

THE JACOBS CASE ARGUED.

REASON ASSIGNED WHY A NEW TRIAL SHOULD BE GRANTED.

The Board of Pardons to be Appointed by the Council if the Supreme Court Fails to Decide Favorably—A Synopsis of the Argument in His Behalf.

The first case on the supreme court list for argument to-day was that of James H. Jacobs, convicted of murder in the first degree. The case was called for argument shortly after the opening of court at Philadelphia this morning.

The following are the specifications of error assigned by counsel for Jacobs:

1. The court erred in overruling the following question put to Dr. Joseph Furness: "Were you able to judge from your intercourse with him what his temperance, disposition and the condition of his mind was?"

2. The court erred in overruling the following question put to same witness: "State what are the quality and character of defendant's mind as to extorsion?"

3. The court erred in overruling the following question put to same witness: "Please state whether or not, in your judgment, there was any controlling influence in the mind of James H. Jacobs, the defendant, that it was not conscious of its own purposes and on account of those influences was incapable of deliberating or premeditating; and, if so, what were those controlling influences?"

In opposing the argument Jacobs' counsel said: "But a single question is raised, in this case. The plea of insanity was not formally made for the defendant. After the most careful, patient and, we may truthfully add, painful consideration of the case, we felt that we ought not to ask the acquittal of the accused on the grounds of insanity. We believe that the degree of his offense in view of the condition of his mind at the time of the homicide, was not the highest known to the law."

After reviewing the facts in the case counsel referred to Jacobs' fear that Quigley was trying to seduce his children. In this case, the plea of insanity was not formally made for the defendant. After the most careful, patient and, we may truthfully add, painful consideration of the case, we felt that we ought not to ask the acquittal of the accused on the grounds of insanity.

The error complained of is that there was an absence of power to determine properly the true nature and character of his act and his responsibility as the actor; that there was an absence of that self-determining power in his mind, rendering it incapable of the real nature of its own purposes and capable of resisting temptation; that the self-governing power was wanting; due to the controlling influence of his morbid fear, and his mind was not fully conscious of its own purposes and did not deliberate or premeditate in the sense of the act describing murder in the first degree.

The commonwealth's counsel in reply to the argument of the defendant's counsel said: "The argument of the defendant means that the defendant was sane at the time he committed the act but in a high state of excitement and therefore was not guilty of murder in the first degree, but of the degree of his guilt was increased by reason of that excitement. After referring to the facts cited by the defendant's counsel it was contended that the testimony showed that three days before the murder Jacobs threatened violence to the Quigleys; he said: 'I will have revenge. I will settle the Quigleys. I would just as soon kill a man as look at him. I am a dangerous man. The Quigleys know my wife and I know of her. I'll get into trouble I have got good lawyers that will clear me.' In pursuance of the above threat he stabbed Elmer Ellsworth Quigley on the night of December 11, 1886, with all the attending circumstances of a cold-blooded, unprovoked, premeditated murder. The defendant made his own provocation, selected his fatal instrument, sought his victim on the public thoroughfare, pursued him while fleeing from him, overtook him when he could flee no further, stabbed him in a vital part with a deadly weapon, returned to his house, deliberately reloaded his weapon in the table drawer from which he had evidently taken it, closed the shutters of his dwelling, fled first to his mother's, then to his aunt's, told of his deed, showed that he appreciated the extent of his crime in the fear that his victim would die.

After arguing that the authorities cited by the defense did not apply to the case, counsel concluded by stating that "the defendant, through his counsel, had an opportunity to plead insanity; instead thereof, he pleaded self-defense, and now sets up a vicious disposition as the palliative of the crime, only in the hope of lessening the degree of his crime; and that it is overruled the question for which specifications of error are filed, distinctly stated: 'Question overruled, no plea of insanity having been made, but the plea of insanity was positively disclaimed by defendant's counsel.'

"If this plea shall prevail, there is an end to the possibility of crime as we know it, and the controlling influences which the court set of the prisoner set up are present in a varying degree in every human heart; and the law must be remodelled on the basis of their intensity; race instincts and hereditary tendencies will have to be analyzed and weighed, and their influence will look for the course of their information to authorities not recognized in the courts."

