CONDUCTOR INJURED.

GRAULICH CAUGHT BETWEEN CARS AT FILBERT & SON'S SIDING.

Engine Given Way, the Cars Come Together and He is Squeezed—Frederick Greenawalt, Aged 82, a Native of Germany, Dies After a Year's Illness.

COLUMBIA, Sept. 11—A terrible accident happened this morning about 8:30 o'clock, at the coal yard of Samuel Filbert & Son, resulting in severe injuries to George Graulich, conductor on the shifting engine of the Reading & Columbia railroad. The engine was running two cars loaded with coal on the trestling of the coal yard and Graulich was between the cars to apply the brakes. As the cars were about the middle of the trestling the structure suddenly gave way with a terrible crash and the cars fell to the ground. One car fell lower than the other, making a space of about eight inches between the cars. Graulich was caught by the legs and held between the platforms. As the cars fell he jumped from the platform of the car, and was thereby saved from a terrible injury. The space between the cars was just enough to hold his legs securely without crushing them. The noise made by the fall brought large crowds of people to the place, and men were ready to rescue the unfortunate man. A portion of the trestling was sawed away, and considerable coal had to be shoveled before he could be removed. Dr. J. Hinkle was brought to the place and made an examination, finding no bones broken, although he was badly squeezed. After working about one and one-half hours Graulich was removed from the cars, placed on a stretcher and taken to his home at Eighth and Locust streets.

The funeral will be held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from German Lutheran church on Locust street.

THE OPERA HOUSE PACKED.

A Comedy Presented Here Often Draws Well. The Audience Pleased.

The attraction at Fulton opera house last evening was a new company of Edouin & Sanger in Charles H. Hoyt's musical comedy entitled "A Bunch of Keys." The piece had been seen in Lancaster before and by first class companies, but it has been some time since, and it has not lost any of its wonderful drawing powers. Decidedly the largest audience of the season was at the opera house last evening. There was a perfect jam and the building was so crowded that many persons were obliged to stand in the aisles or along the back walls during the entire performance. The gallery filled up so rapidly that no tickets were sold after eight o'clock.

The company is a strong one throughout. Every character is well taken, and during the whole of the evening the audience was kept laughing at the great quantity of fun that was distributed. There is not a weak person in the cast.

The principal female character is that of Teddy Keys which is taken by Miss Louise Sanford. This lady is no stranger to Lancaster. She has appeared here in vaudeville as well as dramatic companies for some years and is a bright, talented and popular actress. In the present company she has a character suitable to her in the wild and rollicking Teddy and she makes lots of fun; Ada Bothner, as Rose Keys, Mamie Conway as May Keys, and Bertie Conway as Dolly Dobbs, are all good. Of the male members of the company, the principal fun maker is James B. Mackie as Jonas Grimes, the brakeman, who is unexcelled, W. C. Crosbie, as Snaggs, the hotel keeper, and Charles Burke, as Gilly Spooner, a masher, are also capital.

Throughout the play plenty of new music, songs, dances, and other specialties are introduced and the audience has no time to tire of anything. The singing of the ladies is especially fine. The company appears again this evening.

Driving Accident.

This afternoon between one and two o'clock as John A. Huber, peanut dealer, accompanied by his two children was driving on West Orange street near Market, the off mind spindle of his business wagon broke off, the wagon was upset, and it was with a good deal of difficulty that the occupants of the wagon managed to crawl out. Mr. Huber held firmly to the lines, thus averting what might have been a serious accident. The horse was somewhat cut on the hind leg.

The Grape Hotel Sale.

Sheriff Burkholder resumed the sale of the furniture and fixtures of the Grape hotel this morning at 10 o'clock. The bar furniture, dining-room furniture and kitchen furniture were sold. Very little of it was bought in in the interest of Mr. Bishell, and it is probable the entire furniture will be disposed of this afternoon, and that the Bishells will retire from business. The boarders were cast adrift for dinner and supper, and it is a little uncertain what will become of them.

At 2 o'clock p. m. the sheriff resumed the sale. The lease of the house was bought by Maj. C. M. Howell as trustee of the real estate. The furniture was sold room at a time. Most of it did not bring more than from $5 to $9 per room, though some of the well-furnished rooms brought from $25 to $40.

To Drill This Evening.

The Eighth Ward Battalion will meet at Fritz's hotel this evening for drill.

John Forred, employed at Hickory Swamp, near Shamokin, was terribly injured by an explosion on Monday. He was engaged with others in driving a tunnel and had been sent to procure a stick of dualin from a box. As he bent over to get it it is supposed that a spark from his lamp caused the explosion.

Forred's right arm was blown off between the elbow and wrist. His right knee was torn open, his face horribly mutilated and his eyes blown out. He was otherwise injured about the body. He is dead.

Amusements.

May Wheeler in Zitka.—Harry Miner's company appears in Fulton opera house in Will Carleton's Russian play "Zitka" on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of this week. Miss May Wheeler has the leading role. Of her acting the Montreal Herald says: "In Zitka she has a character to interpret that eminently suits her, and her rendition throughout the six scenes of the action entitles her to fullest recognition as a great emotional actress, whose judgment is exquisite and keeps her always within the bounds of art, never betraying her into passing out on the waste of rant; her charms of face and form, prominent as they are, are secondary in estimation.
