An Alderman's Grief.
Alderman Hershey, of the Fifth ward, is ready in need of the discipline, which Judge Patterson told the grand jury should be visited on officials who multiply costs in trifling cases, and thereby rob the county.

These are strong words, but they are justified by the alderman's action, for he is his own worst accuser. Had Alderman Hershey desired to act honestly in this case, he would have entertained but one charge against the defendants, and would not have charged for hearings that never took place.

District Court.
The Bellefonte Watchman, in view of the generally expressed feeling that the coming Democratic state convention should change the present method of selecting candidates where there is more than one county in a district, takes it as granted that there can be no other way adopted than the selection of conferees from each county on the basis of the Democratic vote.

The Watchman is doubtless right about this, but we are not satisfied that it is right in recommending that the counties have one vote in conference for each thousand Democratic votes they cast, and one-tenth of a vote for each 100 votes above an even thousand.

The Watchman is all right on the fundamental idea to give a voice in conference to each hundred of the Democratic votes of the county; but we think that there should be a delegate behind that voice. We know no good reason why a district convention composed of delegates elected by each county, on the basis of one delegate to each hundred Democratic votes cast at the last preceding election, would not be the best body to determine the party's decree for judicial, senatorial and congressional candidates.

A Teller's Tale.
New York has a new sensation in the art of stealing, which is so vigorously practiced in that town and so frequently illustrated and illuminated with brilliant designs and lurid coloring. It is now said that Mr. Scott, who, while paying teller of the Manhattan bank a couple of years ago, disappeared to Europe with $150,000 of the bank's money, was not the chief beneficiary of the steal, but that Mr. Dunn, a lawyer, who is a cousin of Scott's wife, enjoyed nearly all the proceeds.

But Mr. Scott says further that Mr. Dunn strongly and constantly pressed him to reveal and go when he hesitated. We naturally hesitate to believe that a man who has embezzled $150,000, needs much persuasion to embellish more. Our Scott, however, was not a common scamp, since he says that he took $300,000 of the bank's gold certificates out of the safe on Friday and carried them in his coat pocket, while his wife was seated with Henry's clothes for flight, and that when he went to the bank he had a check in his coat, and that he had intended to his duties for the day.

That Dog of Luce.
Admiral Luce says that he was misrepresented when he was quoted as having alluded to the secretary of the navy as "a dog in office." Naturally the admiral is anxious to make this correction as it is quite inadmissible for an officer to speak so disrespectfully of his superior; dog in office though he be, he may not be so described with impunity by his subordinates. This is a great advantage the dog has, when he gets in office; and it frequently avails to obscure from public vision his dog-like proportions, until he descends to gambol among common canines.

IN THE FRUIT MARKET.
Fruit market, but Apples and Peaches Promise to be Plenty.
From the New York Times.

The past week has been favorable for all kinds of fruit now in season, and a more liberal supply of better quality is looked for this week. The principal fruit, the peach, was scarce and high all last week. The variety that should have come from Delaware and Maryland in great abundance—the Mountain Rose—proved almost a total failure. When these peaches began to ripen there was every indication of a fair crop, but instead of ripening, most of them rotted on the trees. There would have been many more here, however, had not buyers from all the cities within 100 miles of the Delaware district (northward and westward) been so numerous and created an unusually fine home market for this fruit.

There will be some very fine peaches in the market this week. The yellow peaches from Maryland and Delaware are of the choicest varieties. They will be large and of fine flavor, and will be well matured. The prices obtained for peaches by the Peninsula growers this season will make the small crop there more valuable than any other. An unusually large crop anticipated had been produced.

There will be an abundance of good apples. The South Jersey crop is fully as good this year as any produced there within 10 years. The apples are unusually free from worms, and good cooking apples, also suitable for eating out of hand, are in great quantities. This is a "crab apple year," and these small apples so much esteemed by housekeepers for jelly making, are of good quality, abundant and cheap. And there will be a large supply this week of the larger variety, the red and yellow, which are generally obtained at any time during the next two months.

From the Baltimore Sun.
The very short crop of peaches is causing increased anxiety among the packers, who are pondering where to get enough fruit to commence business. On August 10 last year all the packing-houses were in full operation and employing large numbers of hands who generally depended upon that class of labor. At present but three or four of the thirty-odd establishments in the city have made a start on the small quantities they could get. The packers during the busy season use from 25,000 to 30,000 boxes daily, and only fifteen hundred boxes arrived Monday, which were bought by the dealers for the markets and stores in the city, and small quantities were sent out of the city. Dealers think that not more than fifteen hundred packers will arrive on any one day during the season. One substantial line, which averages 100 to 10,000 boxes daily last season, Monday only 800 from the heart of the peach country on the Eastern shore. The Wheeler Line brought 500 boxes from Caroline county, consigned to a well-known packer, who visited the above-mentioned county and secured the fruit in the best quality in the York and Philadelphia markets. Several carloads of peaches are expected Tuesday from Delaware, and it is expected that the North is being supplied from New Jersey. Dealers in this city have gone to Delaware to purchase. The supply of blackberries, huckleberries, raspberries and other fruits were also very short. No apples are coming either, but the prospect for peaches is said to be good. The fruit market generally, however, has not been better for a number of years.

A Good Suggestion.
From the Nashville American.
"Who can't the duelist of to-day be fair and square about it and designate as weapons 'Chins, at two miles'?"

A Spleen Heroism.
Is often exhibited by a delicate woman during the extraction of teeth. But why not save them in time, with $25 worth of medicine, and obviate the necessity of taking one's fortune? The tenants of the mouth, are far more likely to remain and do good service, if this sovereign remedy is used as the first aid to their timely destruction. The experience and evidence of hosts of people, proves this sanitary fact.

SHILOH'S COUGH AND CONSUMPTION CURE is sold by us as a guarantee. It cures Croup, Whooping Cough, Sore Throat, Croup, No. 127 and 128 North Queen St., Lancaster, Pa.

The Verdict Unanimous.
W. D. Sutt, Druggist, Hagerstown, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend this medicine to the very best advantage. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of consumption in two weeks. Another man, Abraham Hare, Bellefonte, Pa., writes: 'I have used your medicine for over twenty years, and I can say that it has cured me of all my ailments, and I can say that it is the best medicine I ever used.'"

PERSONAL.
GEORGE M. DALLAN, it is said, will have the support of the Philadelphia delegation for supreme judge at the Allentown Democratic convention. It is simply wonderful in its extent as well as the pensioner.

Has the Pennsylvania railroad openly entered politics? A Philadelphia dispatch says that the prohibitionists who hold their state convention at Harrisburg next week are angry with the Pennsylvania railroad officials, who, they say, refused to grant their delegates the special rate of 1 cent a mile already given to the delegates to to-day's Republican convention.

REMOVAL.
The Pennsylvania Republican platform will be held in session at Harrisburg, Pa. The Democrats will have an eye on the taxpayer as well as the pensioner.

Has the Pennsylvania railroad openly entered politics? A Philadelphia dispatch says that the prohibitionists who hold their state convention at Harrisburg next week are angry with the Pennsylvania railroad officials, who, they say, refused to grant their delegates the special rate of 1 cent a mile already given to the delegates to to-day's Republican convention.

THE CONESTOGA WAGON.
