In its platform in 1884 the Republican party said: "The Democratic party has failed completely to relieve the people of the burden of unnecessary taxation by a wise reduction of the surplus. The Republican party pledges itself to correct the inequalities of the tariff and to reduce the surplus."

If we analyze this plank, we discover three essential propositions. First, there is unnecessary taxation; second, there are inequalities of the tariff; and third, the surplus should be reduced. The platform of 1888 adopted at Chicago will be hunted through in vain for the discovery of like enunciations. This latter document takes a wholly new departure, and affirms that rather than abolish unnecessary taxation by duties on imports. correct tariff inequalities, and reduce the surplus, it is preferable to have free tobacco and free whisky.

It is not surprising that this deliverance was a severe gag to many Republicans who had been led to believe that the platform of 1884 meant what it said Such staunch Republicans in Brooklyn as Ex-mayor Low, Rev. Dr. Cuyler and Rev. Dr. Storrs have boldly come out over their own signatures to say that they will not go with their party in this crab-like movement. Such an uncomprising newspaper advocate of the Reonblican ticket as the St. Paul Pioneer-Press could not refrain from making these comments on the Republican

"The Republican party in 1884 felt com-pelled to favor a judicious revision of the tariff. In 1888 the national convention, rising to its feet as one man, with a united yell of enthusiastic acclamation, applauds the declaration in substance that the tariff must be maintained unchangeable as it is, and that the laternal taxes on tobacco, al-cohol, and whisty must be swent away cohol, and whisky must be swept away rather than reduce any protective duty one

It is fortunate that the issue this year is not clouded by the personalities of the candidates. The Republican press states it concisely and at the same time exposes the party weakness on this point. The Democratic position grows stronger day by day. When November comes around we will hear less of the cry of free trade, because it will be shown to be baseless. The people will be required to face the two roads that will open before them. One will lead along the thorny highway of unnecessary taxation and extravagant expenditures. The other will point to flowery paths where taxation is limited to the needs of the government economically administered and where the surplus will remain in the pockets of the people. The voters can be safely left to decide the questions which road they will choose.

A Problem for Blaine. It is said that 75,000 Republicans will gather in New York to welcome home Mr. James G. Blaine, and that no hall can be secured in the city large enough to accommodate the crowds that will throng to hear him. This is too bad. We trust that some arrangement may be made to give him an opportunity to speak, for thousands of voters in the country are anxious to learn how Mr. Blaine is going to get into tune with his party on the free whisky question. In his famous Paris message Mr

Blaine said : "So long as there is whisky to tax I would tax it. . . . The tax on whisky by the Federal government, with its suppression of all illicit distillation and consequent enhancement of price, has been a powerful agent in the temperance reform by putting it beyond the reach of so many." His party's platform declares that rather than abate one jot or tittle of the protective system free whisky and free tobacco are prefer able. It would be an interesting feat of mental gymnastics to hear Mr. Blaine try to reconcile himself to the platform on which he is expected to stand.

Why Wool Was Made Free.

Here is a way of looking at the free wool question, which may strike home to some people who have doubts on the propriety of that move. The United States now exports less than $500,000 worth of woolen goods, while England, with untaxed raw material, exports more than $150,000,000 of woolen goods. The House committee of ways and means admirably summed up the situation in this report summed up the situation in this report:

We say to the manufacturer we have put wool on the free list to enable him to obtain foreign markets and successfully compete with the foreign manufacturer. We say to the laborer in the factory we put wool on the free list so that it may be imported and he may be employed to make the goods that are now made by foreign labor and imported into the United States. We say to the consumer we have put wool on the free list that he may have woolen goods cheaper. We say to the domestic wool-grower we have put wool on the free list to enable the manufacturer to import toraign wool to mix with his own and thus colarge his market and quicken the dramand for the consumption of his wool while it lightens the burden of the taxpayer. The duty on wool now prevents nearly all the better classes of wools from coming into the country, when the domestic product can only supply about one-half of the amount required for home consumption.

These are unanswerable arguments. They meet all objections and appeal to pocketbooks of all classes. And they will be endorsed by the people.

A Good Order.

Commander-in-Chief John P. Rea, of the Grand Army of the Republic, has issued an order calling attention to that extract from the rules of the orcanization that forbids participation in politics by the members. It simply enjoins "that the uniform of the order should not be worn at any po-litical gathering, and they are admonished to discountenance the use of all political badges or devices in any way cal. culated to associate the Grand Army of the Republic with any political party or candidate, to the end that the fraterial ties which now unite us may not be impaired by partisan contentions." It will be well for the country and for the Grand Army, if the spirit and letter of this order is faithfully followed. THAT sterling Independent Republican contemporary, the Delaware County Record, puts indisputable argument in the editorial referring to how the farmers are plundered by the high tariff system.

Our lives are songs; God writes the words And we set them to music at pleasure; And the song grows glad, or sweet, or sad, As we choose to fashion the measure. and if it is sad, we can make it glad, Or if sweet, we can make it sweeter.

