The Pennsylvania Experts. The Republican feeling, that their cause is desperate, was fully demonstrated when Quay and his school of Pennsylvania election experts were given absolute charge of the Republican canvass. They descended upon New York, and sit there not only in their headquarters, but in the chief seat of their peculiar labors. The maps of the election districts of the city around the chair-man as he sits at his desk; and the work to be done in them is said to be the chief object of his attention. The men who work the machine in Pennsylvania are all transferred to New York and this state is left gloriously alone with only the auburn-haired Cooper in undisputed command for this, his last term of office. Senator Delamater, who takes Cooper's place on January first, is actively assisting Mr. Quay in New York; and there is hardly an efficient Pennsylvania Republican whom he has not taken over to his assistance upon what has been chosen as the field of conflict. And not only has Pennsylvania been bared of men for New York's sake, but her money has gone as well. The idea is that the Democratic vote must be thinned where it is thickest. Some Republicans think that the Democrats make the vote in New York city what they please. Senator Hoar has just expressed this opinion to a reporter. Senator Hoar's opinions are not particularly sound, but doubtless he thinks along with his party. It is very tempting to the Republicans to think that the Democratic majority in New York is fraudulent. It is doubtful whether Chairman Quay has such an opinion; and it does not make any difference to him whether or no it is so. He considers himself a master in the science of election frauds, and believes that the best place to practice them with good results is where there is a great big vote to operate on. A ten per cent. slice off the Democratic majority in New York city may suffice to make the state Republican; and here is therefore a hopeful place for the exercise of the talents of Quay and his gang of Pennsylvania's experts.

With Flying Colors. The president sails out of the Chinese embarrassment with flying colors. He approves the bill for the exclusion of Chinese laborers and satisfies both the sensible and senseless elements in the country; both those who demanded that the Chinaman should go at once, regardless of the action of China upon the treaty, and those who knew that it was right to await such action. As China has now refused its assent to the treaty in its present shape and has asked for amendments to it which we cannot grant, the president's duty clearly was to approve the bill that demands the exclusion of Chinese laboring element, and to support of a sound opinion. The only injustice in it is the application to Chinamen who have the right to reside here and who have no other home with the intention of Undeag. There should have been a provision for the return of the Chinese to all who have started on their return before this date; and this privilege might well be extended to all who arrive in the country during the current year. There is not likely to be enough of them to make such an act of fairness costly to the country.

Trustee Infant Industries. The American Screw company, of Providence, R. I., has built a large factory in Hamilton, Ontario, because of the low tariff on iron, and there is a saw factory owned by an American company near the same place. Another American firm has built a factory there for manufacturing lanterns, pressed and stamped ware. The Meriden Britannia company has established a factory in that city to escape the American tariff on nickel, which is free in Canada. These facts are from consular reports just issued.

As a matter of fact the Canadian duty on iron is very much higher than our own, but rods under half an inch in diameter are admitted free, as also is steel for saws and sheet tin. Here is a curious case of manufacturers protected by the tariff going over the border in order that they may escape paying for the protection of other manufacturers. Manufacturers of nickel and tin entering the United States now pay a duty of 45 per cent. and saws 40 per cent., while hollow ware, the chief product of the Meriden Britannia company, pays a duty of 3 cents a pound or 47.36 per cent.

The Canadian protection of hollow ware is 25 per cent., yet this factory is evidently drawn over the border by it and by free metal. Screws and saws are protected there by a 35 per cent. duty and it is not surprising that American manufacturers are induced to gain the Canadian market by establishing factories on that side of the line. It seems a little queer, however, that great industries built up by our tariff should grow strong enough to get outside of the fence and fight for themselves, while we have to continue to protect their home establishments. The Mills bill frees tin plate and reduces the duty on nickel from fifteen to ten cents a pound, while hollow ware is reduced to 40.47 per cent., saws to 30 per cent. and manufactures of nickel to 40 per cent.

Senator Hale is generally in a state of assumed surprise and disgust at everything that is done by the administration that is in when he is out. He has been roaming over the country investigating postoffices and such things; and lately undertook to say what horrible things he had discovered, but he failed to evince a desire to print the evidence before the election. Senator Hale is not the man to be astonished at the action of General Benet; because the Republican party in its long lease of power has filled all the departments with its party men, and it is hard on the concern to get only half. The only mistake that General Benet made in his order was in suggesting the inalienable right of the Republican party to an equal division of the federal offices with the Democratic party. As a matter of strict justice it should be wholly cast out for 20 years until it has been in the wilderness as long as the Democratic party wandered there; and it is only through the extreme generosity of a Democratic administration that it can be admitted now to an equal share in the flesh pots, and an even share is not at any rate its fair share, since it is in a great numerical minority in the country. Senator Hale ought to be thankful for what General Benet offered his party; and he would be if he was not naturally so stupid. If he had not married Zueh Chandler's daughter and obtained his fortune he would now be up in Maine selling codfish in a corner grocery.

The government of New South Wales having offered a reward of $100,000 for the best means of ridding the country of rabbits, a man now claims the money for the suggestion that South American skunks would, if introduced, destroy the rabbits. He has no plan for the subsequent destruction of the skunks, and the cure appears worse than the malady.

