THE PRESIDENTS VISIT TO BALTIMORE. Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Cheered While at the Sangeriest.

The Academy of Music in Baltimore was picked on Tuccday night when President Cieveland, his wife and others from Washington attended the Frengeriest. The dis-

Cieveland, his wite and others from Washington attended the Fængerfest. The distinguished party were under the escort of Colonel H. C. Ticck, Louis Schneider, president of the Sængerfest, Mayor Latrobe an i Ernest Knabe.

At Camden station a crowd of two thousand people had been awaiting the arrival of the party for an hour, and when they did finally put in an appearance the demonstrations of welcome were so vigorous that Mrs. Cleveland was somewhat timid about attempting to reach the carriaga. Another large crowd awaited them on the streets in front of the Academy of Music.

The presidential box was tastefully decorated. The pillars on either side of the box were entwined each with a single United States flag, lapped over with a long continuous strip of bandanna handke chief stuff.

When the president all party entered the box the thirst-part of the concert, "On the Rhine," was being rendered by the mass chorus. The president remained in the background until the piece had been finished. He then came to the front, and the audience broke forth into wild applause. Handkerchiefs and bandannas were waved, and the cheering was deafening.

Mr. Cleveland finally bowed his acknowl-