A decision is not expected for a few weeks.

Prosecution Withdrawn.

The assault and battery case against Jacob Witch, preferred by Michael Conlin before Alderman A. F. Donnelly, has been withdrawn. Conlin did not care to press the suit on account of being obliged to attend court, which would have interfered with his work and he agreed to withdraw the suit upon the payment of costs by the defendant. This was satisfactory to Witch and he settled on those terms.

Killed With a Housepatent.

Society in Uniontown was surprised by the announcement of the elopement to Youngstown, Ohio, and marriage there of Miss Mary F. Fuller and Theophilus Sherwin. Miss Fuller is a daughter of Dr. John Fuller, a prominent Fayette county physician, and the father of Lieutenant Fuller, of the United States army, who just this time a year ago eloped with and married a daughter of a banker, Mr. Jones, of Uniontown. How the marriage was effected and how the elopement was effected is not known, but it is believed to have been as high a circle of society as his bride.

THE LOSS OF THE GREAT.

Two Tanks of Oil Struck by Lightning and Exploded.

On Saturday afternoon lightning struck a 20,000 barrel tank belonging to the Keystone Refining company on Oil creek, two miles north of Oil City, Pa. The tank contained 10,000 barrels of oil and on Sunday morning the oil boiled over and ran down the creek about a quarter of a mile. A strong wind forced the burning petroleum to the opposite bank, saving several oil works, but another tank, containing 80,000 barrels, was ignited by the overflow, and there was fear for the safety of the city.

Pittsburgh, May 14.—The Leader's special from Oil City says: The fire burned itself out about 3 o'clock this morning, when the last overflow took place. The only loss besides the two tanks and the creek, was the loss of a 20,000 barrel tank owned by the Western New York & Pennsylvania railroad, and about $5000 damage to the barrel works.

Exaggerated reports were sent out last night to alarm the country and many inquiries are made to-day as to the safety of the city. These reports were sent out by a stranger who represented himself to be a New York newspaper correspondent.

The total loss by the oil tank fire is estimated at $200,000.

ARREST OF A HORSE THIEF.

He Will Be Tried in Lebanon County First and Then Sent Home.

On Wednesday evening a man registered at the Sherman Hotel, Ephrata, as J. A. Sherman. He said he came from the West and was looking for work. The next day he hired a team from H. L. Miller, proprietor of the hotel, to drive out and see some people about work. He returned in the evening and on the next day again hired a team from H. L. Miller, who was to be back Sunday evening. On Sunday morning Mr. Miller was astonished to receive a telegram from Pine Grove, Lebanon county, stating that his horse was there, that he had been sold by Sherman and that party was under arrest for another horse. On the Sunday before he went to Ephrata, he hired a team at Anaville and offered it for sale at Bernville but could not find a buyer. He then drove to Millersburg, where he sold the team. He then went to Reading, from there to Ephrata, where he repeated his tactics of hiring a team at Anaville, then driving to Bernville to sell it, and then driving to Reading to sell it. The arbitration of the president of the United States on the boundary question between Nicaragua and Costa Rica, which was made a very favorable decision, is the cardinal point submitted to the arbitrator has been judged in absolute conformity with the rights of the republic and with the allegations presented by the government since the beginning of the arbitration. On this question, the arbitrator has decided in favor of Nicaragua, and the arbitrator has decided in favor of Nicaragua, and the arbitrator has decided in favor of Nicaragua.

THE MURDERER AND LIEDEKRIAN.

The Muennerhor and Liederkriean, Lancaster's two large singing societies, held their annual May walks Sunday morning. Owing to the rain of Saturday the ground was rather dry, but the weather was good and the walks were very successful. The Muennerhor members met at their hall on Pine street at 5 o'clock in the morning and walked to Knapp's Villa where breakfast was had and the greater part of the forenoon spent in singing. The Liederkriean walked to Tall's house, where they breakfasted and had a good time.

THE FASTING WOMAN.

Mary J. Weidner, the fasting woman at the almshouse, still refuses food. This is the 53rd day that she has refused to eat anything and in all that time nothing has passed her lips but water. She still maintains that she does not need nor want food. The case is surely a remarkable one and it is difficult to tell what will be the result. Dr. Henning feels as though food should be forced into her, but she says she has yet in her case resists this is a most unusual and unpleasant operation. Although she is quite thin her condition is not much worse than three weeks ago.

