Broke Into a Car. Yesterday morning the train men of engine 661, found a tramp in a box car, the lock of which he had broken, east of this city. The door was closed and a stick placed behind. The tramp was unable to get out and when the train arrived in this city he was handed over to Officer Lundy. He was taken before Alderman McConomy this morning when he gave his name as George Kelly. The alderman committed him to prison for ten days for train riding and it is likely other charges will be brought against him. Another Wreck.

Saturday evening the Pennsylvania railroad had another wreck. It occurred at Dock's furnace east of Steelton and was caused by the breaking and pulling down of a shaft of one of the cars. Fifteen cars were thrown from the track and broken and eight of them fell down an embankment about 15 feet high. The track was torn up for 200 yards. man, in the employ of some railroad con-tractors, raised a disturbance at gate No. 5, on the Lancester and Williamstown turnpike on Saturday afternoon. The men were under the influence of liquor, and B. S. Phenneger, the foil-gate keeper, when he saw the men at the gate, went to them to collect the toil. They had been talking to Mrs. Phenneger before her husband's arrival and were disputing as to the pay. When he approached the gang pitched on him, and one of them caught sold of him and tore his shirt. Mra l'henneger balleved that they would in ure her husband He used the weapon effectively and struck his assailant with the handle. This had the effect of scaring the others off. The toli was then paid and the men went on their way some distance away. Soon after leaving the gate the colored men concluded to get square with the gate-keepar and they went to a blacksmith shop in search of weapons, with which to stack Mr. Phenneger, but fortunately for them they could not get any weapons. The mer then left the neighborhood and drove to wards this city. They passed through here on Sunday morning and are no doubt on the road to some railroad contract. The names of the parties could not be ascertained. Mr. Phenneger is regarded by the turnpike com-pany as a careful and efficient keeper, but he was so much seared by the occurrence that he has concluded to resign his position, Death of Henry Kahl.

Henry Kahl died on Saturday, August 20 at his residence, 313 West Orange street, in the 75th year of his age. President Cleveland and the County Pair. President Cleveland would have been much gratified to pay a visit to the county fair nex week, but that an engagement for the Constitu-tional Centennial celebration in Philadelphia two weeks later brought him again into the state at that time. The occasion would be wall worth a visit from the president of the United States. Lancaster overtops all other counties in the country by fifty per cent. excess of agri-cultural yield. The fair this year will be a noble exposition of her best live stock, her choicest grains, her broadest leaved to bacco, her stateli grains, her broadest leaved to bacco, her stateli-est stalks of corn, the best vintage of homemade wine, and the richest collection of homeshold stores and domestic handlwork. President Cleveland would open his eyes in wonder at the display, and Mrs. Cleveland would see sights that would dazz'e her if the riches of a Lancas-ter county kitchen and the beauties of its pan-trice were opened to her view.
