DIGS OUT OF HIS CELL.

MURDERER SHOWERS ESCAPES FROM THE PRISON AT LEBANON.

Sheriff Yordy and Citizens Scouring the County for the Fugitive—The People Indignant Because He Was Not Closely Guarded. A Belief That He Will Be Lynched.

LEBANON, Pa., May 8—Wm. Showers, the aged murderer who is under the sentence of death for the brutal murder of his two grandchildren at Annville, escaped from the county jail last night.

He dug a hole through the solid stone wall and lowered himself from the opening with a rope made from pieces of a blanket. Showers is sixty-one years old, and how he escaped detection in the town is mysterious, as the jail is situated in the very heart of the city.

The people are greatly excited and very indignant at the jail officials in not keeping a more vigilant watch over the condemned prisoner.

Sheriff Yordy, together with a number of citizens are scouring the country for the escaped murderer.

Should he be captured in the mountains it is feared that he will be lynched.

The attorney for Showers, Col. W. K. Seltzer, has appealed the case to the supreme court, but the impression here is that that tribunal will not interfere with the verdict of the Lebanon court.

Showers' crime was a most atrocious one. On the 16th of May, 1887 he killed Willie Kahler, aged 6 years, and Sammy Speraw, aged 4 years, who lived with him at Annville and were his grandsons. They were strangled while in their beds at night. Fifteen days after the tragedy the bodies of his victims were found in a ditch in a meadow near his house. Before his trial Showers confessed to the murder.

LAST SEEN NEAR CORNWALL.

Special to the INTELLIGENCER.

LEBANON, Pa., May 8—2:25 P. M.—Wm. Showers, the self-confessed and sentenced murderer of his two grandchildren, escaped from prison last night. He occupied a cell on the second floor and made a hole 11 inches high and 16 inches wide through a 25 inch wall. He left himself down into the prison yard with a fourteen-feet rope made of his blanket, the south side of the prison yard wall having been removed yesterday. He had no further trouble. He used an iron bolt eight inches long and another sharp instrument to do the work. The care displayed in keeping the debris and stones hidden show that he was at work for the past week. His cell was not examined for several weeks.

He was reported seen going toward the Cornwall Hills at an early hour this morning. No reward is offered as yet. The escape caused great excitement. The sheriff is in pursuit.
