

JUDGE THURMAN ILL.

BUT HE APPEARS BEFORE AN AUDIENCE OF FIFTEEN THOUSAND.

An Attack of Cholera Morbus Weakens and Prevents Him Making a Speech—Governors Hill and Green and Others Address the Enthusiastic Crowd.

Madison Square Garden, New York, was filled Thursday night with enthusiastic Democrats. Upon the platform were Mayor Hewitt, Sheriff Grant, General J. C. Black, Congressman General Spaulding and Bourke O'Grady. At 8 o'clock Calvin S. Brien, chairman of the national campaign committee, tapped for order and nominated Maxwell P. Flower for chairman of the evening.

Mr. Flower, upon assuming the chair, made a brief speech. He had hardly launched into his speech before the "Old Roman" was seen coming into the hall, and the cheering and shouting which greeted him was renewed when a bouquet of roses was placed on the platform rail. Judge Thurman stepped to the front and bowed while the cheering was continued. Quiet was restored with the utmost difficulty, when the list of vice presidents and secretaries was read.

The following resolutions, which were adopted, were then offered by August Belmont: "The Democrats of the city of New York in mass meeting assembled, greet the Hon. Allen G. Thurman, Democratic nominee for vice president, with hearty welcome and applause, and his presence in the metropolis of the Union as the harbinger of victory; and, renewing their pledges of loyal devotion to the Republican platform, they especially declare their approval of the recent message of the president as a vindication of the honor and manhood of the nation and of the people."

Chairman Flower then advanced to the front of the platform, leading the honored list of the speakers. Judge Thurman followed, and in a few minutes he was seated at the speaker's desk and stood for five minutes with his eyes closed, his head in his hands. Then he began to speak. His Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen: It has been said by the Republican papers, and was not only said, but was done, that Allen G. Thurman is an old, frail, decrepit and broken down man. I do not know what I should reply to this, although I will tell you that I have no objection to-night to speak to an immense audience such as this. However, I want to speak, and in spite of illness I am almost unable to stand. I have, however, attempted to do so as long as I had overestimated his strength, a slight faintness overgrooming him and compelling him to desist.

In opening his speech Governor Hill referred to Judge Thurman's sudden illness, and said that it was not a surprise to come upon him but an hour before. The governor said he took great pleasure in announcing that the illness was not serious, and that the recovery would be complete. The speaker then introduced Governor Green, who spoke of the magnitude of the occasion, and the grandeur of the Empire State in a fitting testimonial to your distinguished guest. He said that it was more worthy of this grand reception than the illustrious giant who has stood in the Senate of the United States as the defender of the Constitution, and who, like you, any other man the Democracy of the country look upon as the exponent of its principles, the greatest Roman of them all, the noblest of our countrymen, Allen G. Thurman. [Cheers.] No more splendid endorsement of an administration was ever given than that given to Mr. Lincoln when he stepped from the State and territory of the broad land, from the North and South, East and West, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, in public view, and in the presence of the people throughout the country for a second time placed the standard of the Democracy in the hands of Grover Cleveland. [Cheers.]

THE DEBATE ON RETALIATION.

A SIMPLE AND ACCURATE STATEMENT OF THE CANADIAN TROUBLE.

Mr. Belmont's Telling Speech in Congress Shows an Unmistakable Arrangement of the Senate and Defense of the Executive—The President's Patriotic Course.

In the House of Representatives on Wednesday Mr. Belmont, of New York, chairman of the committee on foreign affairs, made a speech in reply to attacks upon the president's retaliation message. His treatment of the matter is so clear and his argument so forcible, just and patriotic that it is here published in full, as a perfect answer to all who question the statesmanship of the administration.

Mr. Belmont noted that the gentlemen who had criticized the course of the president had all declared that they would vote for the legislation he had asked and, deprecating the steps in question, the worthiness of his motives, continued as follows: "We are not Democrats and we are not Republicans when confronted with the unfriendly acts of a foreign power. In addressing the House upon the subject of retaliation, I have not in mind any party or any political party, but I have in mind the honor and manhood of the nation and of the people."

