NEW YORK, April 25.- A fire in the boarding bouse of Imra Inderf, Nr. 55 West 28th street, abortly after five o'clock this morning almost resulted in a holocaus. As it was, four persons were severely, if not fatally burned. Hattle String, a colored sevent, 57 years old, was terribly burned about the body. She was standing on the eill of the second story window enveloped in flames and only saved herself from being burned to death by jumping into a life-saving net. She was taken to the New York hospital and little hope is entertained of her recovery. Fanny Tap-ley, send 45, a white woman, grayled out of ley, aged 45, a white woman, crawled out of a third story window and making her way rom sill to sill by olinging to the shutters succeeded in reaching a window of the ad-olning house. Her clothes were all ablane aged 19, white, performed a like feat and was also badly burned. Francis Russel, aged 21 years, was penned in on the second floor and made his escape to No. 55 by orawling along from sili to sili. He was also severely burned. Several others secaped by jumping into the fire net.

The fire originated in the basement but how, no one knows. It spread rapidly and soon cut off all escape by the stairs. The prompt arrival of the firemen, and spreadog of the nets, no doubt saved many from being burned to death. The fire was con-fined to the building in which it originated and the loss is not very heavy. The total loss is placed at $5,000.

Potch of Mr. McMillin Favoring Reform is Tamtion—Mr. Burrows' Repty, Mr. McMillin (Tenn.,) who made speech in the House on Tuesday reminied the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Keliey) that the Republican party had not only inaugurated the internal taxes of which the gentleman complained, but had put a tax on raitroads and incomes and the capital and deposits of banks. These latter had been removed, and those which the gentleman said worked hardships had never been removed. The gentleman's party had not done the very thing which he said the Democratic party was responsible for not doing.

After stating that there was a surplus in the treasury of $140,000,000, or $2.50 for every inhabitant, Mr. McMillin asked what was the cause of the hoarding in the treasury at Washington more money than was gathered into the treasury of any monarohy, kingdom or despotism under the saun? The answer was, the people have been taxed beyond the reasonable demands of the government. Robberry of them under the forms of law had been parparated, and to-day they stood moneyless (the tax-gatherer still staring them in the isoc) and demanding relief at the hands of Congress. He congratulated the country that we had reached the point where there was a fair chance for the consideration of a bill looking to the reduction of the isase on the necessaries of life.

To show the utter failacy of the claim of the protectionists that the high duties now existing were imposed or kept for the beanful of the laboring man Mr. McMillin cited from a table compiled by Mr. Nimmo showing the value of various manufactured products in 1830 and the per cent. He bad added the present and proposed tariff rates, from which it would be seen that in no instance did the committee propose on these articles a less duty than the per cent. He bad added the present and proposed tariff rates, from which it would be seen that in no instance of the manner in which the bill under consideration had been prepared. What right had they to complain? The question was not how, when or where the bill was repared by the ways and meanscommittee of the muner in which the bill under c

Mr. Hannibal W. Williams, a noted New York elecutionist, gave a reading of Julius Cosar in Eshieman's ball last night before an invited audience; the invitations hav ing been distributed by gentlemen who had aubscribed to bring Mr. Williams to Lancas ter. The reader prefaced his work with a short sketch of the times and the great men so strongly painted by the Bard o Avon. His reading seemed to give very general satisfaction, particularly in the quar rel between Brutus and Cassuls. After this scene he announced that it had been thought best to conclude with a selection from Howells' farce, "A Sleeping Car," and this amusing selection was well read and received. Mr. Williams will give another

WASHINGTON, April 25 -In the Souste

WASHINGTON, April 25.—In the Scenes to day the bill to make the department of agriculture an executive department and the secretary of agriculture a cabinet officer was reported favorably.

At the conclusion of morning business, Mr. Voorhees secured the floor for a tariff speech. After endorsing the president's tariff message he took up the war issues which have played so prominent a part in the Secured development of late. He defended the president's record in reference to pension bills, and others showing his attitude sion bills, and others showing his attitude toward the Union soldier. The attempts to place the Democratic party in an attitude of unfriendliness toward the soldier was without justification and must be without success. It was only surpassed in mendacity by the attempt to stigmatize the entire party as discount to a tigmatize the entire party as discount. oyal, and its eminent Union generals as allies of the Confederacy. In reply to Senator Ingulis, he condemned in the most severe terms the attack on General Hancock and McClellan, men whose low Hancock and McClellan, men whose love of their country had been proved by their brilliant records. Mr. Voorhees then turned to the subject of Republican micrule in the South and replied to various charges made by Senator Sherman. He argued in favor of the adoption of the president's recommendations and Democratic principles as the means of securing the prosperity of North and South alike. He condemned in strongest terms the parties. ondemned in strongest terms the part device of reopening war issues and raviv-ing old passions for political purposes and stigmatized as scavengers and ghouls the men who attacked the resmory of those heroes of the Democratic party who had defended the Union in the war of the re-
