PLOUBING MILL BURNED. Henry Grabitl's Big Bullding at Earlville De-

On Thursday night about 11 o'clock the large stone flouring 'mill belonging to Henry Grabill, situated on the Concatogs reck at Earlville, was discovered to be on fire, and together with its contents was oon a mass of ruins. It is not known now the fire originated. Some suppose it to have been the work of an incendiary and others that it resulted from spontaneons combustion. There were about 200 barrels of flour destroyed together with some wheat and other grain, and a large amount of milling utensils and machinery. There is an insulance on the property of $11,000, which will go far towards covering

The frame saw mill adjoining the grist mill, and a stable and hog pen near by were totally destroyed. The bridge that spans the Concetogs, about fifty feet from the mill, was saved owing to the favorable condition of the wind.

The mill was one of the old-fashloned kind-built 80 or 100 years ago. It for-merly did a large business, but for six or eight years past has been principally de-voted to customer work, and like most other mills in the county had greatly de preciated in value. There are at the present time two or three suits pending in court relative to its water rights.

WAS NOT ARRESTED

The Charges Against Asvertising Agent Lowe Denied by Him. The following appears in the Philadelphia

"A young man of graceful mien and gen-tlemanly manners has imposed on a num-ber of Camden business men lately under the name of "Col. E. H. Lowe." He was arrested in Lancaster yesterday, and will be brought back to Camden to stand trial on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences. "Colonel Lowe" came to Cam den several weeks ago and engaged to work up an advertising scheme for the Post. His plausable talk and engaging manners soon gained for him the friendship of a number of two pages and club men. and of a number of business and club men, and he secured a $45 pair of diamond cuft but-tons from W. R. Bennett, jeweler, of 542 Federal street; $10 worth of slik handker-culets of W. D. Reel, of 320 Federal street, and money from Grant Stockton, Carlos G. dfrey and other well known men. He

Lowe came to Lancaster two weeks ago and is in this city now. He contracted with the INTELLIGENCER for a page of advertising and started out to get advertisers upon his own responsibility. Lowe was not arrested and taken to Camden, as the Times says. When Godfrey came here he had an interview with him, and Lowe arranged to pay the Camden bills by giving his note. Lowe claims that the bills were to have been paid by his partners, who are now at work in Chester, Lowe is a genteel looking man with good manners. He claims to be a graduate of West Point and his baggage is inheled "Col. E. H. Lowe, U. S. A." He carries a large number of letters of recommendation from newspapers in this state and New Jersey.

COMPLAINT ABOUT STREET CARS.

On Ratoy Nights, When Blost Needed, They Are Least to Be Had. There was a great deal of complaint last night about the manner in which the carof the Lancaster street railway company were run, and upon an investigation by as INTELLIGENCER reporter it was found that the people had good cause for complaint. Many who came in from the Penryn picnic at 7 o'clock were com welt an hour or more s the upper depot before they could get down Yesterday afternoon a party of folks, residing in the northern part of the city, held a private picnic at Tell's Hain. They came to town on the East King street line and purchased exchange tickets to pasup Dake street. They were landed at Centre Square shortly after seven o'clock and took refuge, from the drenching rain, under an awning in the neighborhood to await the arrival of a Duke street car. They waited until eight o'clock before a car of tnat live came to Centre Square, although at least three should have been there by that time. Everybody was grumbling, and they thought it very strange that on rainy nights, when cars were most needed, none could be had.

Voganville Items. Mrs. Edwin Frankhouser, of town, showed us a curiosity in the shape of an egg there being two distinct shells perfectly constituted, environing the ovum. The outer one was destitute of yelk and glair. Mr. Martin Jacoby, formerly a merchant of this village, but of late residing in Reamstown, had something in close resemblance to a paralytic stroke, while stopping for the night at the public bouse of G. H. Skiles. The mine host took him home, and at last accounts he was in a state of convalescence.

Quite a number of parties were unpleas antiy disappointed some time ago in driv ing a long distance to the Conestoga to witness a "dipping," or baptism by immersion, but as it was they could do naught but enjoy an "ideal immersion." Mr. G. F. Rush bought a new b'eyele from John L. Zook, of Littiz. Rev. Hartman will preach his introductory sermon in the Union church on the 21st inst. He is a very fluent speaker. Mrs. Henry Meckley, of Greenville, was interred to-day in the cemetery at Bergs Strasse church.

A Child Scaided to Death.

From the Little Record. On Tuesday evening a boy of Addison Blantz, aged two or three years, residing north of Lexington, upset a kettle of boliing water, which scalded its limbs and body so badly that he died on Thursday following.

DID NOT VOTE FOR HARRISON. Two Beasons Why William P. Lockard Did

o the Editor of the INTELLIGENCES To the Editor of the INTELLIBENCE:

John Lockard, of Columbia, Win. F.
Lockard, of Pailadelphie, and Bamuel H.
Lockard, of Columbia, voted for Harrison and Tyler in 1840, and if alive in November will vote for the grandson of "Old Tippecance" Their ages are respectively
75, 72 and 70 years, and it can safely be said that this record cannot be beaten in this state.—Columbia Correspondence of Lancaster New Era.

It seems to be a pity to spoil the above romance of the veracious correspondent of the New Era, but such things must, sometimes, be done. In Thursday evening's issue of the paper in the item printed above we are told that John Lockard, William F. bekard, of Philadelphia, and Samuel H. (or Pardy) Lockard, of this place, all voted in 1840 for Harrison, and intend to vote for his grandson this year. But William F. Lockard was just fifteen years old, and a Democrat. John and Samuel may have voted as stated. So the romance of the correspondent has the bot-tom knocked out of it. As all this don't seem to enthuse anybody, would'nt it be better for correspondents, the worshipper of his granddaddy's hat, to try a little truth for a chapge.

ON THEIR WAY TO AFRICA. The Family of R. Spiro Go to Join Rim in Far Off Uape Town. This morning a woman, accompanied by five of her own children and another, left Laucaster on a long trip. It was the wife Africa, and she is on her way to join him. Spire was a member of the Hussian colony five years ago. One year ago he went to Africa, where he is in business, and he recently sent for his family. They left for New York on the nine o'clock train and will sail for London to-morrow, going thence to Africa. Mrs. Spiro's children range in age from 5 to 17 years. A large party of Russians were at the station to see the travelers off on their long trip. There were many sad hearts in the party when they thought they would in all probability never meet again, and most of the women and children shed bitter tears.
