APPEALED IN VAIN.

THE DECISION IN THE JACOBS MURDEP CASE IS AFFIRMED.

Why the Supreme Court Will Not Intertere With the Lower Court's Verdict-The Pardon Board Now the Unit Hope For the Condemned Man,

The supreme court in Pittsburg to-day offirmed the decision of the lower court which refused a new trial to James H. convicted of murder in the first degree. There now remains but one hope between Jacobs and the gallows and that is in the board of pardons.

The INTELLIGENCES was the first of receive the news of the decision of the supreme court. A special telegram reached this office at 11:30 o'clock this morning, it was at once put on the bulletin board and soon the news spread to the four quarters of the city. The universal verdict of the people is that a righteous conclusion has been reached.

Following is a brief synopsis of the case

HISTORY OF THE MURDER. On the evening of the 11th day of Decem ber, 1886, Etmer Elisworth Quigley received injuries by being stabbed at the hands of James H. Jacobs which resulted in his death on the following morning. Jacobs became a fugitive from justice after he had inflicted the fatal wounds on the body of Quigley, but a few days afterwards surrendered himself to the authorities and was committed to the county jail. At the January seusions, 1887, a true bill charging James H. Jacobs with murder was found. The case was called for trial several timesand 1887, when he was put upon trial. After exhausting the regular and a special panel of jurors twelve jurors were secured who solemnly swore to try the case without fear, affection or favor, and the trial was pro-ceeded with. On the morning of the 10th of October the jury came into court at 11:30 o'clock and as the clock struck twelve the verdict of the jury was rendered. They ound the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree. The usual motion was made for a new trial and the reasons assigned were argued before Judges Livingston and

SENTENCED TO BE HANGED. On January 28th, 1888, the rule for a new trial was discharged and Judge Patterson pronounced this sentence: "That you, James H. Jacobs, be taken from this places from whence you came and from thence to the place of exection within the jail yard and that you be hanged by the neck until you are dead, and may God have mercy on

A writ of error was taken to the supreme court, and the principal exceptions argued in favor of a new trial were that the court erred in refusing to allow the following questions to be asked :

State what are the quality and characteristics of defendant's mind as to excitbility "?

Please state whether or not in your judgment such controlling influences were in the mind of the defendant that it was not conscious of its purposes, and on account of those influences was incapable of deliberating or premeditating, and if so, what were those controlling influences "? The opinion of the court was read read by Chief Justice Gordon, and he says : "The questions thus proposed by the defendant's counsel were properly rejected They only tend to show that Jacobs was excitable and prone to commit in moments of anger acts which his cooler judgmen would not approve. A rule which would pretext would utterly pervert and subvert the moral order of things. It may do well enough when applied to the brute world. but it will not do for the government of man, to whom God has given a reasonable soul, by which all his passions may be con-

ADJOURSED QUARTER SESSION J.

A Small List and Only a Few Important Cases For Disposition, An adjourned court of quarter session was opened at 10 o'cl ck this morning, with Judge Patterson presiding. There are on the list for trial 78 cases, of which the fol lowing are the most important: Annie Ktingter, concealing death of illegitimate child ; Charles E. Ochs, embezziement ; T. F. Bradenbaugh, involuntary man-alaughter ; H. M. Beamsderfer et. al., conspiracy. A verdict of not guilty was taken in the case of commonwealth vs. Charles Webb, larceny. The defendant is a small boy and the only testimony against him was his confession made under duress.

Ida Heller was put on trial for assault and battery and maticious mischief on the complaint of Alice Keener. These parties are neighbors, living in Bird-th-Hand. According to the commonwealth's wit nesses, on the 14th of August, Mrs. Keener hung out her wash in the alleyway between the houses of prosecutrix defendant. Mrs. Heller cut the wash line, the clothes fell to the ground, and, when for cutting the line, Mrs. Helier struck Mrs. Keener in the face, knocked her down and struck her several blows.

The defendant admitted that she cut the wash-line because Mrs. Keener had no right to put her wash in the alleyway, but she claimed that Mrs. Keener was the aggressor in the fight, and it was only after Mrs. Keener had attempted to strike witness with a dish pan that she defended herself. She denied having assaulted Mrs. Keener and claimed that the only blown she struck were in self-defense. Jury out. Adam Keener, upon whom the costs were imposed at the last term of court, was arrested on a process and taken before the court. On motion of his counsel, sentence was postponed until October 22d.

The property of John McManus, No. 419, South Queen street, offered at public sale on Saturday evening by Auctioneer Haines was withdrawn for want of bidders. The property will again be offered for sale on REPUBLICAN'S PARADE.

