The news spread rapidly in the hern part of the city, and a large party was organized to search for the body, which ras recovered as above stated.

Meantime young McNaughton had has wened into town to bear the sad news to Myere' relatives and friends. He told Mr. bel about it, and Mr. Seibel had word sent the young man's sunt, Mrs. Charles nidt, 632 Columbia avenue, where Myers had lived before he went to board with Mr.

The dead body of the young man was soon erwards taken to Mr. Sch.uidt's and Coroner Honoman notified. He summoned jury composed of John Spangler, John Millichsock, Jacob Souders, Henry Walt, George Oblender and Conrad Moser. They rendered a verdict of accidental drowning. Gottfried Myers was a native of Wittenberg, ermany ; he came to this country three or our years ago, and made his home with his Mrs. Schmidt, until last May when he took board with Mr. Seibel. He was a cigar naker by trade, and worked for Oblinger Bros., & Co., in the large factory in the "Hotel Lancaster" building. He was a member of the Lancaster Liederkranz and the Lagcaster Manaperchor.

BEBAKING AN ORDINANCS.

Buch Complaint About the Boys Bathing With in View of Citizens-A Young Mau

Narrowly Escapes Death.

Regular Correspondence of INTELLIGENCER. COLUMBIA, July 23.-The ordinance which ibits bathing in the river between the bours of sun rise and sun set is being infringed daily. There have been no measured as yet taken to abate this nuisance. Every ing between the hours of six and eight a string of boys extending all the way from the bridge to the the loot of Union streets may be seen ergaging in this popular sport in direct violaion of the law. The officers are as a rule very active and efficient, but in this one instance they are, to say the least careless, and in consequence this careless, and in consequence this sport is engaged in with impunity.

Many ladies, for whom boating possesses at tractions are obliged to forego this enjoy-ment, and thus the river, in which all have en equal share, is monopolized by a few. The boys then are not only violating an ordinance, but they are trampling upon the rights of others, and thus make themselves objects of criticism. We are charitable enough to believe that the boys do not look at the matter in this light, and that the course pursued is the outgrowth of careless ness. Let them then be aroused to a sense of their situation, and the infringement of the ordinance will cease ; and all will be enabled to take advantage of the enjoyments afforded by the river. Narrow Escape From Death. A young man by the name of Bittner, who was among the excursionists to Mount Greins yesterday, had a miraculous escape from death Just as the train was rounding Chiques curve be fell from the step on which he had been standing and struck the ground with consid erable force. He escaped with a few bruises and torn clothes. Among the excursionists were two young men who will no doubt look back upon this trip with considerable interest, one of these was left at Mount Greins and the other "stopped " at Middletown. A York woman who was among those who spent the day at Lititz, had a spark blown against her clothing, which ignited. Great consternation prevailed throughout the entire train until the tire was smothered by the woman being enveloped in a shawl. The treasurer, so that the delegation could prewoman was not injured. John Carson, alias Kit Carson, a notoriou "tough," was arrested yesterday by Officer Wittick, charged with robbing John S Smith's saloon. He was brought before 'Squire Evans, who committed him to jail to await trial at court.

THE ROTE BRAKE.

It Wins Golden Opinions from Meadville, I Crawford County. The Meadville Republican gives an inter sting description of the successful working of the Rote automatic brake on Tuesday evening, when the following gentlemen represented the company : M. D. Horter, Mansfield, O, president; Robert M. Agnew, Lancaster, Pa., vice president ; R E Lin ham, Manstield, O, mechanical superin tendent. Briefly, the idea is as follows: On the under side of the draw head or beam, is a short iron pin, on the inside of and against which rests one end of a lever, the other which rests one end of a lever, the other end of which is connected with the break chain, or rod. As the draw head gives when the cars come together, the result is that the pin under the draw head presses the lever back and thus sets the break, thus it will be seen that if the air brakes on the engine be set, every car in the train will press on the one ahead of it and thus set its own brakes. To the question : "How do you manage to back a train " we were informed that a " governor " was arranged on the axie of the car. This " governor " is similar in its uses to that of a station ry en-gine and is so expanded by centritugal mo-tion when the train is moving that it throws the brake lever " into gear " with the pin under the draw head, but when the train slows the lever to drop under the pin, only to be " regeared " when the train starts again. "We were informed by centiones or to be "regeared." when the train states again. "We were informed by gentlemen con-nected with the Nypano, who have witnessed a portion of the present test that it has the appearance of being absolutely perfect. The train is at all times under control, although some of the heaviest down grades were ran at the rate of forty miles an hour. The train, loaded with oats, leaves this morning in con-tinuance of its trip to New York."
