TO HIM THAT LOVETH MUCH.

Farewell! 'tis finished; not with idle tears
May I efface the writing on the wall,
Or from the vanished past one deed recall
Whose fetters bind with iron the unborn years;
Still on the face of memory appears
Reflected on what thought of me may fall,
Or good or ill; the sins that like a pall
Darken the brighter things that image bears.
Though not with hope my days and dreams are filled,
For truth is stern and hideth not her face,
Crying, "Thy self-forged bonds shall not be riv'n,
Nor that revive again which thou thyself hast killed."
Wilt thou not say, when looking on those days,
"To him that loveth much is much forgiven."
—From the Boston Budget.

NOTES FOR THE FARMER.

A Few Lines on Subjects That Will Not Fail to Interest Him.

Apples, pears, etc., that may not be sufficiently ripe to be eaten in the raw condition may be utilized by cooking them.

Save the wood ashes to use as a fertilizer. It is more profitable than to sell them to the soapmakers. Wood ashes never come amiss on the farm or in the garden.

Carrots are said to be excellent food for horses, giving a sleek, oily appearance to their hair. As from 500 to 1,000 bushels may be raised to the acre on good land we think they might be made profitable for home use.

Asparagus roots may be put down in the fall, but the ground should be well prepared in advance by filling trenches with fresh manure and allowing the manure to heat and decompose in the trench after covering with earth. In the fall the manure and earth can be incorporated, and the trench will be in an excellent condition for the roots.

The farmer who will keep a flock of 25 or 30 hens with the usual accompaniment of 100 or more lively chicks, and will allow them to share his domain in common with himself, his other stock and farm utensils, will find perplexity and most abominable company at every turn. The hen at large, in her multiplied form, is worse than any army of locusts and her following as offensive as a pestilence.

No mill grinds more regularly, said the late Ben. Perley Poore, than the stomach of a healthy pig; hence there must be great regularity in times of feeding, and great care that the quantity and quality of feed are suitable. The practice of compelling pigs to "root, little pig, or die," from two months old to the time when they are to be put up to fatten is not economical. Time and feed are lost on this practice and the risks are increased.

Professor Arnold says the fact is so many people have their taste blunted by the use of alcoholic or malt liquors, tobacco in its various forms, strong and hot tea and coffee, and by foods strongly seasoned with salt, vinegar, pepper, spice, cloves and other aromatics, that their tastes become obtuse to the delicious but mild flavor of butter, which is so agreeable to the unperverted taste. They want something to rasp their dull palates to a higher excitement, and a little extra salt just does it.

An American Aristocrat.

From a Washington Letter to the Kansas City Journal.

"Whoa! Gang!" was the curious formula which I heard another farmer use one day this week. He was driving a pair of Norman-Percheron mules to a wagon loaded with brick, and as he shouted to them he whacked them rhythmically with a broken lath upon the after deck.

Him I knew by sight. Washington is pretty well acquainted with his contour. It was Lord Fairfax, so he is playfully called by his acquaintances, and there is a good deal of curiosity expressed about him. The fact is that he is an aborted lord. He is a direct descendant in the oldest son line of that distinguished lord, Thomas Fairfax, who did so much to assist the settlement of Virginia—the Lord Fairfax who gave Washington his first commission, who established the grand manor of Greenway court in the Shenandoah Valley, who remained true to his king through all, and who, when he heard that G. W. had captured Lord Cornwallis, remarked: "Sam, put me to bed; it is high time I should die"—and immediately died. Greenway Court perished long ago, but the Fairfax family has retained much land in the vicinity of Fairfax Court House, and they still remain strongly attached to the soil; like them of the collateral line, the Fairfaxes of England. This man of the mule team is interesting, because he has only to go to England, prove title, take the ironclad oath, and be reconstructed, to sit in the House of Lords.

Seeds That Germinate Quickly.

The human system is a fruitful soil, and among seeds that germinate most rapidly in it are those of rheumatism and neuralgia. A slight cold, brought on by sitting in a draught, wet feet or damp clothes, will develop either of those abominable painful maladies with unpleasant rapidity. The proper preventive of this agonizing vegetation is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine which nullifies a tendency to either of the maladies named, and soothes the aches which they cause. Nor is it less effective as a remedy for rheumatism than as its preventive, a fact as amply attested as any other relating to its curative properties. Mariners, miners, frontiersmen, and others, have ever found it a faithful preservative of health in unfavorable regions, and a benign remedy for malarial disorders, and stomach, liver and bowel complaints. It is a fine promoter of appetite and a capital tonic.

Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me by my druggist as a preventive to hay fever. Have been using it as directed since the 9th of August and have found it a specific for that much dreaded and loathsome disease. For ten years or more I have been a great sufferer each year, from August 9th till frost, and have tried many alleged remedies for its cure, but Ely's Cream Balm is the only preventive I have ever found. GOLDEN SPECIFIC.

DRUNKENNESS

—OR THE—

LIQUOR HABIT POSITIVELY CURED BY ADMINISTERING DR. HAINES' GOLDEN SPECIFIC.

It can be given in a cup of coffee or tea without the knowledge of the person taking it; is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. Thousands of drunkards have been made temperate men who have taken Golden Specific in their coffee without their knowledge, and to-day believe they quit drinking of their own free will. IT NEVER FAILS. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. For sale by CHAS. A. SWIFT'S SPECIFIC.

S. S. S.

The Theatrical Profession.

Merit will win and receive public recognition and praise. Facts, which are the outcome of general experience, growing through years of critical and practical test, become as rooted and immovable as the rock of Gibralter in public opinion, and henceforth need no further guarantee as to their genuineness. The indisputable fact that Swift's Specific is the best blood purifier in the world, is one of those immovable Gibralter facts of which we have spoken, and every day's experience roots this conviction deeper and deeper in public opinion. Every case of our people in America and in Europe, every trade, calling and profession, including the medical profession, have borne voluntary testimony to the remarkable virtues of S. S. S. and its infallible efficacy in curing all diseases of the blood. These testimonials are on file by the thousands and open to the inspection of all. Now come, unsolicited, two distinguished members of the theatrical profession, who gratefully testify to the wonderful curative qualities of the specific in their individual cases. Their testimonials are herewith submitted to to the public without further comment—let them speak for themselves. The lady is a member of the famous Thalia Theatre Company, of New York, and formerly of the Residence Theatre, Berlin, Germany, and of McVicker's Stock Company, of Chicago. The gentleman is a well known member of the New York Thalia Theatre Company. Both are well known in theatrical circles in this country and in Europe.

Charlotte Handow's Testimony.
New York, May 3, 1887.

Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga.:

Gentlemen—Having been annoyed with pimples, eruptions and roughness of the skin, from bad condition of my blood, for more than a year, I used a leading preparation of sarsaparilla and other advertised remedies to no effect. Then I consulted a prominent physician, and from his treatment received no benefit. I then concluded to try the S. S. S. remedy for the blood, and five or six packages, by a thorough eradication of my trouble and restoring a smoothness to my skin, have made me happy, and I cheerfully give you this testimonial for such use and publicity as you wish to make of it.

CHARLOTTE HANDOW,
451 Bowery, near Canal Street.

Hugo Haskerl's Testimony.

The Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga.:

Gentlemen—For two years I had a severe case of eczema. I used tar soaps, sulphur soaps, and various other remedies, and was prescribed for by numbers of physicians, but found no relief. At last I determined to try the S. S. S. remedy, and seven or eight bottles have thoroughly relieved me, and you can use this certificate in any manner you wish.
