While swinging on the barley cars. Come, hurry, while there yet is time, Pull up thy scarlet bounds. Row, sweetheart, as my love is thine, There is a drop upon it. So trip it ere the storm-hag weird Doth pluck the barley by the beard.

Lo! not a whit too soon we're housed; The storm-witch yells above us; The branches rapping on the panes Seem not in truth to love us. And look where through the clover bush The nimble-forced rain doth rush!

The Mission of the Journalist " I hold that whatever be the window e adage about the cobbier sticking to his iast, there is no position in which the born and trained journalist is so much out of place as when holding a place in the official mech-and trained journalist is so much out of place as when holding a place in the official mechnish of government. It is as absurd as to suppose that a man train a suid the duties and traditions of official life could make a good editor. And no man can successfully mingle journalism and official position. Either he will yield wholly to the official practice of guarding and suppressing the truth, or else, like a good journalist, he will care nothing about snything but the truth. "For in journalism there can be but one success, and that is to print the truth, and to print it a little shead of anybody else. While I do not propose to deliver a lecture on journalism, I may say that the older I grow the nearer I come to the boys, the young fellows. It is in business somewhat as it is in domestic life. A man starts out with a well digested plan of conduct. The first three or four children come along, and his discipline is unexceptional. But later, when the children are more numerous, his rigor relaxes, and he begins to get acquainted with his family. And so I have found it in my profession, and now I am happy to be the friend of all the young men not only in my own office, but in the city where I work. So I am glad to meet you here to-day, and I hope that the meeting may be many times repeated during my stay in New York.

The Shoes Wouldn't " squake."

The Shoes Wouldn't " squake." From the Boston Transcript.

Some two months ago, a boot and shoe dealer of the listener's acquaintance sold an esteemed customer a nest pair of low shoes for five dollars. He had not heard from the ustomer for all this interval until, the other day, the man dropped into the store and stepped up to the proprietor with a reproachful gaze on his countenance.
"Good afternoon, Mr. O'Brien," said the proprietor.

"Good day to ye," said Mr. O'Brien; "but all the same, ye shtuck me on the pair o' shoes ye sold me for five dollars."
"Stuck you? Was there anything the matter with the shoes?" "Ah, well"—the customer shrugged his shoulders—we'll say no more of it, but 'twas a moighty chape pair of shees."
"What makes you think they were a chean pair?"

Mr. O'Brien intensified the reproachfulness of his gaze, and laid his finger on the side of his nose.

"Sure," said he, "I've worn these shoes for two months, and divil a squake I had out o' thim !"

l'ainless Regulation.

It is no longer a question of doubt-al-though the contrary was once believed-that medicines which produce violent effects are ansuited to other than desperate emergencies. In other words, that super-potent remedica are calculated to weaken and injure the sysare calculated to weaken and injure the system rather than reform its tregularities. Almost medicines of debilitating effect are cathactics and cholagognes which copoundly and abraphly evacuate the bowels. Because it does not do this, Hostetter's stomach biters is preferably, to the drenching class of purgatives. Painless in its effects, it is sufficiently active to remedy chronic constipation. It relieves by invigorating the intestines, and enginess disposition from the perform the duty imposed upon them by nature. A TWENTY YEARS' EXPERIENCE.

770 BEGADWAY, N. Y., March 17, 886.
I have been using ALLCOCK's PORCUS PLASTERS
OF 30 years, and found them one of the best of for Dyesis, and found them one of the best of family medicines. Briefly summing up my experience, I say that when placed on the small of the back Allcock's Plasters fill the body with nervous energy, and thus care fatigue, brain exhaustion, debility and kidney difficulties. For women and children I have found them invaluable. They never irritate the sain or cause the slightest pain, but cure sore throat, croupy roughs, colds, paras in restion and bowel complaints.

Merit will win and receive public recognition and praise. Facts, which are the outcome of general experience, growing through years of critical and practical test, become as rooted and ce, growing through years of general experience, growing through years of critical and practical test, become as rooted and immovable as the rock of Gibraiter in public opinion, and henceforth need no further guarantee as to their genutineness. The indisputable fact that Switt's Specific is the best blood purifier in the world, is one of these immovable Gibraiter facts of which we have spoken, and every day's experience roots this conviction deeper and deeper in public opinion. Every class of our people in america and in Europe, every trade, calling and profession, including the medical profession, have borne voluntary testimony to the remarkable virtues of 8.8.8, and its infailible efficacy in curing all diseases of the blood. These testimonias are on file by the thousands and open to the inspection of all Now come, unsolicited, two distinguished members of the theatrical profession, who gratefully testify to the wonderful curative qualities of the Specific in their individual cases. Their testimonials are berewith submitted to to the public without further comment—let them speak for themselves.