WE print to-day a telling argument in favor of free wool in the statement made to the secretary of the treasury in 1885 by the National Association of Wool Manufacturers. This was after the heat of the presidential election, and is imbued with business and not political views. It was unanimously adopted, and Thomas Dolan and James Dobson, Philadelphia Republicans, were among the signers. These latter decline to subscribe now to what they believed then, perhaps because their po

In the interest of American labor, which should in no event be neglected, the revision of our tax laws contemplated by the Democratic party would promote the adcost of necessaries of life in the home of every workingman, and at the same time securing to him steady and remunerative employment-National Democratic Plat

DOMESTIC industries and enterprises should not and need not be endangered by a reduction and correction of the bur dens of taxation. On the contrary, a fair and careful revision of our tax laws, with due allowance for the difference between the wages of American and foreign labor must promote and encourage every branch of such industries and enterprises by giv ing them assurance of an extended marke and steady and continuous operations. Democratic National Platform, FANNY DAVENPORT has been divorced from her husband, E1ward H. Price. 1t is said that she gave a money consideration to have Price divorced from his wife in order that she might marry him. Fanny's arting and domestic views are not modelled after a high standard.

THE August number of the Catholic World announces that over $700,000 cash 1 now in the hands of those who are projecting the new Catholic university in Washington, with $100,000 more guaranteed. It will be remembered that Miss Gwendolen Caldwell gave $300,000 for this purpose Her sister, Lina Caldwell, has added $50,000 endowing a chair in the divinity faculty. Mr. Eugene Kelly, of New York, gave $50, 000, likewise endowing a professorahip. A gentlemen of New York city, who desires his name kept secret for the present, gave $50,000 more. The Misses Drexel, of Philadelphia, have endowed a divinity chair in perpetuity, to be known as the Francis A. Drexel chair, in memory of their deceased father, $60,000. The Misses Andrews, of Baltimore, have endowed a divinity chair by a gift of the same sum, dedicated in like manner to the memory of their father, the late Dr. Andrews, of Norfolk. Patrick Quinn, treasurer of the Beneficial Saving Fund of Philadelphia, gives $20,000, and Mrs. Reynolds, of the same city, $10,000. Louis Benzinger, Mr. Loubat and Rev. James McMahon, of New York, each $5,000; Mr. Sinnot, of Palladelphia, $5,000 : Thomas D. Waggaman, of Washington, $5,000; Frank Rigge, of the same city, $2,000 : Archbishop Williams, $2,200. While the divinity school will be opened first, the philesophical faculty for the laity will be begun with-out delay after the opening of the divinity faculty in 1889, and chairs in all the branches of psychological, ethical, social, historica', philological and biographical studies will be a ided on as rapidly as means will allow.

up his mind to run. His first and foremost concern is the re-election of President Cleveland, and he is said to have hopes of carrying Pennsylvania for him by earnest work in the campaign. He holds that there has been a large increase of the tariff reform vote: that the temperance vote will aggregate 50,000, drawn mostly from the Republican party, which he believes will also lose the support of 20,000 Germans who are disgusted at the high license law, and with the Butler vote returned to the Democratic fold he thinks Cleveland and Thurman may count on a pluraity. may count on a plurality.

To Offset the Saloon.
Rev Dr. J. Max Hark in the Christian Union What takes the young man to the saloons at first is not the liquor he gets there. It is the air of unrestrained freedom that pervades the place. He can say and do what he pleases there; make himself as comfortable as possible; is the peer of every one else there; can come and go as early or late able as possible; is the peer of every one else there; can come and go as early or late as he chooses. He is perfectly "at home." The company he finds is congenial, and is never wanting. There is a real sociability. All the furniture and amusements are specially devised with this end in view. There are the things that first attract the young man. It is only afterward, because liquer is served and every one drinks it, that he contracts the habit of drinking himself. Now I would have just such rooms fitted up and thrown open everywhere; the same air of unrestraint; the same bright light and warmth and attractive comforts, and even more added if possible; lively music, joily company, cards, billiards, cigars, with the privilege of buying hot or cold coffee, tea, chocolate, milk or soda water, of the best quality, and cheaper than they could be had anywhere else. Above all, ice cream should be sold there; and there is nothing strong so fully as ice cream. I have heard of reformed incbriates whose sole salvation it was. Whenever the passion would arise, the burning thirs, they would all a plue of it and be satisfied. The rooms should be furnished according to the locality; not an elegant parlor in some rough neighborhood. Nothing like a "goody" air should be there. Visitors should not be officiously welcomed, plously entertained and suspiciously watched, not made comfortable by patronizing attendants, but permitted to make themselves comfortable.

The Tobacco Industries. The national organization of the eigar manufacturers met in New York on Wednesday to arrange for a national exposition of the tobacco industries of the United States. It was decided to ask prominent firms to participate in the exposition.

The Swindled Farmer.

The bonds lost by Reiff were first mortgage bonds of the Columbus, Cincinnati & Midland railroad, Nos. 602, 606, 819, 820, 821, 1,464, 1,465, 1,470, 1,471 and 1,473.