Fully 900 persons, nearly all of whom are engaged in the dry goods trade, and many of them leading merobants of New York city, were present at the first neonday meeting of the Cleveland and Thurman Wholesale Dry Goods club on Friday, at its headquarters, No 343 Broadway. Although the club has been organized but two weeks it has now a membership of over 5,000 business men, who are enthusiastic in their advocacy of the Democratic candidates and tariff reform.

At the Democratic ratification meeting in Cleveland, O, on Saturday night, Albert H. Weed, a lawyer, hitherto a prominent Republican and an effice holder, publicly announced his intention to vote for Cleveland and tariff reform. He made a strong speech in favor of revenue reduction to stimulate industries.

The Republicars opened their campaign in Philadelphia on Saturday night with a large mass metting at the Academy of Music and as rest demonstration that was witnessed by at least 100,000 persons, and about 20,000 men took part in the procession. At the academy meeting Senator Hawley, Congressman Dingley and Adjutant General D. H. Hastings made speeches.

In New Jersey the polls on election day will be open from 6 o'clock in the morning until 4:51 in the evening, under the "Sunset" election law passed by the legislature last winter. The Democratic leaders of that state say the mejority for Cleveland and Thurman will not be less than 8,000. Hon. J. G. Blaine made a speech at the Polo grounds in New York on Saturday night. Thirty thousand people helped him to do it. Ten thousand of them heard him, 10,000 more tried to hear him and couldn't, and the other 10,000 paraded about Harlem and poured into the grands hefore he was

Francis V. M. If this means aniline dyes, of course the jig is up with the aniline dye industry in this country. Alizarine colors have been put on the free list. The Republican clubs of this city and county had a parade in this city on Saturday evening, in accordance with an arcountry to turn out. For weeks past the workers of the party have been making preparations for the event, and they were filled with enthusiasm. The clubs that periodpated in the parade included those of the Second, Third, Fourth, Seventh, Eighth, and Ninth wards, the Keystone watch factory, Franklin and Marshall college, Columbia, Marietta, Mount Joy, Elizabethtown, Strasburg, Millersville and other places. Some of them were very jate setting into line, and them were very late getting into line, and it was after eight o'clock before the parade noved off Lime street. There were ex actly 1,630 people in the line, exclusive of bands of music. Among these were a great many boys. The parade passed over the route as published in the INTELLIGENCER on Saturday evening. The line was not well kept together, and at intervals during the march there were gaps of a square or more. Along the route there were quite a number of illuminations and some fireworks, but there was very little enthusiasm. The New Era office looked very pretty, and while the Examiner had no lanterns out they burned a great deal of red fire and displayed Josh Lyte. The Young Men's Democratic club had its rooms very prettily illuminated in honor of the event. The cotton mills owned by Farnum & Co. were lit up from top to bottom, and it is said it was the first time the gas was turned on for a political demon-"Cotton is free and the Mills blil proposes to remove the duty from dyes," said a well known citisen on Saturday night; "I do not believe the company wants to pay more than it now does for raw material. I presume the same amount of gas will be used at the mills when the Democrate have their parade. It was a noticeable fact that all the men who are candidates for county offices or

QUARRYVILLE, Oct. 1 .- The crowd of Re publicans that left Lancaster on the specia train for Quarryville and intermediate points after the parade Saturday evening was the most disorderly that ever wen down over that road, and that is saying a good deal. At least three-fourths of the number were drunk, and the sober were kept busy dodging the fists of the pugulistic oner, who as soon as they board ed the train, proceeded to give an illustra tion of whicky's beauty at 10 cents a glass and had it been 3 cents, as their platform proposed, the train would have been side

The fight began when the echo of the car cell in Lancaster had died away, and Conductor McCallister threateningly stop ped his train three times between Conestogs and Harnish's to eject the ruffians. The crew were powerless however, and until the train reached Quarryville there was one fight after nother. Sometimes the whole car was in low is carrying marks and scratches as the result. One of the leading charac ters was Ed. Resse, Providence's super visor, who poses as a politician When the train left New Providence he was put off and left to fight with a "gentle man" from Beggar Row. The respec people who accompanied the excursion were completely disgusted, and they earnestly hope Conductor McCallister wil report the offenders. The conductor was choked, struck and otherwise badly handled.

Even the children cry for tariff reform. Down at the Gap the Democrats have a lourishing c'ub, through which the tariff question has been pretty thoroughly ventilated by speeches and the distribution of documents. The school children have caught up the spirit of the national issue and the other day among the compositions written by the pupils of the Gap secondary chool was the following by A. Parke Kramer, the little ten year-old son of A. P. Kramer, in which he states his idea o the benefit of tariff revision :

The special services in the morning were the consecration of the newly elected bishops, Revs. H. T. Bachman, of Ohlo, and J. Mortimer Levering and Clement L. Reinke, of Littiz. The officiating bishops occupied the pulpits, wearing white surplices. Bishop Henry J. Van Vieck, of Ohlo, delivered the sermon, setting forth the work and obligation of the ministry in general and the duty and office of a bishop in particular. Bishop A. A. Reinke, of New York city, delivered the charge to the bishops elect, concluding with prayer, which was offered while the congregation knelt.

