Potsdam, June 18 -The funeral service over the remains of the late Emperor Frederick began at 10 o'clock this morning. marck, Count Von Moltke and the foreign princes arrived early. The rail. way stations at Berlin and Potsdam are closed against the public. Large crowds have congregated outside both stations. Boldlers and police are visible everywhere. The castle Friedrichakron is guarded like a ortress. The church bells are being tolled. At 9 o'clock the ministers took their places around the coffin. The cathedral choir sang two hymns, the first beginning "Soon thou callest me to higher joys " and th second "Jesus is my trust."

Chaplain Koegel then blessed the corpse and the mourners, the choir meanwhile singing the hymn "If I Am to Die." Twelve commanders of twelve different regiments of which the late emperor was chief carried the coffin to the hearse which was drawn by eight horses. Eight majors took the bridles of the horses and the procession started for Friedrichskirche. At 9:15 o'clock this morning Potsdam was be seen everywhere. All the way from the castle to the Friedrichskron, where the funeral was to take place, torobes and cres-sets were seen illuminating with their pallid flames the morning light. Every here and there rose buge flagstaffs and poles bearing banners with mourning devices. The troops which were to take part in the funeral ceremony were already mus tering. They comprise the entire garrison at Potsdam and a portion of the Berlin and Spaudau garrisons. They consisted of one combined infantry battalion, two combined cavalry squadrons, two combined batteries of artillery, a regiment of the guard corps from Berlin and similar combined battations and batteries from Spandau.

At 11:30 o'clock the remains were removed from Castle Friedrichskron according to the programme already published. As the lust atrains of the chorale "Jesus Meine Zuversicht" died away Chaplain Koegel arose and offered a prayer in which he alluded in feeling terms to the double grievous visitation upon the imperial house and upon the nation. He thanked God for all He had done for the departed monarch and implored heavenly consolation for the sorely tried members of the Imperial family and the nation. The chorale "Wenn Ich Einmal Soil Schelden" was then sung, after which the coffin was removed from the castle and placed on the funeral car, the choir meanwhile singing "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth." The procession was then formed and moved to the church. Upon arriving at the church the mourners took the seats assigned them. After the service Chaplain Koegel pronounced the benedic tion. There was no sermon. After the firing of volleys and minute guns by the troops the mourners took their departure. Before leaving, the widowed empress bent over the cettin and took a solemn farewell look at her dead husband's face. Court prayer and the choir intened a dirge. In the procession from the castle to the church the Prince of Wales walked with the em poror and the king of Saxony. Among those who took part in the procession were Prince Henry, second son of the decessed emperor, the hereditary prince of Saxe-Meiningen and the generals of the army, headed by Count Von Moltke, who carried a marshal's staff. The funeral ceremonie ended shortly before 1 c'clock.

CANCER OF THE LARYNY. The Result of the Post-Mortem Examination of the Late Emporor. Professors Virchow, Waldeyer and Bergmann went to the Friedrichskron palace at the request of Emperor William and with Dr. MacKenz'e held a post-mortem examination. Dowager Empress Victoria wa everse to it, but it was demanded by the public. The post-mortem examination was confined to dissection of the neck, larynx and lungs. In the larynx, which was found to have been destroyed by suppuration, was a cavity about the size of a clenched fist. Dr. MacKenzie states in the report, which be prepared at the command of Emperor William, that the disease was beyond doub the disease attacked the cartilage of the arynx at the outset and afterwards developed chiefly in the lower part of the

The National Zeitung says that the autopsy proved that the larynx was com-pletely destroyed by cancer, and that pu-trid bronchitis existed. There was also inflammation of the finer ramifications of the bronchial tubes, into which putrescent particles had entered. The whole larvn as in a state of suppuration and a soft tilaginous structure remaining. There was thing to show the existence of perforation of the walls separating the traches and ceophagus. The choking sensation from which the emperor suffered during the last days of his life, which was attributed to such a perforation, appears to have been leally due to a collapse of the larynx, owing to the destruction of the cartilage. The cause of death is given as paralysis of the lungs. The post-mortem examination

