FULTON OPERA HOUSE.

THE EXPENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS MAD BY THE NEW PROPRIETORS.

A Description of the Alterations In the Inte rior of the Building-New Scenery and new Chairs-A List of Some of the Shows to He Hero This Search.

The Fulton opera house has been most the rulion opera nouse has been most thoroughly altered, improved and beautified inside and out, and will be opened for the season on Saturday evening, under the management of Mr. W. M. R. Williamson.

The opera house is now owned by Mesara.

Prootor & Soulier. Mr. Prootor is the owner or leases of more than twenty opera houses and theatree and Mr. Soulier is inowner or leases of more than twenty opera houses and theatres, and Mr. Soulier is in-terested with him in Fulton opera house, and the Grand opera house and Academy of Music in Wilmington, Del.

During the summer Mr. Williamson has stantly engaged in making extenaive improvements in Fulton opera house The outside of the building and the wood work of the lobby have been handsomely painted by Mr. Hartman Moore. The floo of the lobby has been laid in marble tile by Howeli & Gruger and the walls have been most artistically papered and hand being of Japanese pattern and elegantly executed. A stained glass window between the lobby and the manager's room has very pretty effect.

The ticket office and manager's rooms have been removed from the south to the north side of the lobby ; the old iron guard nd the ticket box has been removed and the front of the ticket box has been on larged so that a chart of the seats sold and unsold is before the eyes of the purchaser of tickets. Tickets sold at this box are for the parquet and parquet circle only.

On the north side of the ticket office is another box for the sale of tickets to the gallery, and the entrance to the gallery is by a stairway on the north side of the operse. Exit from the gallery is made by this stairway and by another on the south stairways leading from the gallery to the lower lobby, but these will only be opened in case of emergency.

Back of the manager's office is a room called the "bill room," in which posters, hand bills, &c., are handled, and back of this is a tollet room with permanent wash stand and all other conveniences.

INTERIOR OF THE OPERA HOUSE. On entering the auditorium great changes have been removed, and replaced by folding opera chairs upholatered in leather. These are very light and comfortable, and fold up, so that persons wishing to pass seats that are occupied have no difficulty in which gentlemen can place their hate, and thus prevent them from being solled.

The parquet circle looks much se it did before the improvements, but before the season is over it too will be provided with opera chairs and additional alales. The walls of the auditorium have been newly papered and the sisles laid in handsome carpets by J. B. Martin & Co.

The old railing around the orchestra box has been torn away and the front of the stage cut down several inches, which gives a better view to persons occupying front seats. The musicians (Burger's orchestra) will appear in full uniform. A number of new electric lights, with shades, bave been put in to light the orchestra.

The drop curtain has been repainted and supplied with new drapery, and all the scenery on the stage is entirely new. There are twenty-five setts, and of these there is one combination piece that can be utilized into sixteen or more straight pieces. Some of these scenes are much finer than any ever seen in Lancaster, and equal to any seen anywhere. Mr. Charles Hulest, the paint many other pieces of new scenery.

The electric light of the opera house has been iccreased about 25 per cent and is now estimated to be 3,400 candle power. The electric apparatus for producing stage effects is very complete. The lights in files, the footiights and in all other parts of the hall cannot only be turned on and off a: will, but they can be turned up or down gradually, the same as gas lights, and each me is independent of the others, so that any number of lights desired may be had

The footlights consist of 25 white, 25 red and 25 green lights. The electric lighting was all put in under the management of D. B. Shaw, of the Edison Electric works, this

An electric bell connects the stage with Sprenger's saloon. It rings one minute before the curtain rises and thus gives gentiemen who have to go out to "see a man' an opportunity to get back to their scats in

The opera house is in telephone connec tion with all parts of the city. PLAYS AND PLAYERS BOOKED

ceition of stage carpenter and he will also handle the electric appara'us. There are patent fire extingulators al over the stage, and as there is not any gas in the building a fire is next to an impos sibility. Mr. Williamson says the heating apparatus is one of the very best he ever

The old ticket office, on the south side of the main entrance, has been converted into a very pretty cigar store, of which Mr. Ell N. Stoner is proprietor. He thoroughly understands his business and has in stock everything pertaining to a first-class store. After showing the gentlemen of the press everything that was to be seen, Mr. Willismson conducted them and many others to the stage, where a generous set-out was provided for them.

Colored People in Court.