ARREST OF A PEDESTAL.

Over a year ago John Hefflinger while walking on Locust street late at night was met by John W. White, who was carrying a young child. White knocked Hefflinger down, and was about robbing him when he was rescued by parties coming to the rescue of Hefflinger. White then skipped out to avoid arrest, and remained away from town until Saturday, when he returned. Constable Kerrings heard of his return and arrested him. In default of bail, White has been committed to a hearing by Alderman A. F. Donnelly.

THE HORSE-DEALER.

The colored man, who is formed something like a horse, drew quite large crowds while on exhibition Friday and Saturday, in the store in Centre square which until recently was occupied by Burger & Sutton. Yesterday he was taken to Philadelphia and is now on his way to Philadelphia to be exhibited at the Arch street museum.

The steel works and sheet rolling mill of Henry Diston & Sons, at Toonoy, was totally destroyed by fire Sunday morning. The loss will foot up $30,000 and the insurance amounts to $100,000. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

JACOB STEFFY DEAD.

THE LITTLE MAN WHOM NEARLY EVERYBODY HEREBY KNEW.

A Familiar Figure on the Streets of Lancaster the Past Twenty-Six Years—Death of Messrs B. Rhoads, Widow of the Late Charles C. Rhoads.

Another of the many characters of this city has passed away. On Saturday evening Jacob Steffy died of apoplexy at the county hospital. He had been in falling health for some time past and eight days ago he was removed from the almshouse to the hospital. He was born in Goodville, Pa., and raised in the family of Michael Steffy. He came to Lancaster during the war and for a number of years was employed by Benjamin Mishler, who at that time was manufacturing his bitters with great success. After Mr. Mishler's death Steffy went to the almshouse, where he had been for fifteen years or more. Steffy was probably the smallest man in the county, being but little over three feet and a half in height. On account of his size, he was considerable of a curiosity. He spent much of his time on the streets, and in that way became acquainted with a large number of people. He was known far and wide by his old singing, and he had many friends. Of late years he had seldom been seen on the streets, and many people were under the impression that he had been dead for several years.

Mr. Steffy was aged about 73 years at the time of his death. In early life he was exhibited in the city.

LANCASTER'S PUBLIC BUILDING.

It is perhaps not generally known that while the citizens of Lancaster are indebted to Congressman Simons for engineering the bill for a public building for this city through the House, and to Senator Cameron for its passage through the Senate, they are no less indebted to W. H. Hense, of Philadelphia, for preventing its veto by President Cleveland. He had certainly made up his mind that Lancaster should share the fate of Allentown and there was certainly no apparent political reason why so strong a Republican district should be favored and a Democratic district represented in Allentown by Cleveland's veto.

Chief of Police Dougherty, of Wilmington, Delaware, arrived in this city this afternoon with a request for Hyard Boone, who is wanted for robbery at Reading in this city. Boone was taken before Judge Livingston this afternoon, admitted that he was the party wanted, and he was handed over to Chief Dougherty. He will be taken to Wilmington on the Day Express.

WIDOWED BY MURDER.

William Showers, the murdered murderer from the Lebanon jail, was captured on Sunday in a deserted school house five miles from Lebanon by three young men who had a hand-to-hand struggle with him before he was overpowered. He was then secured and conveyed to Lebanon jail and placed in a cell under guard. The excitement was intense, and but for the presence of armed officers he would have been lynched. His captors will be paid when he is made ready for the gallows, which is very little affected and said that he would yet cheat the gallows. He will probably be hanged some time in July.

RESCUED FROM MANOR STREET.

Benjamin Wilmer, a baker of Millersville, had a narrow escape from a runaway in the western part of this city. He was driving along Manor street when his horse frightened and started to run. He was thrown from the buggy and struck on his head, which was badly hurt. He was taken into Snyder's shoe store, where his injuries were attended, after which he was removed to the Lebanon hospital. DISCHARGED ON HABEAS CORPUS.

