hard A. Proctor, the eminest setre er, mys in the Cosmopolitan : "I have fore me the records of no less than fiftytwo centenarians, the details in regard to whom have been collected by a committee of the British Medical association. Of the fifty-two no fewer than thirty six (more than two no lewer than thirty six (more than two-thirds) are women. This may probably be attributed in large part to the comparative immunity that women enjoy from many risks to which men are exposed, but probably it is due not less to their greater temperance and to their freedom from the anxieties and heartburnings which attend men's struggles for influence, and even for maintenance.

and heartburnings which attend men's struggles for influence, and even for maintenance.

"Medical men contend, however, that women also possess greater inherent vitality than men, the mortality of girls being less than that of boys, even during the first year of life, when the feminine is neither more temperate nor less ambitious than the male, and is exposed to as many dangers.

"Of the sixteen men only one was single; ten of the thirty-six women were single; fiteen men and twenty-six women, then, among the contenarians, were married; but naturally enough, of these forty-one a large number, all, in fact, but firs, were widowed. Three of the fity-two were rich, nineteen poor, the rest in comfortable circumstances; nine were fat (only one man), twenty-three lean, eighteen medium; only eight were full blooded, the rest average or pale. Forty had good digestion, which, after a hundred years, means a good deal.

"Most of the fity-two have had good appetites, only two having appetites classed as actually bad; most of them have been through life moderate eaters; twelve, however, have eaten large quantities of food. Only one is returned as a large ester of fisch lood, and only one as a great consumer of alcoholic liquors (in his case the liquor preferred has been been.) Only eight or all the number are classified as simply "irritable," but to these must be added five classed as "irritable and energetic." As to smoking thirty-two are non-smokers, seventeen smoke much, (four of them being women,) three moderately and two a little; only one chews; thirty-seven avoid sout."

"When we take a number of cases such as

When we take a number of cases such as "When we take a number of cases such as these in all classes of life, under many varied circumstances, and not characterized by any special course directed toward the attainment of mere longevity, (which might possibly be gained without real advantage, all that makes life worth living being sacrificed for life's own take,) most men not affected by specific disease, constitutional or inherited, may hope to attain an age considerably exceeding three-score years and ten, or even four-score years.

"It would appear, in fact, as though five score years were the natural or normal limit of human life, and that when men die many years before that age is attained the fault, apart from melignant disease or accident, has alain with themselves. Underlying the old proverb, "Every man is a fool or a physician at forty," there is the important truth that it is in every man's power, if he is wise, to recognize early in life, like Cornaro, the requirements of his own constitution and the means by which all such stores of vitality as

Painless Regulation. It is no longer a question of doubt-although the contrary was once believed-that medicines which produce violent effects are unsuited to other than desperate emergencies. unsuited to other than desperate emergencies. In other words, that super-potent remedies are calculated to weaken and injure the system rather than reform its irregularities. Among medicines of debilitating effect are catharties and cholagogues which copiously and abruppily execute the bowels. Because it does not do this, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is preferable to the drenching class of purgatives. Painless in its effects, it is sufficiently active to remedy chronic constipation. It relieves by invigorating the intestines, and enables, not forces, them to perform the duty imposed upon them by nature. Promoting the secretion of bile in normal quantities by its healthrally stimulating effect upon the liver, it is eminently conductive to keep the bowels regular. to keep the bowels regular.

The Blood

In the source of health; therefore, to keep well, purity the blood by taking Rood's Sarpaparilla. This medicine is peculiarly designed to not upon the blood, and through that upon all the organs and tiernes of the body. It has a specific neiton, alon, upon the secretions and excessions, and salets neture to expel from the system all humors, impure particles, and effects matter through the lungs, liver, bowels, kidneys and ohis. It effectually aids weak, impaired and debilitated organs, invigorates the nervous system, tonce the digretive organs, and impaire new life and energy to all the functions of the body. A pseuliarity of Hood's Sarsaparilla is that it strengthens and builds up the system while it oradicates disease.

Caused by a Spider Bite. "Seven years ago, while my little boy was playing in the yard, he was bitten by a spider. The poison entered his blood, and cores soon broke out about his body; they itehed terribly and caused him intense suffering. Several times we succeeded in healing the sores up, but in spite of all we could do they would soon break out again. Finally we tried llood's liar-mastilla, and he took one bottle and one-third of another, when the sores disappeared. He has not a sore spot on him now, and I consider him perfectly cured." Wit. H. B. Merit will win and receive public recognition and praise. Facts, which are the outcome of general experience, growing through years of critical and practical test, become as rooted and immovable as the rock of Gibralter in public immovable as the rock of Gibralter in public opinion, and henceforth need no further guarantee as to their genuineness. The indisputable fact that Switt's Specific is the best blood purifier in the world, is one of these immovable Gibralter facts of which we have spoken, and every day's experience roots this conviction deeper and deeper in public opinion. Every class of our people in america and in Europe, every trade, calling and profession, including the medical profession, have borne voluntary testimony to the remarkable virtues of 8.8.8 and its infallible efficacy in caring all diseases of the blood. These testimonials are on file by the thousands and open to the inspection of all. Now come, unsolicited, two distinguished members of the theatrical profession, who gratefully testify to the wonderful curative qualities of the specific in their individual cases. Their testimonials are herewith submitted to to the public without further comment—let them speak for themselves. Charlotte Randow's Testimeny.

Buw Youx, May 3, 1867.

Gentlemen—Having been annoyed with pimples, eruptions and roughness of the akin, from bad condition of my blood, for more than a year, I used a leading preparation of sarsaparilia and other advartised remedies to no effect. Then I consulted a prominent physician, and from his treatment received no benefit. I then concluded to try the 8.8.8. remedy for the blood, and five or six packages, by a thorough eradication of my trouble and restoring smoothness to my shin, have made me happy, and I cheerfully give you this testimonial for such use and publicity as you wish to make of it.