Emperor William II has issued following general order to the arm; While the army has only just discarded the outward signs of mourning for the Emperor, King William I, my deeply revered grandfather, whose memory will ever live in all hearts, it has suffered a fresh and heavy blow by the death of my dear and warmly-loved father. This is indeed a serious and sorrowful time, in which God's degree places me at the heart which God's decree places me at the head of the army. It is from a deeply moved heart I address my first words to my army, but the confidence with which I step into the place to which God's will calls me is immovably strong, for I know what sense of honor and duty my glorious accessors have implanted in the army. ancestors have implanted in the army, and I know in how great a measure this feeling at all times has been manifested in the army. A firm and inviolable attach-ment to the war lord is an inheritance handed down from father to son, from generation to generation, and in the same way I refer you to my grandfather, who stands fresh in all your memories as the personi-fication of the glorious and venerable war fication of the glorious and venerable war lord, such as could not the more finely con-ceived or in a form more speaking to the heart. I refer you to my beloved father, who as crown prince aiready won a place of honor in the annals of the army, and to a honor in the annais of the army, and to a long line of glorious ancestors whose names ahines brightly in history, and whose hearts best warmly for the army. Thus we belong to each other—I and the army. Thus we were born for one and her, and thus we will stand together in an indissoluble bond in rease or storm, as God may will it. You in peace or storm, as God may will it. You will now take to me the oat's of fidelity and

WILLIAM. The following order has been issued to the navy: I have to inform the navy, with a deeply obedience, and I swear ever to remember that the eyes of my ancestors look down upon me from the other world, and that I shall one day have to render an account to them of the glory and honor of the army.

moved heart, that my beloved father, the Emperor of Germany and King of Prussir, Frederick 11 I, has departed this life peacetally in the Lord, and I, stepping into the place assigned me by God's will, have assumed the government of the land failing to me by hereditary right, and therewith, also, the chief commander of the navy. It is, indeed, a profoundly grave period in which I address my first words to the navy, which has only just ceased wearing the outward signs of mourning for my ever-to-be-remembered and beloved grandfather, Emperor William I, who only last year, during his presence at Kiel, expressed in the warmest words the lively astisfaction at and appreciation of the development of the navy under his glorious government. The fings are already lowered for my much beloved father, who so greatly rejoiced at and took so strong an interest in the growth and progress of the navy. Yet a time of deep and sincere mourning chastases and fortifies men's hearts. Thus we shall look confidently to the future, faithfully preserving in our hearts the memory of my grandfather and father. The navy knows that it not only to the future, faithfully preserving in our hearts the memory of my grandfather and father. The navy knows that it not only gives me great joy to belong to it by an external bond, but that since my earliest youth a warm and lively interest has, in complete sympathy with my dear brother Henry, united me with the navy. I have learned to appreciate the high sense of bonor and fathful fulfillment of duty prevailing in the navy. I know that every member of the navy is prepared joyfully to give his life for the honor of the German flag wherever he may be. Thus in this sad hour, I can say with all confidence—we shall stand together firmly and surely, in good and evil days, in storm as in sunshine, ever reunembering the story of the German Fatherland, and ever prepared to shed our heart's blood for the honor of the German flag. In this, God's blessing will be with us.

The Emperor's Proclamation. BERLIN, June 18 -The emperor's proclamation was published to-day. It is as "Proclamation to the Prussian people The grave had scarcely closed over William before Frederick was called away. Frederick bore his hard fate with heroic Christian resignation, and remained faithful to his kingly duties. In the few months Christian resignation, and remained faithful to his kingly duties. In the few months allotted to him to rule, he exhibited all the noble qualities of his mind and heart. His virtues, his victories in the battlefield, will be remembered as long as German hearts continue to beat. I have taken the government upon myself, looking up to the King of kings for aid. I pray God that, like my beloved father, I may be a just and clement prince; that I may foster piety and the fear of God; that I may guard the peace and promote the weifare of our land; that I may be the helper of the poor and distressed; the firm guardian of the right, and that I may ever thrive in the execution of my kingly duthrive in the execution of my kingly du-ties, in unison with my people, who in good and in evil days have stood true to their kings. I count upon the fidelity of my people in the consciousness that I shall return it heartly as a true prince to a true people, both equally ready to make sacrifices for the Father-land. I derive confidence from this belief. l pray God to lend to me strength and wisdom to discharge my kingly office for the welfare of the Fatherland."

