George C. Keller went to Spring City.

Who Owns That Team ? At sundown Friday a team of bay bornes hitched to a double-seated carriage was captured by George Sandoe on the road near his home in Salisbury township. The reins were dragging under the horses' hoofs and the animals were nearly 62hoofs and the animals were nearly ex-hausted. In the bottom of the carriage lay a colored man, who was so drunk that he was unable to talk or do anything. Mr. Sandce stabled the horses, fed them and removed the foam which covered them. The colored man was carried into the stable, and buckets of water were thrown upon him, but he did not revive. Mr. Sandce is a bucker and attends the Cen-tral market. When he left for this city the colored man was still in a deathly stupor.

colored man was still in a deathly stupor. Both the team and the driver are given all "tention possible by the family of Mr. It is thought the team belongs in Lar-under lock and key until the owner at ives or the darkey recovers his senses and makes a satisfactory explanation. Mr. Sandoe says the team in a few minutes would have reached the crest of a steep hill. Had it rushed down the hill there might have been a serious accident.

For Using Fraudulent Drafts.

The Reading papers contain an account of attempted swindling by W. J. Pelper, young Philadelphian, by fraudulent drafts. Rev. Dr. J. Fry, of Reading, is a personal triend of Peiper's father, who resides in Philadelphis, and a few days ago the young man called upon Dr. Fry and saked big for sufficient money to buy a ticket to Lan caster. The ticket was furnished by Dr. Fry's son, Rev. C. L. Fry, of Lan-caster. Several days later Pelper sgain called upon Dr. Fry and pre *gain 426 Walnut street, Philadelphia, for $5, and requested the reverend gentleman to cash it, telling him to retain the price of the ticket to Lancaster, Dr. Fry, however, did not cash the paper. On Friday Pelper drew up another draft for $5, which he intended saking A. B. Hassier to cash, but was arrested before he had presented it. Pelper cisions he had written to his father several days ago for money and on Friday received $3 from his mother, but not until after he had drawn up the second draft. He was taken to jall.

A Yanne Republican's Smart Trick

Some of the tony young men who are members of the Young Republicans, were guilty of a contemptible trick last evening. A number of them were seated on the balcony of their club room when they discovered W Ham Richardson, who is bette known a "Toodler," standing on the pave ment below. One of them quickly procured a bucket of water, which they emplie upon Richardson, drenching him to the skin. This had the effect of making Rich ardson very angry and he threw several stones at the club room, but did no damage. Everybody who is acquainted with Rich ardson knows that he is inoffensive and seldom gets into trouble unless he is crazed with rum, or is plagued by boys. Last night he done nothing wrong, and he will probably prosecute them.

The Fine Was Pald.

One of Lancaster's business firms that send a large amount of fourth class mall matter through the malls has been tripped up. On every occasion the party who brought the matter was questioned as to the contents of the mall sent, and the reply was it contained some articles whi brought the postage to the low rates for that class of matter. The suspicions of the postoffice officials were aroused, a package was opened, and it was found to contain matter for which a higher rate of postage should have been paid. The department a Washington was notified, and the party offending was given the opportunity of paying a fine or standing a prosecution. The fine was paid.

State Officers at Insane Asylum.

Why He Vetoed the Bli WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 - The president to-day vetoed the House bill for the relief of P. A. Leatherbury. The bill provides hat Lostberbury be paid $601.27, an at BOUB paid by him to Lucy Roberts on two pen-tion checks which were afterwards found to be fraudulent and cancelled. The presi-dent states that the circumstances point so suspiciously towards the woman's husband suspiciously towards the woman's husband and Leatherbury as the concectors of the scheme to defraud that he is forced to veto