At the close of Governor Green's speech the band played the "Star Spangled Banner" and the "Star Spangled Banner" of Indiana, to Colonel Brien was read. He regretted his inability to be present and concluded: "I will pray God that I love him, and pray God to bless him." The other speakers were Senator Blackwell, of New York, and Senator Patrick A. Collins, of Massachusetts. There were three overflow meetings. One at Cleveland and Hill were numbered, and ended long after the meeting had adjourned.

Judge Thurman Recovered. NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Judge Thurman slept well during the night, not waking till 10 o'clock this morning. Dr. Goldthwait, his physician, visited him at an early hour, and advised that his patient was doing well and would soon be all right. Judge Thurman will be up this afternoon and expects then to be able to receive callers.

It is still doubtful whether he will be able to attend the proposed meeting at Newark. Judge Thurman will leave the Fifth avenue hotel to-morrow evening and go to Jersey City, where Col. Brien's private car will await him. The car will be coupled to a Pennsylvania train and taken to Newark at 7 o'clock. Judge Thurman will speak at the Bellevue avenue rink at 8 o'clock. After the meeting his car will be attached to the night train for Newark, and his homeward journey will begin. The Judge wishes to address New York Democrats before leaving, but he has been prevailed upon to husband his strength. He regrets very much his inability to speak.

A POLITICAL SENSATION IN MAINE. The Largest Paper Manufacturers in the World Oppose a Bill to Amend the Tariff. A special to the Boston Post from Portland, Me., says that a political sensation was caused there yesterday by the posting, at Cumberland Mills, of a card by S. D. Warren & Co., the largest paper manufacturers in the world, pronouncing as untrue recent statements made by Mr. Blaine. The card says: "Employees of the Cumberland Mills—As you know, politics were never mixed in the relations of Mr. Warren, sr., to the men at his mills, and we need hardly say that the same policy will be observed in the future, and that a political question or party interest will not be allowed to interfere with the relations of the owners toward their employees. We see no reason, however, why we should not state to you our opinion on a public matter relating directly to the business, while silence may seem acquiescence in statements put forward in the name of the manufacturers with which we do not agree."

A BANNER BURNED. The Sixth Ward Republicans Place it at the Head of the Column. The Sixth Ward Republicans Thursday evening raised a large red banner in front of the Farmers' Northern market, and invited the Young Republicans, the Eighth ward club and the Colored Seventh ward club to assist at the ceremonies.

THE CITY'S NIGHT SCHOOLS.

THEY WILL BE OPENED FOR THE WINTER ON MONDAY, OCTOBER 1.

The Board Votes Down a Proposition to Have a Night School in the Manor Street Building—The Salaries of the Teachers for the Term Fixed at $20 a Month.

The September meeting of the Lancaster city school board was held on Thursday evening, in common council chamber, with the following members present: Messrs. Baker, Byrne, Boland, Brennan, Brocius, Brown, Rynd, Cochran, Darmsteter, Eberman, Kriesman, Evans, Griest, Hartman, Hagner, Levergood, Lohy, Lippold, Maxwell, McCormack, McCormick, McKillop, McKillips, Ochs, Potts, Raub, Shirk, Warfel, Wohlman, Wolf, and Dr. Wickersham, president.

The minutes of the August meeting were read and approved. Mr. McCormack, chairman of the superintending committee, to which committee was referred the petition of J. P. McCaskey, asking that provision may be made for teaching instrumental music in the high school, reported that Mr. McCaskey desired to withdraw the petition. By a unanimous vote the petition was allowed to be withdrawn.