The act of consecration was performed by laying on of hands, the officiating bishop repeating, seconding to the ritual of the church: "We consecrate thes to be a bishop of the Church of United Brethren, and the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. The Lord biess thee and keep thee; the Lord make His face whine upon thee and be gracious unto thee; the Lord lift His countenance upon thee and give thee peace. In the name of Jesus, and give thee peace. the Lord lift His countenance upon thee and give thee peace. In the name of Jesus, Amen." Then the congregation kneit in silent prayer, at the close of which the choir sung the following doxology: "Glory be to the Shepherd and bisnop of our souls; the great shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant," etc. The congregation, still kneeling, joined in the amen, halleling, how the congregation of Professor J. from the New York Times. Mr. Blaine's speech at the Polo Grounds on Saturday night consisted mainly of a grotesque falsification of the history of the tariff and of the effects that have followed the various changes in duties. With a bold diregard of historical facts he claimed that there was a protective tariff until 1816, when in point of fact the protective features first appeared, and that it was then broken down with disastrous consequences, at al-most the precise time at which our manufactures were really established. So he went on, claiming that every increase caused "booming" prosperity and every reduction disaster, relying upon his imagination for facts and the credulity of his hearers for the effect of his statements. A more amazing exhibition of brazen pre-sumption upon the ignorance of the people was never seen or read about.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND SIGNS THE MRASURE TO KEEP JOHN OUT.

Bill Framed by Mr. Scott-Why Chinese Laborers Should Se Prevented from Entering the United States.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 .- The president to day signed the Chinese restriction bill. The following is the message sent Congress :

Congress:

To the Congress: I have this day approved House bill number eleven thousand three hundred and thrity-six, supplementary to an act entitled "An act to execute certain treaty stipulations relating to Chinese," approved the sixth day of May, eighteen hundred and eighty-two.

It seems to me that some suggestions and recommendations may properly accompany my approval of this bill.

Its object is to more effectually accomplish by legislation the exclusion from this country of Chinese laborers.

The experiment of blending the social habits and mutual race idiosyncrasies of the Chinese laboring classes with those of the great body of the United States has been proved by the experience of twenty years, and ever since the Burlingsme treaty been proved by the experience of twenty years, and ever since the Burlingame treaty of 1868, to be in every some unwise, impolitic and injurious to both nations. With the lapse of time the necessity for its abandonment has grown in force, until those having in charge the government of the respective countries have resolved to modify and sufficiently abrogate all those features of prior conventional arrangements which permitted the coming of Chinese laborers to the United States.

In modification of prior conventions the laborers to the United States.

In modification of prior conventions the treaty of November 17, 1880, was concluded, whereby in the first article thereof, it was agreed that the United States abound at will regulate, limit, or suspend the coming of Chinese laborers to the United States, but not absolutely prohibit it; and under this article an act of Congress, approved on May 6, 1882, (see vol. 22, p. 58, statutes at large), and amended July 5, 1884, vol. 23, p. 116, statutes at large), auspended for ten years the coming of Chinese laborers to the United States, and regulated the going and coming of such Chinese 1-borers as were at that time in the United States.

It was, however, seen made evident that the mercenary greed of the parties who the mercenary greed of the parties who were trading in the moor of this class of the Chinese population was proving too etrong for the just execution of the law, and that the virtual defeat of the object and intent of both law and treaty was being fraudulently accomplished by false pretense and perjury, contrary to the expressed will of both gov-

Such demonstration of the inoperative and inefficient condition of the treaty at diaw has produced deep-scated and increating discontent am mg the people of the United States, and especially with those resident an the Pacific coast. This has induced me to omit no effort to find an effectual remedy for the evils complained of and to answer the earnest popular demand for, the absolute exclusion of Chinese laborers having objects and purposes unlike our own, and wholly disconnected with American citizenship.

Aided by the presence in this country of able and intelligent diplomatic and consular officers of the Uninese government, and the representations made from time to time by our minister in China under the instructions of the department of state, the actual condition of public sentiment and the status of affairs in the United States has been fully made known to the government

The necessity for remedy has been fully appreciated by that government, and in August, 1886, our minister at Peking received from the Chinese foreign office a communication at nouncing that China, of her own accord, proposed to establish a system of strict and absolute prohibition of system of strict and absolute prohibition of her laborers, under heavy penalties, from coming to the United States, and like-wies to prohibit the return of the United States of any Chinese laborer who had at any time gone back to China "in order" (in the words of the communication) "that the Chinese laborers may gradually be reduced in number, and causes of danger ayerted and lives preserved."

