Mesers. David F. Mages, of White Rock, and Elisha Kirk, of Hopswell, returned home Wednesday from a month's visit to various battle fields in Virginia. They took the overland route, driving all the way. Among the points of interest visited, made historic by bloody conflicts, were the following: Fredericaburg, Bull Run, Salem Church, Chancellorville, Wilderness, Spottsylvania, Chickamauga, Gaines' Mill, Seyen Church, Chancellorville, Wilderness, Spottsylvanis, Chickamauga, Gaines' Mill, Seven Pines and Brick House. At all these places
Mr. Mages picked up relica of the war.
While on the Wilderness battle field he found a bayonet. He had his photograph apparatus along and succeeded in securing 66 views of the places visited. Mr. Mages will write and illustrate an account of his pleasant trip for the Lancaster IntelligenCER. It is not necessary to say that it will be entertaining, for the author's pen is a ready one.

Some consternation was created among the fruit hucksters this morning, when Frank Mettlett threw upon the market fifty big bunches of rare-ripe bananss, selling the fruit at a cent a piece—the usual price being from three to five cents. It seems that some of the down town dealers had been cutting the price of lemons, and some other fruit, and as Mettfett had received a large invoice of unordered bananas he unloaded them at the price above named, rather than have them rot on his hands.

Cool Procedure of a Burgiar. A young woman visiting in Congress at rect Portland, Me., was awakened by a noise in her room Monday night, when a burgiar put his hand over her mouth, kissed her and his hand over her mouth, kissed her and said: "Keep still, sis; I won't hurt you. All I want is these trinkets." She man-ged to arouse the house when, with a polite "Good night, sis," he sprang from a window, having in a bundle every portable article of value in the room and a sum of money. He left his hat behind, and it was hung on the rack in the front hall, to be given to the police as a clue. The family then retired and the burglar returned and stole the hat. turned and stole the hat.