Mr. McCormack also reported that all the schools of the city had been reopened on September 1, under satisfactory circumstances. All or nearly all the schools were well attended on opening day, and all the teachers were on hand, except one, who was sick. A few of the schools are not full, a few are not quite full enough, but he thought that in a day or two a way may be found to adjust the difference by a judicious transfer of pupils.

He felt disappointed on opening day that he did not meet more directors in the school room, but he stated that a number of the year. Transfers and promotions were being made in all the schools and teachers needed the advice of directors, as the superintendent could not leave his office on that day. He hoped the members will remember that there are other important matters to attend to besides being present at meetings.

Mr. Evans, of the finance committee, reported the bills for supplies furnished during the past month and the treasurer was directed to pay the same. Mr. Hartman, of the school property committee, reported that all necessary repairs had been made during the vacation. The committee also reported that Casper Weitzel had been appointed janitor of the high school, in place of C. Wendler, resigned. Erman Huber to take the place of Mr. Weitzel as the janitor of the school at Prince and Chestnut streets, and William A. Lewis janitor of the Ann Street building, in place of Mary F. Young. The appointments made by the committee were approved.

Mr. Byrne, of the text book committee, reported that all the supplies contracted for had been received, and that the total amount of the bills of the same was $1448 53. The committee also reported that the books for the coming year had been ordered. Mr. Ochs, of the night school committee, submitted the following report: "The night school committee, in its report, reported that all the supplies contracted for had been received, and that the total amount of the bills of the same was $1448 53. The committee also reported that the books for the coming year had been ordered."

As the time is approaching to open our night school, your committee me and recommend for approval the following: 1. That the first night school has never been a success your committee recommend that this school be abolished and a night school for boys and girls be opened in the same building as the present school, with a modification of scholars in the western part of the city; particularly of girls. We also recommend that Mr. F. Shibley, the teacher of the German school, to have charge of this school.

The opening of our night schools to be advertised in our daily papers. 2. As the first night school has never been a success your committee recommend that this school be abolished and a night school for boys and girls be opened in the same building as the present school, with a modification of scholars in the western part of the city; particularly of girls. We also recommend that Mr. F. Shibley, the teacher of the German school, to have charge of this school.

As to the second recommendation Mr. McCormack said the night school are coming to be a failure. He said that the expense was higher than ever before. There were several reasons for the great cost. One was that there were at least one-third more pupils attending the night schools than are entitled to go there. The law of the state fixes it years as the least age at which pupils may attend night schools. He said that at least one-third of the pupils were under that age. He also said that means had been used to keep up a show of attendance by having day pupils attend these schools. The salaries paid these teachers the past few years were out of all proportion to those paid day teachers. There is no good reason why teacher of night schools should receive for one-third of the work one-half of the pay of a day teacher. He was not opposed to paying liberal salaries for good honest workers. He did not want to oppress teachers, but as a representative of the people, would oppose making the salary too high. He thought $1 per night a fair salary for two hours work and he moved that the salaries of night school teachers be fixed at $20 per month.

The motion was adopted with only a few dissenting votes. The board then elected night school teachers: Messrs. Levergood, Gates, Gable and Stany and Misses Shirk, Harkins and Buckius. A BREEZY DISCUSSION. Mr. Hegener moved that Mr. Gable be made principal of the boys' night school. Dr. Levergood said that Mr. Gable was not a candidate for the position, and the motion had been made to humiliate his brother. If he is not a proper person turn him out, but he would allow no man to humiliate him in his presence, and that would be the result if the motion was adopted.

Mr. Hegener said that Dr. Levergood had set it to him, and he would not do it. He would now say that at the meeting of the superintending and visiting committee it was said, without contradiction, that Mr. Levergood was not fit to teach.

THREE SENATORS AGAINST IT.

THE CHINESE EXCLUSION BILL PASSED BY THE SENATE.

