The elaborately carved shell combs, which enjoyed a revival a couple of years ago, have given place to shell pins with comb tops, equally large and even more intricately out, in test, flower and geometrical designs. Some of these are shell pins pure and smple, others are gold rimmed, banded and ornsmented until they make very costly bits of silver.

In the bandanna patterned India silks the drapery and waist are made of the handerchief-figured goods, the vest, panel, or whatever part of the underskirt that is displayed, being of a contrasting plain color of surah. For example, a costume in which the bandanna is of dark red, with orange border and figures, has a long platted panel of very dark blue surah, and the loose vest is of the same.
