LITTLE REMAINS UNSOLD.

TOBACCO GROWERS STILL BOLD AN RIGHTH OF THE '87 CROP.

Large Receipts of Lost at the Warehou Pew Enter of Cased Goods-Cigarmakers Have Auxiory for Tariff Legislation, Growers Ready to Bet the Plants.

Matters have been quiet among tobacco men for the past week. There continues to be an easy going purchase of the '57 seed part of growers. It is thought that sevensighths of the crop in this county has been purchased. In York and other adjacent counties not more than one-half the crop has been bought.

Deliveries at the warehouses have been secondly active. Skiles & Frey have recatved 80 000 pounds ; D. A. Mayer 50,000, and other packers proportionate quantities.
The following sales of old tobacco are reported: Skiles & Frey 50 cases; Dr. B. S. Kendig & Co. 123 cases. Many farmers have their tobscool ands in readiness for setting out the young plants, but we have not heard of any who have planted. Some say their plants are not yet large enough, their growth having been retarded by the exceptionally cold weather. Those having good plants will doubtless set them out as soon as they are favored with a good warm rain.

Cigar manufacturers are working from hand to mouth, awaiting the outcome of the great tariff fight in Congress. All the the cigar and tobacco tax, while the large manufacturers, who own valuable trademarks, oppose the abolition. New York Leaf Market, From the U. S. Tobacco Journal.

For the past week the same unprofitable activity prevailed in the market as has been characteristic all these months. The news from Amsterdam as to quality and price of the new Sumatra ought to cheer up both the holders of old Bumstra stock and new seed leaf, and yet there are no tangible efforts for a rush or rise perceptible. Old goods sell at low and unprofitable prices, and have to go almost begging. It is no quantity but remunerativeness which causes the feeling of estisfaction denoted as causes the feeling of satisfaction denoted as an active market. What does the mere enumeration of so many hundred cases and bales of tobacco signify for the market if the sales are not remunerative enough to throw off the ordinary rate of interest on the capital invested? The market is solive, was active as for an quantity goas; but it is yes, active as far as quantity goes; but it is at the same time unprofitable as to the price enlized, and therefore the general grumbrealized, and therefore the general grumb-ling of poor business, though there is not very much of old stock left to be sold. The stock of Sumatra is diminishing very fast; it has become smaller last week by about 350 bales, all sold in small parcels from one bale up to ten. Price from $1.50 up-

Of old seed stock the '86 Pannsylvania is going just as fast. About 800 cases were disposed of as usua! for binder and filler purposes, at from 9 to 11 s. A few hundred cas is Little Dutch at 10 to 10 %c changed hance likewise, and some odd lots of other leaf bring the aggregate sales to about 1,200

Tobacco Journal urges them to combine and form a trust and absent themselves from that market until better terms may be had. "If but a majority of the buyers, it but the principal importers would enter into a combination, the minester would see the forces out and the nority would soon be frozen out and the mority would soon be frozen out and the small fry would from learn it to be to their advantage to follow in the trail of their atronger brethren." "The Dutch syndicate will have to come to terms with the combinstion, and the latter will obtain its Sumatra at a fairly reasonable price."

Following are the sales of seed leaf tobacco reported for the INTELLIGENCER by J. S. Gans' Son, tobacco broker, No 131 Water street, New York, for the week ending May 21, 1888 :

cases 1896 Wisconsin Havana, 4½@10½c.
Total 1,370 cases.

At Baldwinsville, N. Y., there is more activity. About 100 cases has been sold for export at 3½ to 9½. At Warner's 50 cases has been sold at 12½ to 14 At other points great preparations are being made for the coming crop.

In the Connecticut valley there has been more on the quiet work. There has been more or less inquiry for old goods, which are not abundant, however. The prices offered are so uniformly low, that it is of small importance with the offer is made or not. Some ance whether the offer is made or not. Some parties have sampled their goods and sent their samples to New York for sale on the market, preferring that course to having their would-be buyers pull over their crops and growl about their quality, even though not as much is realized for the crop. Well, we don't wonder that they get sick of hearing the constant repetition of: "It ish bad burn," and similar attempts to cheapen our crops, by men who would ride a week to buy a crop for a half-cent less per pound. A few sales are reported at 12@14 cents.

In Vermont more tobacco will be raised oe whether the offer is made or not. Som In Vermont more tobacco will be raised on for several years previous. In Miamsburg, Onio, there is inquiry for he better class of Little Dutch.

the better class of Little Dutch.

In Edgerton, Wisconsin, a fair amount of business has been done, prices being for new wrappers as low as 6 and as high as 12 cents. The Janesville market is in good condition, prices being from 5 to 6 in bundle, and 6 to 8% assorted.