called to the bar. The testimony of Officer Cramer was that he was under the influence of liquor and disorderly at Centre Square on Saturday night. When told to cease his he was promptly arrested. On the road to the station house he was loud in his declarations that he had been arrested to make costs. The mayor discharged him upon the payment of a fine of $2 and costs. His fun cost him $4 02,

The next subject was Frank Daily. He is a one armed young man who has been in numerous rows and invariably gives policemen trouble. He was arreste Officer Glass and before the officer landed him in the station house Daily had succeeded in scratching the officer. The mayor told Dally that this was his first offense before him, but he would give him the full extent of the law, thirty days, and every time hereafter that he was brought in he would get the full extent of the law.

Howard Miller was arrested on North Queen street by Officer Oit on Saturday vening. He was a nuisance by reason of the big load of whisky he was trying to carry. His punishment was the costs Richard Mineral, employed on a farm a few miles from the city, was found drunk and asleep on Grant street on Sunday afternoon by Officer Messenkop. As it was his first offense he was discharged upon the payment of costs.

Charles H. Dunn was the last subject discould of. He is a young man who claimed Chicago as his home. Officer Glass found him on Duke street, near Frederick, this morning between 1 and 2 o'clock, trying to open the gates of several residences. His story was that he was leaving the town and icet his way. The mayor gave him one hour to get out of town and instructed the officers to arrest him if he was seen after 10 o'cleck this morning.

A Dog, That Stord Over a Blast, Takes Sudden Ras-While Barking at the Burning Pase the Charge Explodes and Pate Him to Sleep a Few Momenta.

A small terrier dog, belonging to Elias Snyder, who resides near the gas works, met with quite an adventure on Saturday afternoon. The animal does not like to be annoyed. He formerly ran along and barked at every train that passed through on the Quarryville railroad. He kept this up until he had his hip broken and that oured him. At present workmen are en gaged digging out a place for a large holder at the gas works. In doing this they are obliged to move considerable rock and in consequence there is much bissting. Every time a blast has been put off the dog would run to the place and bark at the smoke. On Saturday the men put off three blasts, which were lighted, so that they would explode in rapid succession. The dog listened to two of the explosions uld control bimself no longer. He ran to the place and was standing over the blast, which had not yet gone off, when it exploded with great force. Persons who saw the affair say that the dog was thrown about fifty fest in the air. He came down with great force. He lay on the ground apparently unable to move for a time, but finally managed to get up and run. He was not injured to any extent by his sudden

Killed in a Fight at Gloucester. Theodore Clemmer, a young cigarmaker who resided at No. 728 Green street, Philadelphia city, was killed Sunday afternoon at Gloucester City, New Jersey, by being hands of a man with whom he had a fight.
The latter occurred between 4 and 5 o'clock on a lot in the rear of Thompson's hotel.
There were very few witnesses to the occurrence, and those who did see it said they did not know either of the participants. Two young girls and a young man were taken into custody as witnesses. The former gave the names of Mary Donovan, and Barbara Deffern. The man said his name was George King.

A Cat's Ride on a Fly Wheel.

A cat with more than the traditional tenacity of life was rescued from a singularly perilous perch in the fly-wheel of the engine in a Bristol, Ps., worsted mill a few days ago. The wheel was making 130 revolutions per minute, and the intermittent howls of dismay which escaped the terror-stricked fe-line attracted the attention of Simon Baker, the engineer. When the engine was stopped the cat was stiff with fright, and its whole body seemed to have been absorbed by its tail. It recovered after a few spasms on the ground. The engineer believes that the cat had been clinging to the wheel for at ieast two or three hours.

