NOT LIKE OLD TIMES. Whit-Monday is a Very Bright Day, But he

None of its Fermer dayety.

No better weather could have been selected for Whit-Monday than that of to day. and the air has been pleasantly cool all day. There was a time when Whit-Monday was once Lancaster's greatest holiday, but that time seems to be passed. In former years the streets would be thronged with country people before ten o'clock. The number of strangers in the city to-day is by no means large, although the railroads carried a few more persons than usual, and many country folks drove to the city. The day seems to have lost its popularity with the country people. The town folks, how-ever, think they should still make a holiday of it, and most of the factories and shops of different kinds are closed. The unusual number of city people make the streets look much liveller than usual. The lemonade men are out in force in Centre square, but their business is very poor. An old gentleman, who has enjoyed Whit-suntide in this city for fifty years, said today: "The day is not what it used to be and it will be but a few years until it is entirely played out. The people of this city are largely to be biamed for it. They provide no attraction to bring stranger here, and country folks are tired coming here year after year to see nothing." To day there are several picnics, both private and public, at different places, and ishing parties are numerous. The schools are not closed and the oblidren are thereore unhappy.

At the Western hotel, on Strawberry street, near Vine, and at McGrann's park there are sets of flying horses which have been doing well. At the park this afterpoon there are horse and bicycle races.

There was Whitsuntide service in several of the city churches on Sunday. At Trinity, Grace and St. Stephen's Lutheran churches he hely communion was administered. in the First Reformed there was communion morning and evening. In St. Paul's Reformed communion in the morning. In St Luke's confirmation and communion in the morning and communion in German in the evening. In St. Stephen's communion in the morning.

At the Moravian church the Whit-Sunday litany was read by a large congregation and the sermon followed by an infant baptism. In the evening the communion service was attended by an unusually large number of communicants. At St. Mary's Catholic church the 10:30 clock n see was marked by the rendition of Mezarc's 12th mass in most excellent style. Rev. Dr. McCullagh preached a strong sermon from the gospel of the day. At St. Anthony's and St. Joseph's churches the services were of a noteworthy charac-
