Ailrged Case of Witchorsh -Mrs. Fairer to fediences of a Pow-Wower. Denib; of John Bibbus, Br.

COLUMBIA, August 14 -An' article appears in the Philadelphia Times this morn-ing relating to the death of Mrs. W. W. Paher, wife of the well known boiler maker of this place. The article states that it believed that her death and insanity were due to witchcraft practiced by an old woman of Octumbia, who is charged with having given her charms to drive demons in the Philadelphia Times this morn

one Patrer, father-in-law of the seased women, was seen this morning letter to the article, and he admits the att of the same. He stated that Mrs. strengthed been advised to see an old German Pairer had been advised to see an old German woman to have her children pow-wowed, as they were liver-grown. Mrs. Fairer west to see this woman for some time, and at last became impressed with the idea that he was suffering from witchoraft. She was naturally weak, and the visits to the woman, it is alleged, led to her insently. Pieces of paper containing German words were found in her possession. Mr. Fairer has pieced the matter in the hands of Wm. B. Given. see, to investigate. Mr. Fairer B. Given, eeq , to investigate. Mr. Fairer rutain any blue marks, as was stated in

That's a steep still. John McLaughlin and Will Oberlin atin the presence of a large crowd of people, among the number being eight members of the Lancaster club. McLaughlin rode a 50-inch expert Columbia, and Oberlin had his 48-inen Victor. McLaughlin made the stars with Operlin a short distance in the rear. Both made good time until about forty feet of the top when McLaughlin got in othe crowd and was compelled to dismount. Oberlin made the same mistake about 15 feet from his opponent and also diamounted. Another attempt will be made this evening. Forough Briefe.

In the early part of July "Col." E. H. Lows, a dudie't looking young fellow, prived in this city and began to solicit dvertisements for a business card which he had intended to get out Before coming to Languster he had been in Camden where he purchased some jewelry from W. R. nett, but went away forgetting to settle. On July 10 be was arrested here by Chief of Police Smeltz upon information received from Camden. The next day a representative of Rennett arrived in this city and Lowe effected a compromise by giving a 850 mo's for 30 days on the People's bank. Lowe left in the hands of a gentleman of this city, as security for the note, a pair of id dismond sieeve buttons, valued at $23. d a watch, which was worth probably $35 These would more than cover the value of the note. The note fell due to-day but was not paid, so the chief of police packed up the goods which Lowe left for security and sent them to the Camden jeweler.

the new gas works, while working with others,in placing a heavy cut stone, weighing perhaps a ton, on the coping of the large receiver of the gasometer, met with a very painful socident. One of the trestler on which the stone was being pushed into see broke under the heavy weight and he stone came down against Mr. Ochs leg, lecerating it badly from the knee to foot, and barely escaping crushing it Mr. Oche was taken to his home, No. 447 High street, where he received proper surattention. This is the first socident that has happened at the new gas works aines work commenced on them last April.

Last evening Harry Hirsh was driving on the Litt's pike, and just as he reached the railroad bridge, near McGovern's, an engine passed under. This frightened his horse and the animal ran off and turned ato Lime street. Before he was caught he had out himself terribly about the legs, presents a frightful appearance to day. The buggy was broken to pieces, but Hirsh

Last evening Officer Crawford was standing in Centre Square, where a young man came up to him, making metions with his bands as though he was deaf and dumb. The officer did not knew what to make of him and he called a party to his assistance.
The officer was sure that he was a mute and concluded to take him down to a family in the southeastern part of the city whose members are in the same condition, and have them talk to bim. The officer walked with him down Duke street, and when they reached Nor-beck's shop at Vine the young fellow turned around and said, "Say, how far are you going to take m', anyhow." The officer was astounded at the sudden recov ery of the man's speech, but he soon came to and told the fellow that he believed be would "run him in." The fellow was taken to the station house where he gave his name se Henry Deming, and his home as Her risburg. He said that the reason he soted in the way that he did to the officer was breause he was a little drunk, and was afraid of being arrested if he talked. The mayor discharged him. The next customer before the mayor was Agnes Smith, a young girl who is sillicted with epilepsy, has no home and applied for a permit to the county hospital. The mayor ont her to that institution. Harry and Peter O'Brien, brothers look

George Rowe Returns Haverstick & Son't Team and Suddenly Departs, George Rowe, the man who is so fond o driving around livery horses and not pay ing for them, has not yet been arrested Yesterday Rows and John Richardson, partner, drove the team of Haverstick & Son, which Rowe had bired on Sunday, up in front of the Cooper house. The men got out and went into the hotel. Some person who saw the team knew that it was Haverstick's, and that the owner of it was anxiously awaiting its return. Word was sent over to the stable, and David Haverstick came to the botel. He sent the team home and demanded payment for it from the two men. They looked at each other in a sherpish way, and finally Rowe ent down and wrote out a check for $5, which a bystander saw him put the name of C. W. Myers, proprieto of the Cooper hou e. Mr. Haverstick said he wanted money and Rowe then tore up the check. He did not know what to do, but fi ally left the hotel and went on a wild goose chare for money which he did not get. Haverstick entered suit against both men for false pretense at Alderman McConomy's. R'chardson was arrested by Constable Cline and he entered ball for a hearing. The constable had Rowe also, but he gave him the slip. He will likely be caught soon.