LANCASTER, PA., MONDAY, JUNE 18, 1888.

Active, of This city.

Saturday afternoon the Auchor ball ciut, of York, came to this city to play a match game with the Active nine. The game took place on the Ironsides grounds. The attendance was greatly affected by the weather, dance was greatly allocated by the weather, as a heavy rain came up between two and three o'clock and lasted for some time. It was at first thought that there would be no game, but by four o'clock the sun was out and the game was called. The Active boys expected considerable trouble in winning the game, as their opponents had not been beaten this sesson. The home club put young Traub, of Manheim, in the box. He pitched a beautiful game and the Yorkers had but one hit, which was a two bagger by Mc-livain. Hahn covered first base in good style, as did Cline at third. The battery work of the visitors was fine. Baugher did well at second base. Owing to the fact that the ball was wet the fielding was rather loose on both sides, the Active getting the ness like manner, while their opponents were very slow to "get a move on." The score in full is:

OFF FOR OBIOAGO.

A Number of Lancastrians Go to the Repub lican Convention.

For two weeks past the Republicans of this city have been making the most active preparation to attend the convention in Chleage. When they saw how comfortably Democrats went to their national convention they at once concluded that they must have one at least and perhaps two sleepers for their trip. The railroad company gave them their terms, but the travelers could not agree among themselves. A number signed a paper to go, but backed out. The others could not sgree, and it was soon found that the number necessary to get a car could not be obtained. Many gentle men in good circumstances who were saked to go made this reply, "We will go if we are given passes, but will not pay."

After all of this trouble the movers in the matter became disgusted, and advise every man to go in his own way. This they all did. On Saturday night the first party lef ancaster on Cincinnati Express at 11:10 It consisted of Delegates Francis Shroder and John M. Seldomridge, H. Will Brown Enfield Walker, Dr. H. D. Knight and R. M. Morrow. They took berths on s aleeper. On this train there were als several carloads of Philadelphia Republicans. On one sleeper was a streamer showing that the choice of the occupants for president was Edwin H. Fitler.

Sunday night at 11:10 a number of person left. They were Samuel M. Myers, an alternate; John S. Gingrieb, who takes the place of H. S. Eberly as an alternate; Geo Al. Smith, Sam Matt Fridy, Frank Mo-Lain, John W. Mentzer, Casper Bruner Frederick Engelhart, Frank Evans, (Lit itz,) J. W. B. Bausman and Dr. Charles Franklin. On Sunday afternoon several Republican clubs passed west around this city on Limited Express. Many who went to the station to see them go through on Fast Line were disappointed.

PHILADELPHIA, June 18 -Reports, said o be based on good authority, are in circu ation that the net earnings of the Reading company for May will exceed those for the same month last year. The increase is sald to be not large, and is given a about $75,000, which may, however, be inreased or diminished when the complete returns come in. This is considered very remarkable, in view of the fact that the ne earnings in May last showed an increase of nearly $600,000 over May, 1886. If the reported increase is correct the net earnings for the month will be about $1,135,000 against $1,061,000 in May last year.

NEW YORK FOR DEPEW.

THE DELEGATION DECIDES TO SUP-PORT BIN FOR PRESIDENT.

John M. Thurston, of Nebrasks, Chosen Tomporary Chairman of the Convention by the National Committee New Jersey to Stick to Phelps-Friendly Feetleg for Biaine. CRICAGO, June 18 -Nearly all the delegations are holding or will hold the cunwholly adrift, and such a thing as a crystallization of sentiment on any mooted point is not to be found.

