon the secretions and excretions, and
skin. It effectually cures weak, impaired and debilated organs, invigorates the nervous sys-
body. A peculiarity of Hood's Sarsaparilla is that it strengthens and builds up the system
while it eradicates disease.
Caused by a Spider Bite.
"Seven years ago, while my little boy was
playing in the yard, he was bitten by a spider.
and caused him intense suffering. Several
times we succeeded in beating the sores up, but
break out again. Finally we tried Hood's Sarsaparilla, and he took one bottle and one-third of another, when the sores disappeared, and
positively cured." Wm. H. B. Wain, Downing-ton, Penn.