Mrs. Mary Bone was taken before Judge Livingston on a writ of habeas corpus on Saturday afternoon. She had been committed as a vagrant by the mayor and as she acted strange was transferred to the insane asylum. Her condition on Saturday showed that she was of sound mind. When she was sent to jail she had about $100 secreted in her clothing.

THE NEW HENNONITES.

Large Gathering at Lancaster's Meeting House—Sermon by Bishop Stecker.

There was a very large gathering on Sunday at the new meeting house at Lancaster's meeting house, about five miles from this city, and three miles from Strasburg borough. The principal attractions were a sermon by Bishop Stecker and the baptism of five adults.

The services were opened by an introductory discourse by Rev. John Kehr. He was followed by Bishop Stecker, of Philadelphia, who preached an able and very interesting sermon on baptism. At the close of the sermon Rev. Ell Herber, of Strasburg, administered the baptism to five adult believers. Rev. Levi Shank, residing near Onickville, made a short closing address. Several other clergymen were present, but took no public part in the services.

THREE PEOPLE KILLED.

A PASSENGER TRAIN WRECKED NEAR FOUNTAIN, IN COLORADO.

The Train While Going at High Speed Struck a Car Loaded With Dynamite and a Terrible Explosion Resulted—A Dozen Fatalities Go to the Relief of Victims.

Denver, Col., May 14.—Meagre intelligence reached this city that the express train known as the "Thunderbolt" on the Santa Fe railway met with a horrible accident near Fountain about 6 o'clock this morning. It collided with a freight train which had a quantity of powder in its cargo. An explosion followed in which ten people were killed and a number wounded. Both trains wrecked. Particulars cannot be obtained as yet.

Colorado Springs, Col., May 14.—This morning about 5 o'clock the north bound Santa Fe passenger train which left Kansas City Saturday night running forty miles an hour, ran into a car loaded with dynamite at the town of Fountain, near Colorado Springs. A terrible explosion followed. Seventy-two people are reported killed and twelve physicians from here have gone to the scene by a special train.

The shock from the explosion broke the glass here. Denver, Col., May 14.—Later particulars received from Fountain, where the Santa Fe train collided with a freight, say that the "Thunderbolt" arrived there at 2:31 a. m. The brakes of a caboose and those of the engine were standing on a side track not long before the explosion, and the cars ran into the train with a terrific crash. Naptha, which was on one of the cars, immediately exploded, throwing the oil over everything and setting the train on fire. Those cars which did not catch were shoved back from the wreck by the explosion. Two cars that had been left standing on the main track and which had a quantity of powder on board, exploded with a tremendous report. The depot, a few dwelling houses and some cars were completely demolished. Rumors were made current that a large number of people had been killed, but it is now definitely known that only three persons, two men and one woman, were killed. Their names cannot be ascertained. The list of injured runs up to 12 or 15 persons and may be augmented by more.

The force of the explosion was so intense that it is said that a hole 30 feet in diameter and 15 feet deep was made in the ground where the cars stood. Outside of the two cars which were burned, 16 cars, together with the locomotive, were wrecked.

THEY MEET ANOTHER WATCHMAN.

To-day the board of prison inspectors met to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Night Watchman Isaac Lorch. All of the members were present. The candidates for the position were Benjamin Brubaker, of Philadelphia, and William Smith, son of Prison-keeper Smith. Brubaker was elected by a vote of 4 to 2, Messrs. Nimsley and Martin voting for Smith. The new man is a brother-in-law of Inspector Schlemmer and the one that just resigned, because he was not the position, was Brubaker's son-in-law.

NARROWLY ESCAPED BREWING.

William Killman and Otto Housen, who board with Charles Robinson on East King street, had a narrow escape from being drowned at Gruff's Landing while boating on the Conestoga Sunday afternoon. It seems that the men were about changing their boat when it began to dip. The water was soon upon them. Both men were caught under the boat and Killman was the first to extricate himself. With ears at others he turned his attention to Housen, and finally succeeded in bringing him to the shore. Housen had sunk a couple of feet and together it was a very close call for him.

LIGHTING IN A HOTEL.