This view of the Chinese government, so completely in harmony with that of the completely in harmony with that of the United States, was by my direction speedily formulated in a treaty drafted between t e two nations, embodying the propositions so presented by the Chicese foreign office. so presented by the Chinese foreign office.

The deliberations, frequent or it isoussions, and correspondence on the general questions that ensued have been fully communicated by me to the Senate at the present session, and as contained in Senate executive document O, parts 1 and 2, and in Senate executive document No. 272, may be preperly referred to as containing a com-plete history of the transaction. It is thus easy to learn how the joint desires and unequivocal mutual understand-ing of the two government, were brought into articulated form in the treaty, which, after a mutual exhibition of plenary powers from the restrictive governments, was signed and concluded by the plenipoten-tiaries of the United and China at this capi-

On the 13th day of last month I approved Senate bill number thirty three hundred and four, "to prohibit the coming of Chiand four, "to prohibit the coming of Chi-nese laborers to the United States." This bill was intended to supplement the treaty, and was approved in the confident antici-cipation of an early exchange of ratifications of the treaty and its amendments and the proclamation of the same.

LONDON'S MYSTERY. "Leather Apron" Ands Two More Victim

Sunday morning the whole city of Lon don was again startled by the news that two more murders had been added to the list of mysterious crimes that have recently een committed in Whitechapel. At an early hour it was known that another woman had been murdered, and a report was also current that there was still another victim. This report proved true.

The two victims, as in the former cases, were dissolute women of the poorer class. That the motive of the murderer was not That the motive of the murderer was not robbery is shown by the fact that no attempt was made to despoit the bodies. The first murder occurred in a narrow court off Badners street at an early in the morning, beneath the windows of a foreigners escalistic club. A concert was in progress and many members of the club were present, but no sound was heard from the victim.

The same process had been followed as in the other cases. The woman had been seized

The same process had been followed as in the other cases. The woman had been seized by the threat and her cries choked, and the murderer with one sweeping cut had severed her threat from ear to ear. A clubman on entering the court siumbled over the body, which was lying only two sards from the street. A stream of warm blood was flowing from the body into the gutter. The murderer had evidently been disturbed before he had time to murliste his victim.

The account murder was committed three-quarters of an hour later in Mitre Square, five minutes walk from the scene of the first crime. Policemen patrol the square every ten minutes. The body of the unfortunate woman had been disembowied, the throat cut and the nose severed. The beart and inugs had been thrown saide, and the entrails were twisted into the gaping wound around the neck.

The inclaions show a rough dexerity.

The work of dissection was evidently done with the utmost haste. Pending the report of the doctors it is not known whether or not a portion of the viscers was taken away.
The doctors, after a hasty examination of the body, said they thought it must have taken about five minutes to complete the work of the murderer, who then had plenty work of the murderer, who then had plenty of time to escape the patrol.

Mitre Square, the scene of the second murder, is a thoroughter. Many people pass through the square early on Sunitay morning on their way to prepare for market in the notorious Petitional Lane. The publicity of the place adds to the boldness of the oritorious passes.

licity of the place adds to the boldness of the orime.

The police, who have been severely criticized in connection with the White-chal murders, are parslyzed by these latest crimes. As room as the news was received at police headquarters a messenger was dispatched for Sir Charles Warren, chief commissioner of police, who was called out of bed and at once visited the scene of the murders. murders.

The inhabitants of Whitechapel are dis

The inhabitants of Whitechapel are dis-niayed. The vigilance committee which were formed after the first crimes were committed had relaxed their efforts to capture the murderers. At several meet-ings held in Whitechapel Sunday night it was resolved to resume the work of pa-trolling the street; in the district in which the murders had occurred. the murders had occurred.

Dr. Blackwell, who was called to view

Dr. Blackwell, who was called to view the remains of one of the victims, gave it as his opinion that the same man, evidently a maniac, had committed both murders. The Badners street victim had evidently been dragged back by a handkerchief worn around the threat.

The inquest will be held at 11 o'clock on Monday morning. Four doctors will be on the lary. The inquest on the Mitre Square victim will possibly be held on Tuesday.

REWARDS FOR THE BUTCHER.

LONDON, Oct. 1.- The police as yet have clue concerning the Whitechapel murder. Various arrests have been made on suspicton, but there is no hope of any of those intained being the man that is wanted. The managers of the Financial News have sion of the murderer, and it is said that a fund for the same purpose will be raised by the members of the stock exchange.

The lord mayor of London has offered £500 reward for the arrest of the White chapel murderer. Drs. Forbes Winslow and Sir Risdon Bennett and other medical experts express themselves as more than ever convinced that the perpetrator of the crimes is a homicidal junatic.
