She Put Him to the Test.

She Fut Him to the Test.

From the Boston Courter.

"Yes, darling," he said, in tones of deep tenderness, "I would do anything to show my love for you."

"Ah!" sighed the gentle maiden, "that's what all men say when they are striving to win a woman's heart."

"Pat me to the proof," he excisim d, in wild, passionate tones; "put me to the proof, test me, and see if I fall. Het me any test within the bounds of possibility and it shall be performed."

"Ah!" she murmured, "if I could only believe you."

"Put me to the test. Bay to me do this or do that and it shall be door."

"Then will I put you to the test."

"Ah!" he excialmed axultingly, "you shall behold the height, the depth, the length, the breadth, the circumference of my love! What is the test?"

The maiden dropped her snowy lide until the silken lashes rested on the peach bloom of her cheek, a slight smile dimpled the corner of her mouth, and bending over the youth who knell at her feet she whispered:

"Marry some other girl!"

Mutual Confidence

From Harper's Basar. Woman (to tramp)-And if I give you a nice plate of hash, you promise some wood?

Tramp—Yee, 'm.
Woman (doubtfully) — I don't know whether I can put confidence in you or not.

Tramp (represchfully)—You ought to, ma'am. I have confidence enough in you to est the hash.

The Boisterous Atlantic

Is a terror to timid voyagers, scarcely less on account of the perils of the deep than the almost certainty of sea sickness. The best curative of mai de mer is Hostetter's Stomach Blitters, which settles the stomach at once and prevents its disturbance. To all travelers and fourists, whether by sea or land, it presents a happy medium between the nauscous or in-offectual resources of the medicine chess, and the problematical benefit derivable from an unmedicated alcoholic stimulant, no matter how pure. The jarring of a railroad car often produces stomachic disorders akin to that caused by the rolling of a ship. For this the Bitters is a prompt and certain remedy. The use of brackish water, particularly on long voyages in the tropics, inevitably breed disorders of the stomach and bowels. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters mixed with impure water nullifies its impurities. Similarly it counteracts malarial and other prejudicial influences of climate or atmosphere, as well as the effects of exposure and fatigue. Use it for kidney complaints, rheumatism and debility.
