

The Daily Intelligencer.

LANCASTER, JUNE 20, 1888. The Daily Intelligencer publishes all the news of the United States up to the latest possible hour.

The Chicago entertainment is greater than the political news than to its friends. The Republican masses cannot be greatly delighted at the exhibition made of its poverty in leadership and uncertainty in council.

Mr. Depew is supposed to be a shrewd and sensible man; and his performance only illustrates once more how little men are able to govern their conduct with fine judgment, when they are placed in a position to accept or refuse candidature for a place they really want, if they can get it.

JOHN WANAMAKER is the latest Pennsylvania suggestion for president. John runs so large a share of the country now, that it would be a pity to increase his burden.

CONGRESSMAN JOHN D. LONG, of Massachusetts, whose announced retirement at the end of his term, alleged to be on account of the meagre salary he received, has given many editors a chance to inveigh against extravagance in public life in Washington.

THE YORK DEMOCRATS have done well in unanimously re-nominating Col. Levi Mills for Congress. He has been an able representative and is in sympathy with the tariff reform views of the majority of the party.

THE MANY FRIENDS of Swarthmore college in this state will be pleased to learn of the material addition it has received to its financial resources. President Magill announced on Tuesday an addition of $100,000 to the college funds for the endowment of four new professorships.

THE FIRE AT DUBOIS. With the entrance of the summer heat comes the news of the burning of six hundred houses at Dubois, Pa., at a total loss of $1,000,000 and driving two thousand people from their homes.

THE REPORT OF THE EXPORTS of breadstuffs for May just issued would not be cheerful reading if it were true that the prosperity of the country depended upon the surplus of grain and flour exported.

THE DEMOCRATS gave a rousing cheer, and Judge Thurman walked over on the Republican side and shook hands with Conkling.

in the quarterly reports of the chief of the bureau of statistics, and in the statistical abstract of the foreign commerce of the leading nations, and is more exhaustively treated in the census.

A Poor Place for Sense. The president of the New York Central railroad has certainly not increased his national stature by becoming a candidate for the Chicago nomination.