New Hampshire will select either B. C. Cheney or E. H. Rollins for the natio committee. In regard to candidates the delegation is all adrift. There is no settled idea. Harrison has some friends, Allison is favorably regarded and everybody has a friendly feeling for Blaine. There is no Alexa blood in the delegation. Alger blood in the delegation. The Min-nesota delegation will caucus at 4 o'clock. R. G. Evans will probably be re-elected to the national committee. C. G. Edwards will go on the committee on resoluti m has ten of the fourteen voter. Alger has two votes. The second choice is

There was plenty of enthusiasm among the Jersey men this morning. They will caucus at noon. State Senator John W. Griggs will be chosen to represent the state on the platform committee. G. A. Hobert will be returned to the national committee Mr. John Burt Brewer said there was no Blaide sentiment in the New Jersey dele-gation. "We would be sorry to see Mr. Blaine brought forward. However, the objection to Blaine is an outside one. He would suit New Jersey to a T. We have no second choice. We are absolutely undecided whither we would go if our man William Walter Phelps were out of the way. We shall stick to him with the belief that he ought to win. However, if there is to be a dark horse, we regard Mr. McKinley, of Ohio, as the man. New Jersey will go for him to a dead certainty."'

There is chaos, as far as candidates go, in the Arkaness delegation.

Connecticut will caucus at 2 p. m. M.

CONNECTICUT FOR DEPEW. Secretary of State Hubbard, of the Con-necticut delegation, said that if New York should present the name of Depsw and go for him solidly, Connecticut would second her in her choice with enthusiasm. Other-wise she will pay her compilments either terday's conferences were purely informal and their results, if results they had, were of no real concern. Mr. Hubbard said that in the East, and particularly in Connecti-cut, the popular impression is clearly and emphatically against Judge Gresham. Alger and Allison are both regarded as Alger and Allison are both regarded as available, but Connectiont is prepared to go wild over the New York railroad king.

Nebraska will caucus to night. If Thurston does not get the temporary chairmanship of the convention his delegation will give him the chairmanship of that. Mr. D. O. Bates, a member of the delegation, said that while Judge Gresham had many risends in Nebraska. friends in Nebrasks, it was felt that he had been killed off by his friends, and so Allison and Aiger were getting favorable consideration which was formerly so the quarrel between Grosham and Harris rendered both unavailable in the or of Nebrasks. As to Depew it was th that he was not the best man, but should be be nominated, as seemed more than proba-ble, Nebraska would do her duty by him, as she would by any good Republican whether from the West or from the East. The national committee has selected John M. Thurston, of Nebraska, as temporary chairman of the convention. It is reported that the vote for Thurston was 21 to 20, representing a combinat the Western and Pacific coast states again

12:40 P. M.-The New York deleg have organized with Chauncey M. Depe in the chair. Word has just been refrom them that the prospects of a protr meeting; that the delegation is unque ably solid for Dapew at the outset but a desire some understanding as to what is to be done after the complimentary voting shall have reached its climar.

A New York city man said to a reporter of the United Press:

"The trouble is going to be on the point of standing by Depew indefinitely. Our people are all desirous of giving him our complimentary vote, but we do not desire to be plimentary vote, but we do not desire to be held for him too long, and the question of harmony will hinge upon what Mr. Dep has to say on this subject. There is like to be a row, but I hope it may be avoided." 1 P. M.-The New York delegation bes decided unanimously to support Chauncey

In that now lies the greatest risk of the failure of their plot. Dare they venture to invite deliberation? On the other hand, what prestige may attach to a spontaneous nomination by accismation on the first ballot. Nothing else would be wanting to compet Mr. Blaine to accept without seeming to be guilty of indirec tion.' As it now looks, about the only question which remains to be settled is which ballot shall the tattooed knight be

Mr. Corbin's Talk With B NEW YORK, June 18 .- Mr. Austin Corbin, president of the Reading ratiroad, who returned yesterday on the Umbris said that just before sailing for home, he paid a flying visit to Paris, and dined with Mr. James G. Blaine at a fashionable restaurant. "I am a Damocra'," said Mr. Corbin, but during my chat with the Maine man, he told me without any reservation whatever, that he was not a candidate and could not accept a nomination. Blaine likes polities but I believe his wife has induced h to stand aside. Although Blaine's mind is as bright as ever, he showed signs of poor health. No, he will not accept a nominetion, you can depend upon that,"
