DEATH TO LOMBARDY POPLARS.

A Beetle That Has Destroyed a Species of Trees That Was Common Here.

The following inquiry is fully answered by Dr. S. S. Hathorn:

QUANRYVILLE, July 18.—Dr. S. S. Hathorn—Dear Sir: I saw two bugs that I caught in my yard.

Your "bugs" were only received, alive and kicking. They are technically called Pionus brevicornis.

There are about fifteen species in the United States, but only about three in Lancaster county.

They are by no means a rare insect—indeed rather common, but they are not as frequently met with as some other species.

These bugs are not as frequently met with as some other species. They are male and female, (the female being the larger) and the latter has not yet deposited her eggs.

They belong to that large family of wood-boring insects better known under the name of Longicorns (long horns).

Many years ago the tall "Lombardy poplar" was common throughout the county of Lancaster.

But they eventually became enervated, lost their foliage, and gradually passed away.

The roots and trunks of these trees, three years in the grub stage, were found to be infested by large, white, footless grubs, and these were subsequently identified as the larvae of these beetles.

It is therefore supposed that these grubs were the cause of the slow but sure decay of the trees.

They are now frequently found in the roots and bases of grape vines, and in some localities have become very destructive to them.

Therefore, some interest naturally attaches to them.

THEY WERE MIXED.

A Man Loves His Wife at the Lancaster Junction on Wednesday.

On Wednesday a man and his wife boarded the train at Lancaster Junction.

The husband did not pay particular attention to his better half, and at Lancaster Junction things were badly mixed up.

The woman took the Columbia train and the man came on to Lancaster.

Until she arrived at King street, she found out where she was when her train arrived at Landisville.

She took the train to Lancaster and the couple were soon united, and to that other matter of the woman where the other had slipped.

The woman did not seem to be particularly concerned about her husband's loss, as she had her pocket-book and both railroad tickets.

She said if she had not found him she had intended to spend the day at the circus.

In the afternoon, the couple succeeded in missing the 3:45 train for home, and were compelled to take the Lancaster train going by that city and Reading to reach their home.

WEDDING BELLS RING.

The Marriage of Mr. Harry G. Biggs to Miss Christine Doerr on Thursday Evening.

Mr. Harry G. Biggs, (son of Henry C. Biggs), and Miss Christine Doerr, (daughter of Henry Doerr), all of this city, were united in matrimony at the residence of the bride's parents, No. 112 North Water street.

The officiating clergyman was Rev. F. P. Maysar, pastor of Zion Lutheran church. The bridesmaid was Miss Mary Froelinger, and the groomsmen were Mr. Frank Doerr, youngest brother of the bride.

The wedding was a very quiet one, only the families of the high contracting parties being present.

After congratulations had been tendered and a bounteous set-out partaken of, the bride party took the cars for the East, Mrs. Mary Harmon (the bride's eldest sister) accompanying the bride to the depot and to the train.

The wedding tour will extend over a week or two, and on their return it is the intention of Mr. and Mrs. Biggs to settle in Altoona.

Low Shipping Rates.

The North Queen Street Sewer.

The viewers appointed to assess the properties benefited by the proposed sewer on North Queen street between Centre Square and Centre square.

The conclusion arrived at was to assess the properties according to the benefits to be derived therefrom.

The amount to be paid by the property owners are as follows: Henry Harz, $20.00; John A. Hiestand, $28.34; the Fulton National bank, $15.71; R. A. & C. A. Hoer, $15.07; Lewis S. Hartman, $10.25; Edw. Wiley, $28.88; M. Delcher, $17.50; Sam'l Demuth estate, $17.50; J. L. Stienmetz, $20.84; Charles J. H. Stamm, $25.50.

Mrs. A. Sprenger, $28.34; Thos. Baumgardner, $20.00; Walter, $25.01; Inquirer Printing Co., $20.00; J. C. Dittler, $25.01; H. A. Hirsch, $10.43; John P. Long's Home, $6.94; Mrs. Mary Melson; Joseph C. Gehl, $15.00; Michael Zahm's estate, $15.00; John A. Hiestand, $28.34; Thos. Baumgardner, $20.00; Walter, $25.01; Inquirer Printing Co., $20.00; J. C. Dittler, $25.01; H. A. Hirsch, $10.43; John P. Long's Home, $6.94; Mrs. Mary Melson; Joseph C. Gehl, $15.00; Michael Zahm's estate, $15.00.

The Landlord's meeting.

The meeting of landlords at Bissinger's hotel, Thursday evening, to protect themselves against defaulting tenants, was fairly attended.

The committee of three of which the president was made chairman, was appointed to formulate a constitution and by-laws.

There was some talk among the landlords as to the possibility of obtaining the street light, and the society adjourned to meet at the call of the secretary.

Railroad Contract Awarded.

The president and directors of the Baltimore and Harrisburg division of the Western Maryland railroad (Western Extension) on Wednesday contracted with Messrs. Keller & Crossman, of Lancaster, Pa., for the construction of fifteen miles of railroad from Oxford to the present terminus of the Baltimore & Blue Ridge Summit.

The route is that of the old "Tape-worm," built under Thaddeus Stevens, and will thus save considerable in the way of grading.

A tunnel of about five hundred feet in the mountain will be necessary. It is estimated that the grading will cost $77,000, and the superstructure and buildings, including elevators near Fairfield and Blue Ridge, run the total amount up to about $100,000.

Work is to commence at once at the Oxford end, and trains will run as far as Fairfield in the latter part of the year.

The whole line to be open by May 1, 1935. This connection will give the Western Maryland direct western communication with the battle-field of Gettysburg, besides relieving the main line of freight traffic, and is looked upon as a very important addition.

Soldiers in Town.

Company A, Eighty regiment, N. G. of York, arrived in Lancaster at 8 o'clock this morning. Thirty-two men in the party under command of Captain E. Z. Stine.

They left at 9:45 for the encampment at Mt. Gretna, and during their stay in this city the soldier boys made the most of their time to see the city.

Feet From a Root.

A young son of Alexander Schmalbach, living on South Christian street, while playing on the roof shed of a neighbor on Thursday afternoon, fell to the ground and into a deep gash in his head.

Dr. J. K. Shirk dressed the wound.

Knights of Pythias Reunion.

There will be a grand reunion of the Knights of Pythias of Pennsylvania at Williams Grove, August 17th and 18th. Special rates have been secured, and a number of addresses will be delivered and the reunion promises to be an important event in the history of the order.

Hasler Societies.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Gap M. F. church will hold a basket social on the evening of Friday, July 27th, at the church. The committee in charge of the arrangements will see that patrons have a pleasant time.

Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb's Yellowstone Park Excursion.

The Yellowstone National Park is one of the most beautiful regions in the world, a region containing unnumbered mountains, great fountains of hot water, mud volcanoes, yawning chasms, delicately colored terraces, deep blue lakes, and the ordinary flora and fauna.

Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb announce two excursions to the region. Parties of limited number will leave Philadelphia, August 20, and Philadelphia, August 27, and return to Philadelphia on August 28 and 29, respectively.

The prohibitions of this place have organized a club with quite a large membership. They have a large national flag floating from their headquarters with the names of their candidates attached.

Visited by Burglars.

An early hour yesterday morning an attempt was made to enter two houses along the street. The thieves first tried the shutters of the house of W. B. Strine, at No. 315. The family heard their door being opened and fled to the basement by forcing the shutters.

Mrs. Doerr, of this city, 10-day started on a trip to the Chester county, where she will remain for a month or more.

A. J. Hundt and wife, who have been spending some time in Lancaster, will leave this evening for their home in Onalaska.
