The Death of Judge Trunkley. The death of Judge John Trunkley, of the supreme court of this state, will be widely regretted wherever his judicial probity and great legal learning were known.

Mr. Lowell, the poet, is ill. Mr. Lowell, the poet, is ill. Mr. Lowell, the poet, is ill. Mr. Lowell, the poet, is ill.

Scientific work never seems to tire of stirring up their learned brethren of more conservative professions and are particularly joyful when they find the dignified and dusty masters of the law within reach of their scientific boot.

PHILADELPHIA claimed to be the hottest city of the country last week. Lancaster challenges it with a record far up in the nineties for several days.

THE victory in Oregon was won by the Republicans because of the monopoly that the Northern Pacific railroad possesses in that pocketed country.

JOHN M. THURSTON, the temporary chairman of the Chicago convention, is charged with having fled to Canada when some lobby work in the Nebraska legislature was being probed.

THE peach crop this year is promised to be larger than any year since 1875, which is good news following the fact that strawberries were never better than in this year of grace.

THE average Pennsylvania iron and steel worker and miner is quite up to the level of the average New York mechanic in intelligence and spirit, and not half so easily controlled by hair-brained socialists and scheming demagogues.

What a miserable spectacle Senator Ingalls presents in the letter that he wrote about the Republican situation in Chicago! He assails Depew as too closely allied to corporations and declares of his candidacy that the Republicans "might as well nominate Gould or Vanderbilt at once."

heroes makes his public record a shade blacker. Mr. Lowell, the poet, is ill. Ingalls says "I do not make much difference who is nominated."
