eaker Carliale has been talking freely of the aspect of political affairs, and gives very good reason for his perfect confidence in the success of the Demo-Cleveland is undoubtedly stronger per-socially than in 1884, and the party is very nch stronger as an organization. Busimen are now assured of the bilacy of the Republican cry that Democratic administration would be an be said without boasting that the on the admiration and confidence of of business regardless of political faith or tariff views. Speaker Carlinle gnized the probability that many ande scare, and while he talked this dan-

George is an effective speaker and popmisriy believed to be a sincere, though mistaken, reformer. It is quite in tune with the impractical nature of the man hat he should proclaim himself an absointe free trader, and enthusiastically support President Cleveland. He is gifted with brains and lacks balance and common sense, while the majority of his felow countrymen enjoying a fair supply of all three know how to discount his wild romarks.

senced by these groundless alarms, the emocrats will gain many who have the parage to think and act for themselves. There is a striking contrast between the attitudes of the parties-the Democrats aggressive and eager for the facts, are couraging joint tariff debates and fair scussion. The Democratic press and confidence that are the best

Mr. Clarke, president of the Thomas iron company, who has been accustomed of late years to fix their prices of pig iron in the Eastern market, being a very large producer, but who feared to undertake the job at the beginning of this year, and let prices arrange themselves without his truction, has now plucked up courage to prophesy that " if Cleveland is elected and the Mills bill passed, iron plants will lose fifty per cent of their value." That is a long sentence, but after such prediction one needs to take a long breath anyway. Mr. Clarke evidently is a strong Republican and a hide-bound his judgment ; or else he does not believe what he says ; which is more likely. If his iron plant is not worth fifty cents on the dollar in the future, it will be because it is badly located and badly built. Every tax on flax of $1,971,003. Considering the disgusting selfishness and lack of respect for law shown by the Barbours, the people will hardly object to reducing the tax collected for their benefit, espe-