During the storm of Saturday afternoon there was very considerable sharp lightning, but little damage was done. Christian Eber, of the Hotel Park, however, had a rather thrilling experience. He was standing behind the bar when there was a sharp flash of lightning. It seemed to enter the barroom by the electric light wire, along which it ran for a time and then dropped to the floor with a great report. The only thing that was spared was a couple of feet of the floor, but Mr. Eber's feet felt the shock and was badly frightened.

GRAND LODGE OF O. F. FELLOWS.

The Grand Lodge of O. F. F. will meet at Allentown to-morrow and the following representatives went to the meeting from this city to-day: Lancaster Lodge, W. F. Hambricht; Hershell Lodge, Dr. M. W. Raub; Monterey Lodge, E. J. Erlman; and Hessel Lodge, Henry Wolf. The Grand Encampment of the same order meets at Allentown to-day. Dr. John Levergood is grand patriarch. Several other members of the order went to Allentown on this morning's train.

BEFORE THE MAYOR.

The mayor discharged three lodgers this morning. One was Dennis Meagher, and his story was that he was robbed on the Conestoga by a man named Patrick. This morning the parties met at the alderman's and the suit was amicably adjusted, after which the prosecution was withdrawn and the costs paid.

MUST GO TO MEXICO.

BENSON, THE PATRIOT TICKET SWINDLER, GETS NO HABEAS CORPUS.

The United States Supreme Court Refused to Grant the Writ—Verdict in the Tally Sheet Forgery Case—Aristocrat's Motion Made By Drawbaugh Denied.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The supreme court of the United States has decided the Benson, who is held in New York for selling fraudulent Patriotic tickets in the City of Mexico, must be returned to Manhattan. The point was decided on an application by Benson's counsel for a writ of habeas corpus, which was denied.

The supreme court also rendered a decision in the Coy-Bernhamer tally sheet forgery case from Indianapolis. The decisions of the courts below were affirmed. Coy and Bernhamer are now in the Indianapolis jail awaiting their doom. They were sentenced about three months ago to eighteen months in the penitentiary. Bernhamer was taken to the Michigan City, Ind., penitentiary at once, but Coy was sick and could not be removed. Since his recovery the case against alleged accomplices have been begun, and drawbaugh has been taken from the penitentiary as a witness. Both men must now go to the penitentiary.

The supreme court of the United States has denied the motion of the Drawbaugh people to reverse its own decision on the tally sheet forgery case. The case is now known as the musician boycott case. Callan was accused of conspiracy in the tally sheet forgery case. Callan claimed that the police judge had no right to try him, and he should have a jury trial. The judge fined him $25 and the decision was sustained by the district supreme court. The decision is to-day reversed by the highest tribunal.

The district also decided by a divided vote not to grant the writ of habeas corpus in the case of Plant Mahon, and a number of other citizens of West Virginia, who were arrested in that state by Kentucky state officers for participation in the murders growing out of the Hatfield-McCoy feud, and sentenced to the Kentucky jail. Governor William M. Cameron, of West Virginia, made application to the United States circuit court of Kentucky, for a writ of habeas corpus on the grounds of unlawful seizure of Mahon and his companions. The writ was issued, but when presented the Kentucky district court refused to release the prisoners.

THE M. E. CONFERENCE.

A Charge That There is a "Combined" Plan to Elect Certain Bishops.

New York, May 14.—Bishop Merrill opened the third week's session of the Methodist Episcopal conference at 9 o'clock this morning. After devotional exercises by Rev. J. J. Guadalupe, of Indiana, offered the following resolution: "Resolved, That the committee on episcopacy be requested to report on Tuesday, the 15th inst., their action on the resolution of the bishops for a term of years."

The matter was referred to the committee on episcopacy. Delegate McCullough, of Texas, offered a motion asking the conference to suspend the Bishop-elect from the celebration of the event. The report of the committee on episcopacy was read and the conference adjourned for the day.

Olin, of Birmingham, New York, gave the motion on the motion and the substitute, the latter being in favor of the motion and the substitute. The conference then adjourned for the day.

A DANGEROUS WALK.

The Pennsylvania railroad company has raised the south track at North Queen street about six inches higher than it was and the result has been a big nuisance to pedestrians. Several persons stumbled over the track and fell very heavily upon the wooden platform. Several persons were badly bruised and others made narrow escapes. Among those who fell last evening was an aged lady, who was
