In the Amusing Comedietta of "Used Up," Sir Charles Coldstream, a blase man of fashion, is made to deprecate everything in which is made to deprecate everything in which everybody else is supposed to take an interest, with the languid remark that "there is really nothing in it. "He even extended this criticism to the crater of Vesuvius, down which he looked but saw "nothing in it." Such characters are scarcer on this side of the Atlantic than abroad, but they exist here notwithstanding. Such men need a "fillip to nature" to medicinally stimulate their jaded appetite, overcome their lassitude, and renew the zest of existence. They and others upon whom the world's enloyments are beginning prematurely to pail, will find Hostetter's Stomach Bitters a wholesome and speedy renewal of vigor and health. Appetite returns, dyspeptic and billious symptoms disappear, the nerves grow strong, and the hour of retirement is unfaught with apprehension of uneasy repose when this superlative tonic is employed. It remedies fever and ague, rheumatism and kidney troubles.

Is about thirty thousand, and we would say at least one-half are troubled with some affection of the Throat and Lung, as those complaints are, according to statistics, more numerous than others. We would advise all not to neglect the opportunity to call on their drugglet and get a bottle of Kemp's Balsam for t'e Throat and Lungs. Frice See and $1.00. Trial size free. Sold by all drugglets.
