THE ADIRONDACKS.

A LANCASTER TOURIST'S DESCRIPTION OF THE SCENERY.

The Wonderful Panorama of Nature's Beauties... Among the Mountain Peaks and Valleys—A Masses For Hunters.

TAWAHUS HOUSE, KEENE VALLEY, N. Y., Aug. 20.—From the summit of the mountain... the view is a most beautiful and sublime.

"Whenever," says a beautiful writer, "there is a return of the heart from unsatisfying, selfish, or ignoble possibilities, to a taste for the pure and unalloyed charms of virtue and nature, there is a return to the 'valley of early youth'."

THE ADIRONDACKS. The Adirondacks, as known to the northeastern New York, is a region of magnificent, varied scenery, and rare health-restoring qualities that can be found in any other part of our country.