BECAUSE doves were used in the temple worship of Israel there were seats in the sacred building for the men who sold them. He whose books are used in modern churches a Philadelphia inventor has patented a machine to rent them. It is an adaptation of the nickel automatic slot machine, and is to be placed in the church vestibule. The machines are of a design appropriate to church architecture, and there are two slots and two openings at the bottom, and by placing a nickel in one of the slots a small hymn book will drop down through the opening into a tray. A nickel dropped in the other slot will produce, by similar action, a prayer book.

THERE is an immense market ready for America in the states of Central and South America, and in nearly all our consular reports from these countries we find statements like those of General Hommer, of Guatemala. He says that American goods have a high reputation there and would command the market in spite of higher prices if they were only packed in a more careful and solid manner. This is particularly the case with canned goods, which are usually packed in shipment from America. There are certain lines of goods, especially in prints and drillings of American manufacture, that have grown into preference here; the natives will have no other. The same may be said of various other implements and certain kinds of cutlery goods. Base imitations, at low prices, from Germany are forced upon this market, of a great variety of articles of merchandise. Trade-marks and designations are imitated by ingenious alterations intended to convey a false impression that they are genuine American articles. And these imitations were seen to freely sell, but after a short time and trial it is discovered that their cheapness proves to be false economy, and experience of purchase is rarely repeated. A good article from the United States soon commands itself and commands the market, and there is no good reason why our people should not speedily reverse the present order of things and control the bulk of the trade of Guatemala if they will be more careful in their method of procedure by sending forth the best of its kind, properly packed and secured for the roughest handling in its transportation. This objection appears to be the real cause of our failure to control the market, and it is more probable that the more direct communication with Europe by steamship is the secret of it.

A CABLEGRAM to the New York Herald says that a great sensation has been caused in Belgium by rumors of the arrest of Oscar Faller in the New York Herald. Faller was a leader in the general strike of 1886, and was recently released from a hard labor sentence on condition that he left Belgian territory. The deputies representing Mons and Charleroi are going to request the Belgian ministry to demand the release of this man, but he comes to us direct from a Belgian jail, and has not been arrested but simply detained to await the decision of the secretary of the treasury as to whether he can be allowed to enter the country. It is the usual course and common practice for men released from foreign jails on conditions of this kind to come to America, and in trying to exclude this element we can hardly discriminate. Faller is probably an undesirable addition to our population at any rate, and Belgian workmen would have no cause for excitement if he were in our back, though we should be careful to maintain our reputation as the home of liberty and the refuge of the oppressed, and particularly of the political prisoners of monarchies.

MR. MILLS, author of the tariff reduction bill, was renominated for Congress, and much rejoicing in Waco, Texas, on Monday. PROFESSOR DEWEES says he had the latest European edition of the book published the day three months after his death. HISTORIAN BANCROFT enters the 88th year of his age on Wednesday. He graduated at Harvard when 17 years old, and received a degree at Gottingen when 20. GEN. WM. T. SHERMAN seems to have not the slightest fear of death, and talks of sometimes in an off-hand way that is extraordinary. Not long after Sheridan's funeral Sherman was speaking to a friend of the many prominent officers of the late war, who had died. "I shall have to hurry up," remarked Sherman, "and die soon, or there will be nobody but militia to bury me."

Shut Down by Order of the "Trusts." The Bay State sugar refinery at Boston, acting under orders from the sugar trusts headquarters in New York, closed down on Saturday night for good, thus throwing out of employment 300 men. This action of the trusts was a complete surprise to the men employed at the Bay State, as no direct intimation had been given as to what the men had received their wages on Saturday, when they were informed that their services were in the future to be dispensed with for good. It is said that a movement is now on foot in Boston to erect a sugar refinery to be run in opposition to the trust. The projectors of this scheme have so far concealed their identity, but are said to be men of ample capital, who, recognizing the immense profits made by both trust and private refiners since the inauguration of the trust, think they see in the future chances for big percentages on their investment.

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS, made miserable by such terrible orders from the sugar trusts for you. Sold by H. B. Cochrane, Druggist, No. 117 and 119 North Queen St., Lancaster, Pa. (7)

Wanamaker's. PHILADELPHIA, Tuesday, Oct. 2, 1888. To-morrow and Thursday the new Millinery things. Such a display of them as we've never had the match of.

A stinky Blanket has no place in our stock. Generous Blankets big enough for liberal beds. That the rule. Close enough and thick enough to let you smile at Jack Frost's child-likest breath. Blanket worth to the merchant is by the pound. The size and the thickness fix the weight and that settles the cost. When you compare two Blankets think of the weight. 6 pounds of pure wool in a Blanket 72x84 inches at $4 the pair. Light, springy, soft. We hear of nothing that comes near it.

The whole Blanket stock leans the same way. A satcen covered Comfortable, fast color red back, filled with clean white cotton, fancy stitching, $1.65. We've never beaten it.

Whether your pick be the $1.25 "Wanamaker" Brussels, or the $1 grade, or one for 90c (the lowest price ever made for a good Brussels Carpet), every cent you pay will go for genuine Carpet worth. We have met every want in Brussels Carpet so perfectly that no buyer need look twice.

Just as true of the Tapestries. The new 45c kind has the true Brussels look. 45c for a good Tapestry! An unheard-of happening.

The $1 Velvets are in Moquette styles of patterns. A few designs of Moquettes will be wound up at $1.25.

Full lines of all the new and choice styles in every grade.

The pick of the Shoe market always, and whether for little or much, a liberal money's worth in every case. Every now and again special lots come to us without regard to market price. An over-loaded manufacturer knows where to turn.
