

OLD MEN OF MARK.

THE LAST SURVIVORS OF COLUMBIA

A Group Who Remember the Columbia of Half a Century Ago—Their Busy Lives and the Changes They Have Witnessed.

Believing that the approach of the centennial of Columbia should awaken an interest in the generation that has almost passed away, the INTELLIGENCER offers to its patrons short sketches of old residents, members of the Society of Ancient Citizens, and men of note in the community. They are the last leaves upon the tree of a past era, and about them is the autumn glow of the memory of its great achievements.

Mr. Ziegler then thoughtfully describes that memorable meeting, when the gray-headed, young in spirit, assembled to organize the society and talked of the days when they were boys together, "when their birthplace was an unpretending village, beautiful in its surroundings; but much unlike the Columbia of the present, with its soaring aspirations and rising importance in trade. When simplicity was the rule, and state, and show, the exception among its people; when unwieldy wealth was a stranger, and pomp and grandeur unknown to its quiet life. Boys, when the simple sport of village life bore rule, and the more showy, but less innocent amusement of the present was unknown. Boys with many of those who now rest in silence upon the brow of the hill which skirts their town, or in some distant land. Gladdened by communion with the companions of their youth, they will be boys again. The joy, with which stern, relentless Time enchains the soul, will be melted away, and each in this hour of re-union, will forget the cares and travail of his checkered life."

Mr. Ziegler, though in his seventy-second year, is still an active business man with the vigorous heart and brain of a man of twenty-seven. He was born April 9th, 1817, on Front street, and aiding a ready memory with a facile pen, he has given to the Society of Ancient Citizens many valuable records of local history and tradition. He has been the agent of the Adams express company and of the Western Union for nearly fifty years, and for twenty-five years has represented the Penn Mutual Life Insurance company of Philadelphia. He recently celebrated his golden wedding and the insurance company sent a special representative bearing their congratulations. Mr. Ziegler's pen has frequently been used in the interests of the newspapers and its readers; and his contributions have been regarded among the best the editors receive.

Mr. Evans is well known, both as a politician and local historian. He was born in the stone house on Col. Duffy's farm, on the 20th of January, 1823, and in 1838 was apprenticed to Israel Cooper, builder, of Columbia. In 1853 he was elected justice of the peace, and in 1857 was elected clerk of the court of quarter sessions, and clerk and termor. In 1861 he was again elected justice, but when Sumner was fired on he joined Col. Fisher's company, and after serving with it for a year received an appointment on the staff of General Warren, being assigned to commissary duty. He was dragoon captain during the Wilderness campaign. He was elected justice of the peace in 1869, and re-elected in '72, '77 and '84. At present he wears a beard, though the above cut shows a clean shaven face. He is an accurate and painstaking historian, though writing with ease and flash, and his essays have often enriched the columns of the INTELLIGENCER.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

Whether originating in disease, or from handling chemical or vegetable poisons, is cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It purifies the blood, cleanses the system, and restores the vitality. After such diseases as small-pox, scarlet fever and diphtheria, Hood's Sarsaparilla is of great benefit in expelling the virus and restoring and strengthening the body. "I was poisoned by poison ivy, and let it go till the poisons got into my blood, where I was obliged to stir up work, and was confined to my house for two months. I had sores and sores on me."

FROM HEAD TO FOOT my finger nail's came off, and my hair and whiskers came out. I had two physicians, but did not seem to get much better. Then I saw Hood's Sarsaparilla advertised and bought a bottle. It helped me so much that I continued taking it till I had used three bottles, when I was cured. I can recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all who are afflicted with blood impurities. "I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, as a result I have vigorous health, and my hair has well throughout the year." W. STANLEY, 98 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.