Mr. Blair Moves to Reconsider the Measure and Offers an Amendment—Discussion is Resumed—Sherman and Ingalls Decline to Vote.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The Senate is at a standstill on the Chinese exclusion bill again to-day. At 1 o'clock this afternoon—the hour agreed upon yesterday evening to take a vote on the bill—Mr. Gorman moved to commit the bill and the president's message to the foreign relations committee. The vote on the motion resulted 17 yeas to 19 nays. There was no quorum present and a call of the roll was necessary.

A second vote on Mr. Gorman's motion resulted in its defeat—19 yeas, 30 nays. The bill was then passed—37 yeas, 53 nays. Messrs. Brown, Hoar and Wilson, of Iowa, voting in the negative. Senator Blair at once moved to reconsider the vote, and said that he wished to offer an amendment to the bill providing that the bill should not take effect until the expiration of 60 days, unless within that time the pending treaty should be rejected by China. If within that time the treaty was rejected the law should take effect immediately, if ratified by China, then the law of the date of ratification. On this proposition discussion of the bill was reopened, Senator Gorman taking the floor.

On the passage of the bill neither Mr. Sherman nor Mr. Ingalls voted. Secretary Whitney to Secretary. WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The first this morning says: "The early resignation of Secretary Whitney may be looked for. Indeed, there is an impression among high officials at the navy department that after his present vacation he will act as secretary to the department except to write his annual report. It is expected that he will see this annual report out. It is believed the department would see him no more as secretary. Before leaving the city he told a friend that he was heartily tired of office, not because the work was too laborious or because of his health, for his health is excellent and had been continuously so for some time."

"But to tell you the truth," said the secretary, "I have no political ambition. Public office is not profitable and it has no attractions for me. I have a great many private interests and investments in a good many enterprises which require looking after, and which owing to my public duties have had to be more or less neglected."

Dr. Davidson's Report. WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Yesterday afternoon Dr. Davidson, the physician in charge of the emergency hospital, soundly berated Dr. H. E. Deale, the resident physician of the Garfield hospital. Dr. Deale was preparing to go home, but Dr. Davidson was standing at the door of the hospital with a new idea in his mind waiting for him. Dr. Deale, who had been in the hospital in an appearance and started to enter the hospital when Dr. McKone seized him by the collar, and dragging him into the street, began beating him with the whip about the neck and shoulders. Dr. Deale is a good sized portly man, while McKone is just medium build. Deale was formerly Dr. Deale's assistant, and his recent criticism of McKone's treatment of hospital cases is said to have caused the trouble.

The Advice of the President's Secretary. WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The president went to the Senate this afternoon in message in answer to the resolution of Senator Sherman asking what information on the subject of the Chinese treaty had been received by the state department. The first is dated Pekin, September 6th, and says that it is believed that the treaty has been rejected, and that he has demanded positive information. The second is dated September 6th, and says "I regret to inform you for further consideration."

The New York Herald has the following dispatch from St. Paul: "The most disgraceful fight ever known in Minnesota politics ended Thursday night in the nomination of William H. Merriam, the St. Paul banker, as the Republican candidate for governor. The first round of the fight was fought during the convention to the placing of the last ballot of Yellow Medicine county in the lot to night. The Republican candidate, Mr. St. Paul, representing the Farmers' Alliance and law license men; Governor A. R. McCall, representing the powerful wheat ring of Minnesota; and Mr. J. H. Schaeffer, representing the lumber and iron interests, were the candidates. The platform committee, which was organized after midnight over the tariff and high license bills, and the minority report of the majority report. General Barrett for the minority read a set of resolutions favoring graded licenses and a sweeping reduction in the tariff on foreign goods. The Democrats are jubilant over the nomination of Mr. Merriam. The German element of the state will support him, the Farmers' Alliance will support him, and the union element will turn to Wilson. It is even reported that Mr. Schaeffer will come again to the state. Mr. J. H. Schaeffer is already in the field as a candidate, and with Schaeffer in the race the next governor of Minnesota is sure to be a Democrat."
