Protected Huns.

Edward H. Ammidown, president of the American Protective Tariff League, has been trying hard to make his preaching and practice appear to work together. He has issued a circular, as president of the league, full of grand talk about the protection of American labor and yet he attempts to defend the employment of Hungarians in a woolen mill, of which he is president. No one would blame him much for the employment of cheap foreign labor in his business if he finds it as efficient as the American article, for the soulless laws of trade make a close attention to the cost and value of labor essential to success. The sad feature of the case of this high tariff giant is that the state of things in his own business reveals the shallow insincerity of his rhetoric about the tariff and American labor. He says that his Hungarians are faithful, sober, thrifty, intelligent and self-respecting, and are rapidly becoming American citizens and voters, and all of this would be very pleasant news if it were not backed by the thought that these foreigners are profiting by the high tariff protection which Mr. Ammidown, in his circular, finds so necessary " for the elevation of the standard of American wages."

The president of the Tariff League is president of a woolen mill, and with one breath he inveighs against a reasonable reduction of the tariff as perilous to American labor, while in the next he is heard to admit that in his own protected business foreigners are largely employed.

When Americans paying a high tax for the support of an industry, find that they are protecting imported labor, they will recognize the fitness of a change in this state of things, and approve reform of the tariff. When by such reform we have secured a foreign outlet for our merchandise, more foreign labor will remain at home to produce the wealth that must pay for what we sell, and America will be left to the Americans.

The Indians and Their Land. The Indians have closed the conference at the Standing Rock agency by simply rising up and walking off ; and the opening of the Sioux reservation must be indefinitely postponed. The serious features of the present situation may very soon appear, for the large number of whites who have been cagerly waiting the result of the confer- and the lower Mississippi valley have a ence in the hope that valuable lands might be thrown open for settlement will, doubtless,make their disappointment felt.

The Sioux reservation is an immense plece of country, about as large as the state of Indiana, and from the northwest corner of Dakota westward to Idaho is a broad belt of Indian land of still greater area reserved for the Crows, Blackfeet and other tribes. There has been a good deal of regotiating with these Indians in recent years, and they clearly understand that they cannot hold back the tide of civilization from their country. The failure of the present negotiations is due to a determination to preserve their tribal unity, which is threatened by the p'ans for granting lands in severalty. They could easily be brought to an agreement with regard to the cession of lands which they know they cannot hope to retain much longer, if they did not see back of this a measure for the complete obliteration of their national existence, and avowedly framed for the purpose of destroying their most deeply venerated institutions. It is no doubt true that the communal system under which the Indians hold land is in the way of their progress and civilization, but a cient systems, hallowed by traditions and revered from infancy, cannot be lightly swept away from any people, no matter how barbarous and weak; and flerce wars may yet be fought before the savage is forced to swallow his foolish pride in this wretched league of a few score of families, with its unwritten history of warpath and wandering stretching back through the darkest ages.

The Row in Paris. After their time-honored custom, the communists of Paris made a "demonstration" of the funeral of Eudes, the communist who died suddenly while addressing an assembly of strikers. Fifteen thousand persons marched with the funeral cortege in answer to a proclamation which closed with the following lines : "Let all the poverty-stricken proletarians, all the pariahs of society, all those who wish the true Republic of the people, join us in a supreme effort to end their misery."

Tae authorities showed unexpected firmness and discretion, and beyond a few wholesome wounds and bruises there was no violence. It would have been a very serious demonstration in any other city but for excitable Paris it was a very tame affair. It appears to be getting more certain every day that the Republic will survive the machinations of her enemies at home and abroad. President Carnot is working for the establishment of that pride and confidence in the form of government which must be at the base of a'l national greatness, and he reams to possess in a marked degree the qualities of patience and persistence so vitally ded in all statecraft, and most of all in the rule of the impetuous and impatient French. The " committee of revolution" have made the most of a dramatie incident, and no harm has come of it, but the labor troubles and strikes in different parts of the country, may prolong the feeling of unrest and help to swell the mobs of Paris. France has her industrial troubles like the rest of the world, but appears to be as well able to meet them as any monarchy.

A Sour Plum for Hovey.

So the Hoosier Republicans have settled upon Gen. Hovey for the Republican nominee for governor. They wanted the Porter bread, but finally compromised on the Hovey stone. Hovey is completing his first term in Congress. He was a Democrat in the days of Pierce and Buchanan, but seems not to have been well grounded in Democratic dectrines, for he went over to the enemy after the war.

Gen. Hovey's nomination is not a strong one. He made himself ridiculous in the House the other day by declaring that Cleveland was an enemy of pensions. The record was promptly adduced to show that Mr. Cleveland in three years and a half had signed 1,264 pension bills. against 1,524 signed by all his Republican predecessors. This disposed of Hovey very effectually, and he has not been heard of since until his present nomination for governor.

The indifference that is displayed by the party leaders towards Indiana, at this time, is a pretty fair indication of the hopelessness of the Republican cause in that state. In the hurrah for Blaine, his grandfather's grandson has been overlooked. Evidently the shrewd manipulators of the Republican campaign do not expect much from the Republican candidate. They are pinning their faith to Blaine, who has been tried by the people and found wanting.

THE civilization of the Indians may furnish the nation with a small assortment of expressive names. Miss Minnie Yellow Bear and Miss Mudester are active in the management of an Arapahoe school.

This city has a pavement on the King street side of its city hall that is not at all pleasant to walk upon. It is respectfully suggested to city fathers that the city should try to keep its own sidewalk in order.