Besides being a beat of the first water, Rowe is a machinist. He comes from Columbis and during a short stay in this city has been employed at three or four differ ent places. He is a short man with a flery red mustache. He is decidedly "fresh in his manners and likes to talk loud and org, especially if he can get an audience. No one seems to know what he does with the teams that he bires and keeps away, Some people who know him well say that he is merely on a drunk and when he comes to his senses he will square things up. The liverymen think differently.

Married In Camden. Arthur F. Sutherland, a young printer of this city, surprised his friends yesterday Council will meet in regular session this by hieling himself to Camden, New Jersey. He was accompanied by Miss Obristic Tay-The P. R. The No. 90 Broadway, in the Jersey town. The young couple returned to Lancaster in the 7:50 train, and were met at the station by some friends. They were driven at once to the residence of the bride's parents, where a reception and good time was held-The groom is a graduate of the Examiner, where he worked for years, and to-day the printers are extending their to in congratulation.

Proposale for Steam Heating. The property committee of councils opened bids last evening for the steam heating apparatus for the remodeled city ball. The bidders were : E. S. Overdeer, $1,220 ; W. Constable Morton Suss. Constable Morton, of Mt. Joy, against whom suit has been brought for damages for selling property belonging to Mrs. Gantz, has entered a number of suits against Henry W. Gants, all growing out of the same transaction. He charges Gantz with assaulting and resisting him in the discharge of his duty and also with larceny as balles. The accused entered ball before stole Three Live Foxes. A proulier case has been returned to court by Justice Kennedy, of Intercourse. The defendant is Jacob Laury, of Bart township, and the prosecutor is Nathau Howe, of Earl township. The charges brought are felonious entry and tarceny, and the subject of the larceny is three live foxes, which the prosecutor alleges that Laury stole from his celiar in the early part of August. It is a question whether stealing foxes is larceny, and it will, no doubt, be raised in this case. Laury entered ball for trial. Red Gutter. One of the meanest and dirtiest gutters in this city is the one on Christian street, between East King and Grant streets The stones are loose and the filth is not carried off. The water runs along a wheel track and empties into East King street instead of the sewer. The injet was filled with mud, &t., nearly all summer and it was but recently cleaned, while the gutter Was allowed to remain as it is. Twenty policemen walk up this half square each day and they surely must notice its con-presidency and vice presidency, a statement of D. m wratte principles compiled from the writings of Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, Tilden and Cleveland, an account of St. Louis convention and much variable political information. The fact that so eminent a master of the pen as General Lew Wallace, the suther of "Ben Hur," is engaged upon a tife of General Harrison made the literary excellence of the rival work a matter of prime importance, but at the same time the practical uses of a campaten hand-book could not be forgotten. W. U. Hensel, esq., of this city, and formerly of the INTELLICENCER, samisted by Mr. Geo. F. Paraer, late of the New York Press and a frequent visitor to Lancaster, were well choosen for this task, and they have on short notice given to the public a work that is far above the average of campaign publications, presenting the

have on short notice given to the public a work that is far above the average of campaign publications, presenting the histories of two busy lives in a way that compels interest and sympathy. No one can read the story of Mr. Cieveland's life, as here told, without accepting the conviction that the man who now occupies the White House is distinguished by a sincere and manly devotion to duty and a tenderness of conscience that are the rarest of qualities. The letter to his brother which came to light in the campaign of 1884 gave the people a glimpse of the inside of his mind that was of great weight with many doubtful voters. The letter was written from the mayor's office at Buffalo on the night of his election as governor of New York, and displayed a keen sense of the responsibilities, of the office and devotion to high principle. It concludes: "Do you know that if mother were alive I should feel so much sa'er? I have always thought her prayers had muon to do with my success. I shall expect you to help me in that way." Now that we hear so much of the ancestors of Harrison there is additional interest in this description of President Cleveland's greaterest attant attant and the rest of the success of the rest of the ancestors of the response of the response of the property of the success of the response of the property of the success of the response of the property of the success of the response of the property of the success of the success

Harrison there is additional interest in this description of President Cleveland's great-great-grand's ther given by the most famous man of his time, the greatest of Americans, Benjamin Franklin;

"He is a gentleman easy and affable in his conversation, open and sincers in his friendship, and above any species of meanness and dissimulation."
