He Wasn't Built That Way.

From the Detroit Free Press.

There were half a dozen of us sitting around the depot at Verbena, Ala., when an old darkey, evidently just in from the plantation after 'baccy or groceries, hove in sight.

"Now, boys," said the colonel as we all remarked the old man, "you keep still and I'll score that old nigger out a year's growth."

With that he called to Sambo and the old man came up, doffed his hat and asked what was wanted.

"I'm Gen. D. Kristus Longfellow and have been sent down here by the United States government to look up the marriage certificates of colored people. Have you got yours with you?"

"N-no, sah."

"What! Have no marriage certificate to show?"

"Dead I haven't, sah."

"Then, sir, let me inform you that the penalty is five years in state prison. Did you lose your certificate?"

"Reckon not, sah."

"Never had one?"

"Nebber."

"Great snakes! but it will go hard with you, Uncle Moses. I hate to tear you from your family and send you to prison for the rest of your days, but duty must be obeyed. No certificate of marriage, never had one and I don't suppose you can remember who married you?"

"No, sah, I can't."

"E Pluribus Unum! But won't you catch it. Where and when were you married?"

"No whar! Nebber got mar'd 'tall. Allus dun bin what you white folks call an old bach—haw! haw! haw!"

Venus' Culmination.

From the Providence Journal, July 28th.

Venus is evening star. She reaches the point during the month of August, when she puts on her most glorious aspect as evening star. On the 15th, at noonday, she appears in her greatest brilliancy, being then about 40° east of the sun, and her diameter measuring 40". When she became evening star last December her whole illuminated disk (like the full moon) was turned toward the earth, and, being at her greatest distance from us, her diameter was only 10". She has ever since been traveling toward us and increasing in size and brilliancy. At the same time she has been turning less and less of her illuminated disk toward us, passing through the phases of the moon from full to new. Until the 15th the increasing size of the planet's disk has more than counterbalanced the lessening portion, which is illuminated, and as every observer must have noticed, the fair evening star has grown more brilliantly beautiful. After the 13th the illuminated crescent rapidly diminishes until it becomes exceedingly thin. The increasing size no longer counterbalances the lessening light, and the planet perceptibly wanes in brilliancy. There are two of these periods of greatest brilliancy, as they are called. The one like the present occurring thirty-six days before inferior conjunction when Venus is evening star, and the other occurring thirty-six days after inferior conjunction when Venus is morning star. Our planetary neighbor will be a charming object for celestial study during the whole month of August, increasing in splendor until the 15th, and approaching the sun from the month's commencement to its close. The proof of her increasing brilliancy will be perceptible to the eye of the careful observer, and the proof that she is drawing nearer to the sun will be found in the lessening length of her stay above the horizon after sunset. Thus on the 1st she sets an hour and a half after the sun. On the 31st she sets about half an hour after the sun.

A Terrible Grade Crossing Accident.

A terrible accident occurred near Richmond, Ind., Friday, in which three persons and two horses were killed and a fourth person badly injured. The killed were Joseph Rich, a farmer, aged thirty, his baby and his wife's mother, Hannah Newcomb, aged fifty-three, his wife being the only one that escaped alive. He drove on to the Pan Handle crossing at the western limits of the city, as he had safely done many times before, after hearing the whistle, but this time the train was coming thirty-miles an hour and caught him. The spectacle was horrible, as Rich was cut in two and had his head caved in. His baby was ground to a pulp, and Mrs. Newcomb had one leg cut off, and her arms, body and head mangled.

Why His Case Was Lost.

From the Boston Courier.

"Yes," said Mr. Mally sadly, "I lost my case—lost it by the injudicious language of my lawyer, Mr. Lally."

"Why, how was that, Mr. Mally?"

"Why, when my lawyer was closing his argument, he thought to make a good point by saying, 'Let justice be done, though the heavens fall.'"

"I shouldn't think that would have injured your case."

"It did, for the lawyer on the other side in closing said, 'Fiat justitia ruat coelum.' That settled the business with the jury, and I had to pay damages."

A Notice to Burglars.

A cool business character, on leaving the city for a trip to Paris with his family, placed a placard just inside the door, couched in the following language: To Burglars: All my plate jewelry and other valuables are in the Safe Deposit company's vaults. The trunks, cupboards, &c., contain nothing but second hand clothing, too bulky to remove, on which you would realize comparatively little. The keys are in the left-hand top drawer of the sideboard. You will also find there a cheque to bearer for £20, which will remunerate you for your loss of time and disappointment. Please wipe your feet on the mat and don't spill any candle-grease on the carpets."

Petrified Bodies Found.

In Lopatcong township, Warren county, N. J., several petrified bodies have just been exhumed. The burying ground is an old one and the ancestors of the Felt family lie buried therein. In one instance the grave clothes were still intact and could be easily distinguished. The bodies were so rigid that they could be lifted out of the graves by one person taking hold of the head and another by the feet. The coffins were found to be filled with water.

Worshiping in the Woods.

From the New York Sun.

Elderly Stranger—Boy, can you direct me to the campmeeting grounds?

Boy—Yessir. Just foller the road over the hill till you come to the lager beer stand, then turn to the right, an' you're there.

Why They Were Good.

From Judge.

"That peddler must have very good bananas," remarked Merritt. "I guess I'll go over and get some." "What makes you think they are good?" asked Cobwigger. "Because," returned Merritt, "I see the policeman sampies them every time he passes by."

Dr. R. D. Smith says: "'Digestylin' was taken by my wife who was suffering from indigestion, and it's use was beneficial to her."