SENATOR CULLON has been giving attention to the progress of Canada, and is very much alarmed at the growing power of the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk rail-ways and the power of the subsidized English steamship lines on the Pacific. He says that these great companies are diverting commerce from its regular channels, and have, in some cases, secured interests in American railways that enable them to prevent the building of lines that might compete with them. England, he thinks, is doing Hishe can to encourage the growth of the Dominion, and before many years Canada's five millions of people may be twenty-five. The senator talks about opposed interests that must result in the absorbtion of the Dominion by the states, or the reverse, but he does not say what he proposes to do about It.

THE Democratic policy is to enforce fru-gality in public expense, and abolish unbecomeny taxation .- Democratic playorm,

THE scheme for the transport of the colored people of the United States to the Congo region at a cost of $100 a head, is not worthy of serious consideration. It is simply and clearly impracticable. First, because they don't want to go; second, bedid; and, lastly, because if we wanted to make them, which we don't, we could not pay the cost or stand the operation. It would involve nothing less than the depopulation of vast areas in the South. The seven millions of colored people in this country can not be transported to Central Africa by any act of Congress and the well meaning philanthro pists who are considering the matter might as well amuse themselves by planning an exodus to the moon. Large districts in Virginis, the Carolinas, Alabama population over 60 per cent, colored, and it would take the nation generations to recover from the shock of their removal.

In his letter to the Philadelphia Press in 1883 Mr. Blaine said : "It is wiser to tax whisky than to tax farms and home When Blaine learns of Statesman Landis' argument he will hastily retract what he said five years ago.

IT seems that Lovi P. Morton is or has been a director of the Canadian Pacific rallway and S mater Cultom's alarm over the machications of this corporation and the peril threatened by the sudden development of a nation north of us should be soothed and smothered by the candidate for the vice presidency. There has been nothing more ludierous in Senate proceedings for many a day than the sudden collapse of the lion teasers when they heard the name of Levi P. Morton read out in Senate in the list of Canadian Pacific directors. Senator Callom no doutt hoped to drive along the opposition to the fisheries treaty by exciting hostile feelings towards Canada, but he has only succeeded in pointing the fact that Mr. Morton was until very lately a director of a railroad autsidized by Canada and encouraged by England, which is retarding the development of our own lines, and, if Cullom is right, threatensour national peace

PERSONAL. REV. GEORGE ARMSTRONG, of the Meth ndist Episcopal church, died Jesterday in Philadelphia, aged 69 years. E. G. DEWOLVE, editor-in-chief of the Findlay, O., Davy Republican, is dead. He was born in Pennsylvanis, in 1837, and had been a newsp-per man all his life. He was postmaster of Findley from 1876 to 1884 JAMES WHITCOME RILEY, the poet, has JAMES WHITCOME RILEY, the poet, has a curious instituty to form true conceptions of distances and directions. He dreads a journey more than a child does its first step alone, and never feels sure of reaching his destination unless accompanied by a friend. Even in Indianapoits, his home for so many years, he often becomes bewildered and lost. There is a story which describes him as viewing with alarm the prospect of being obliged to escort to her home a lady who happened to spend the evening with him at the home of mutual friends. Too gailant to give expression to friends. Too gallant to give expression to his fears, however, he undertook the mis-sion. After an hour or two his hostess of the evening, being summoned to the draw ing room, found there a very embarrassed Ruley. He explained that after taking the home, he had wandered at vain effort to find his own home, had at last found himself again at her gate and wanted a guide.

How to Keep a Borgaet Fresh, From Good Housekeeping. A queer way to keep a bouquet of flowers fresh, but a very striking and effective one, is thus described : In a versel of water place plate, and on this stand a bouquet of flowers, weighted at the bottom so as to stand upright. This being done, the bou-quet is covered with a beil glass, the rim of which ought to fit exactly the flat part of the plate; the beil glass should be entirely niled with water and without the least air bubble. Then raise all together, belt glass, plate and bouquet and place on a table, leaving on plate around the base of the belt glass, glass a little water to keep the ste giass a little water to keep the air from en-tering. The flowers in this situation will be preserved in all their freshness for several weeks, and their beauty is increased by a great number of bubbles of gas pro-duced by the respiration of the leaves and which attach then settes to the which attach the server to the plate and the water that it contains should be concealed by a light tool of most, in which are set some flowers. A bouquet thus arranged produces a charming effect, especially in the evening.

OR! THAT WATERMELON! A green watermelon rat on a fruit stand, staging " Mellow, I'm mellow, I'm mellow :"

And a small boy stood there with a cent in his Saying " Mellow, it's mellow, quite mellow " So he ate a big hunk cut right out of the heart, And he ate it all up to the hard outside part, and they carried him off in a rag dealer's cart Poor fellow, poor fellow, poor fellow. - Macon Telegraph,

In Chambersburg, an eight-year-old son of William Washington, was killed on Tuesday under peculiar circumstancer. The lad had been sent to drive cows away from a hay rick. He caught hold of the tail of one of the animals, but the hair became twisted around his arm, and the boy was dragged all over the field. He was found lying dead, with his skull fractured and his body badly mangled.

Los Canins were the most prominent feature of the Presidential Campaign of 1840. At the opening of the campaign, the opposition sneeringly proclaimed "Tippecance" Harrison a low fellow, "born in a log cabin." His friends at once made the Log Cabin the emblem of the most enthusiastic of campaigns. Warner's Log Cabin Bemedies and "Tippecance" stomach tonic are enthusiastically received by the American people to day, because they are the remedies of the common people—simple but effective.
