Blaine Running.

Mr. Blaine is evidently still running or the presidential nomination in Pennis and his end of the Republican arty here is the biggest still, as it has fore been. Those who are ling to accept his declination are not many as those who refuse. Chairman Cooper started out early to declare his continued adhesion to Mr. Blaine, and those who lately undertook to supplant him as chairman therefor, have reason to know now that Mr. Ocoper knew what he was about. Mr. er will be chairman, and Mr. Blaine will have Pennsylvania's vote at the ago convention. Mr. Wharton Barker, who thought Mr. Blaine was out of the race, has not been secured as a erate, his constituents kindly leaving him at home to manage the various improvement and finance companies which age his attention in China and Phila-Siphia. The Republican statesmen in Pennsylvania, who are not friends of Mr. Biaine, are evidently not to have their attention distracted this year from their private business by their political duties.

Mr. Brosins.

The congressional contes' among the blican aspirants in this county has Republican aspirants in this county has resulted, as the reports have foreshadowed, in the success of Marriott Brosius. The contest clearly laid between him and the present incumbent, as the other candidates would have good. If they bed good. If they had been have been held, Mr. Hiestand would have been If they had been out of the chosen, such a result being evidently in their interest as candidates in the future. Now they are shut out for two terms, at least, if Mr. Brosius es not conspicuously fail in his repretation of his constituents, as there is no reason to believe that he will. If he comes up to the expectation of those who supported him, he will be the representative of the county for many more terms an the regular allotment. He has a striking qualification for Congress in the oratorical ability with which he is richly andowed ; but time alone will show whether he has the wisdom to make it duly effective. Eloquence will not of itself sustain a member of Congress, who needs to be as careful of what he says as of how he says it. The tendency of men possessed of large cabularies and of skill in discharging em, is to carelessness about their words signifying something; and we have noted an inclination this way in Mr. Brosius. But it is a tendency that Congress is well apted to correct. There is no niche there for nonsense ; and a session or two may quite possibly lick Mr. Brosius into shape to become a statesman of high degree.

The death of Matthew Arnold, the English critic and man of letters, following so soon after his fierce attack upon America and American institutions, will make it a subject of regret that his last public expression of opinion was one filled with rancor and disgust with what be INW on his visit to this country.

Matthew Arnold.

He appears to have been a man totally devoid of humor, and he had swallowed all the stories of American crudeness of manners and lack of mental cultivation until he unconsciously assumed a superiority of air in addressing American audiences that often made him appear ridic. ulous. On his last visit to this country he complained bitterly of the newspaper criticisms of himself, some of which he brought upon himself by his own arrogance, and others of jocular cast were by him misinterpreted. But Arnold is dead now and it is proper to throw the veil of charity over his frailties. He was a scholar and had an important influence in developing the modern school of English æstheticism by the "sweetness and light" with which he endeavored to surround the civilization of his period.

BOULANGER has again won. In the election in France on Sunday in the Department of the Nord his total vote was 172,272, while his nearest opponent had but 75,781 votes. He is on the topmost round of ambitton's ladder. Will be fall or Tax cost to the railroad company of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy strike up to date is $2,100,000. Does it pay ?

JUDGE PATSON, in an address in Phils. delphia on Naturday, said that a lawyer who advocated the cause of a man whom he knew to be guilty became a participant in the crime. On this ruling there are a great many unjailed legal criminals in the country.

EDITOR WILLIAM O'BRIEN SCOME to enjoy being arrested. He appears to yearn for it with that persistence which saints look forward to heavenly rest. A week ago he dared the government to arrest him in Loughres, Ireland, and appeared much disappointed when they declined to gratify his absorbing desire. On Sunday tick. he was arrested at Kingstown, was at one balled out, and is now scampering around the Green Isle just as lively as a kitten and manufacturing anti-English sentiment wherever he sets his foot. The more the government arrests O'Brien, the stronger it makes him. Some of these days when it is too late, the stupid Balfour will learn that the home rule contiment in Ireland

The Great Observatory.

The famous $700,000 observatory in California is finished, and so is the $700,-000. At least we are assured that there is not enough left to pay the salary of one first-class astronomer, and if some ambitious millionaire does not come forward and buy a share in this tombstone of the lamented Lick, the state will probably have to shoulder the burden of its main-

There has been and will be a good deal of harsh criticism of the trustees for their extravagance, but they have spent nothing for show and the whole of Mr. Lick's pile went for solid and careful scientific work. As a result, the world has an observatory that represents the crowning effort of the instrument builders of our century, a splendid tool for scientific work, and if the world fails to make use of it-if California allows this astronom. ical plant to be idle, when it might be ding out planets, asterroids, comets, and big figures in profusion-if such neglect is possible on that progressive coast in this progressive age, then so much the worse for the pride of California, and the advance of learning and truth. The trustees might have built an observatory to rank with other observatories of the world, but they choose to follow the Western instinct, and went to work to build the biggest thing in that line on earth. The good that these great works accomplish is of a very far reaching and indirect variety, but none the less valuable for its indirectness. Every grain of knowledge as to the true state of things in the universe around us, is of priceless value to the race, for it helps to dispel superstition, to strengthen religion, to impress man with a wholesome sense of the insignificance of his mortal part and the majesty of the universe.

No North, No South.

Hon. Seth Low, who as mayor of Brooklyn made quite a good impression upon the progressive portion of the Republican party in New York, has in the current issue of America an article on "American Patriotism." He enunclates the doctrine that to secure the great future of this nation it is required " that there shall be in the thought of every patriot no North and no South, no Jump. East and no West, but a conception rather of one united people, for whom, if they deserve it, is reserved a dazzling destiny. "

Such sentiments from a rising young Republican are worthy of special note. They illustrate that the spirit of sectionalism is dying very fast. This generation will see the few smouldering embers of fraternal hate, but these will soon be reckoned with the things of the past. There will here and there arise a Forsker and a John Sherman to wake the ochoes, but their vaporings will fall idly on a reconciled people. When the acle was presented in the United States Senate of a Southern senator deding from the assault of a " bloody "Republican the bonored names of nd Hancock, it was a strikat the names and fames proud heritage