EPHRATA, May 19, 1888.—EDS. INTELLI GENCER-Lieut. Leach Post, No. 524, G. A. R., of Ephrata, were the recipients this evening of a valuable gift in the shape of an excellently preserved pair of pistols and holsters carried by Col. John Wright, of Revolutionary fame, who served with distinction under Gen. Washington during the war of the Revolution. The gift was from our respected townsman, County Commissioner Jacob W. Leher, a great grandson of Col. Wright. The post hereby tender their unantmous thanks to Mr. Leber for his appreciation of the American soldler, and have placed the old flint-looks in a conspicuous places in their post room, which will have a tendency to keep green the memory of the departed heroes of our several ware ; those who like Col. Wrigh fought for and accomplished the freedom of the grandest government under the sun as well as the hundreds of thousands of the bravest of the brave who sacrificed their lives in the late rebellion for the preservation of our giorious liberty-born country. The weapons were purchased by Mr. Leber at the sale of the effects of our late townsman, John W. Gross, a grandson of Col. Wright, who held them in high

PAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Grover and McAulifie met in the California Athletic club rooms lest night to fight to a finish. The men were called at 11 o'clock. In the first two rounds there was cautio. a sparring, and no hard blows were struck. In the following three rounds but little fighting was done. In the fith Glover landed his right heavily on McAuliffe's nose, which swelled bedly. In the eighth Glover got in two clever blows on McAuliffe's face and got away. Hard fighting characterized the tenth round. Glover got in a terrific right-hander, but McAuliffe returned it with odds. At the conclusion of the round Glover seemed fresher. In the eleventh round Glover rushed and resched McAuliffe's wind. A clinch followed. Glover got in his arm work, weakening McAuliffe. In the twelfth round McAuliffe had far the best, giving Glover a struck. In the following three rounds McAuliffe had far the best, giving Giover a heavy blow on the eye. He rushed him to the ropes, hit him about the bead, dasing Giover considerably. In the thirteenth round McAuliffe gained first blood with a out over Glover's eye with a terrific right-hander. Twice in the fitsenth round Glover landed heavily on McAuliffe's wind. The latter tried to return the blowe, but Glover kept out of the Californian's reach. The sixteenth round was an exciting one. Glover sent his left hand hard on MoAuliffe's wind. The latter got angry, rushed at Glover and gave him a series of terrific blows on the face. In the seventeenth McAuliffe led for Glover and saught him on the neck and knocked him down fairly. In the 18th MoAuliffe received a telling blow in the ribs. He recovered quickly and planted a hot right-hander on Glover's chin, but failed to follow his advantage. The 224 reliad nearly terminated Glover's chances. He led for Mo-Auliffe'n wind as usual and fell short. Mo-Aulific shot out his long right and landed square on Glover's chin, badly dasing the latter. McAuliffe followed up his advantage and pounded his opponent unmercifully about the face until time was

The following rounds were but repet tions of the preceeding ones. At the 44th round McAuliffe showed considerable weakess, but Giover had a bunch over his left eye as large as his fist. Giover, however, was in somewhat the better condition.

The mill continued for five more rounds, when, in the forty-ninth, Glover was knocked completely out by a terrific blow from the giant. The fight lasted three hours and a quarter.

The match was worth $3,750 to the winner. The club put up a purse of $1,750 and each contestant put up $1,000. The betting had been about even. Both men were in fine condition, but there was a great difference in their weights. Grover weighed 175 pounds while McAulifie tipped the beam at

They have been waiting for several months street and for its acceptance by the city. They have been waiting for several months now and the probabilities are that they will have to wait a good while longer.

It came to light yesterday that Mayor Fitler is impressed with the belief that the bridge is not according to contract and specifications. Within the next few days he will decide whether the bridge shall be accepted by the city. His decision will rest on the result of an examination now being made by J. A. Wilson in accordance with the mayor's instructions. The report will be made within the next few days and then the mayor will decide what he will do.

Mayor Fitter would not say in what respect he considered the bridge defective. When asked whether the $50 per day forfeit that was retained for each day the bridge was uncompleted after the time specified in the contract would be kept by the city, he said most certainly.

"There is no use in having such a provision in a business contract of that kind," said he, "if it is not to be enforced."

The contract of R. A. Maione & Sons was for $271,000, and was entered into under Mayor Smith. There was some delay, at the time over the plans, and the contractors claim they were considerably put back. Although the bridge has been open to travel for some time, it has never been scepted by the city. The total amount yet due is over $50,000.

ALDERMAN RESE ON TRIAL He Most Answer the Charge of Accepting Bribe From the Broadway Rail-

New York, May 22.—The first witness Alderman Fullgraff, took the stand promptly at 10 o'clock this morning, and the interrogations of the district attorney were begun.

Judge Patterson fixed Kerr's ball at $100,000, and Lawyer Bird said it would be urnished before the close of the day.

Fullgraff's testimony was similar to that given at the previous trials of the boodle On being saked by District Attorney Fallows as to what transpired at the meet-ing of the thirteen aldermen in McLuugh-lin's house, the detense speedily interposed

Ex-Judge Davis made a lengthy argument in support of the objection, holding that the defendant was not present; that the witness never knew Kerr and never spirsey on the part of the alderman to re-ceive a bribe was not a conspirsey on the part of others to give a bribe. There was no joint offense. The offenses being different each was only chargeable with his own ret. Judge Davis held there was a complete separation and that there must first be introduced testimony to show conclusively the guilt of the joint offense The point raised was a new one, but he Col. Fellows said that the question was the same as had been raised on the trial of Sharp, and that the councel had in his excent authority on the subject, that of the general term of the supreme court in the pinion given in the case of Sharp, which sustained the people's cause.

Judge Patterson in overruling the objection said that the general term distinctly held upon one branch at least that the evidence was admissable.

The witness, Fullgraff, then went on to relate the alleged conversation and announcements made by Jachne at the mesting in McLaughlin's house. The wi ness was still on the stand when the court ad-
