LANCASTER, OCTOBER 11, 1888,

Binine and Trusts. With an effrontery that would be remarkable in any man less notorious for impudence Mr. Blaine has again ventured to talk about trusts. Of course he made no reference to his famous declaration that trusts are private affairs that no one has a right to interfere with, but he took pains to call attention to what General Harrison has said about them. As he finds his own views about trusts unpopular he would like to have the public attention diverted from them to the views of his man Harrison. It is plain that this method of running for president by proxy has its advantages to a tricky dodger. Mr. Blaine manages to be quite as untruthful in his references to events of ten months ago as he was in his tariff history. He began his address with the following remarkable slander of President Cleveland, He says that in his message of last December the president " warned the country of the dangers of trusts and argued that they were the offspring and result of the protective system established by the Republican party; at the same time, while assailing in the wide sweep of his accusation almost every industrial interest in the North, the president was particularly careful to be silent respecting the enormous tariff on sugar." Now as every one ought to know the president made no mention of special trusts, but manfully condemned them all. These were his words in the message to which Mr. Blaine refers, and we fail to note any of the particular care to be silent respecting the sugar trust.

" But it is notorious that this competition is too often strangled by combinations quite prevalent at this time, and frequently called trusts, which have for their object the regulation of the supply and price of commodities made and sold by members of the combination. The people can hardly hope for any consideration in the operation of these selfish schemer.'

The president in "his sweeping condemnation" included the trusts, sugar and all, and the Democratic House, acting on his suggestion, reduced the tariff on sugar 15.73 per cent. The manufacture of sugar from sorghum has just begun to succeed, and improved methods in the South promise great results, but the Republican Senate cared nothing for the protective principle; it was after votes, and did not expect any from the sugar states. For that reason the Senate was very bold about sugar. There was no fat in the shape of campaign contributions to be fried out of the sugar-growers and as they had to deal gently with the Northern manufacturers and their trusts, they tried to make it up by cutting sugar unmercifully and in direct defiance of the platform of their party which preferred free whisky to the sacrifice of any part of the protective system. Republicans should now apply the argument so often unreasonably used by them against the Mills bill, that a small tari tax means large imports and a large income. The Republicans have lowered sugar so as to take protection The day the Democrats have left it fair protection while legislating against the trust that has grown up under the Republican rule, and the direction of Claus Spreckles, the sugar king. The false statements of Mr. Blaine are so many that they can only be answered by a selection of samples, and this sugar argument is about his best specimen.

One fact he can not twist or disguise he is the avowed friend and champion of trusts-President Cleveland their most bitter enemy.

Working and Thinking Voters.

The New York Herald says : " The country belongs to business men and workingmen. It is the only country on the planet that can be divided up in that way." Even this division is quite imaginary, for the business man must be a working man, and the citizens who live in idlepess are too insignificant in numbers or influence to be worthy of consideration. It might be said with greater accuracy that the country is divided between the men who work with their hands and those who work with their heads, but in these days some little head work is required of every one, and this mental stimulus makes popular government a success, and assures the triumph of the logic and facts of the Democracy in this campaign. By many times refusing joint debate of the tariff issue, the Republicans have practically admitted that their position, if it can be found, is indefensable. But Republican debaters would be at a loss to find that position. It is only a few weeks since Statesman Landis tried to prove that any reduction of the tariff was inadvisable and now the Senate proposes to reduce it. The business men and the workingmen are thinking. Listen to the news from Newark, and hear them think.

New York and the West.

The registration returns of New York city show that the struggle for the mayoralty will probably help the Democratic national ticket more than it will hurt it, for the increase is much larger in Democratic than in Republican districts, and the Democratic leaders are taking care that the vote on national or state tickets shall not be affected by the vote for mayor. This will mean an overwhelming victory in New York city and the reports from the interior of the state show that the tariff scare is working no better there than in Connecticut. The New York Times publishes to-day reports from the West that add to the assurance given by this Eastern news, and the Newark triumph.

The appeal for financial aid which the national committee made a few weeks ago is meeting with a fair response, but the committee need a great deal more in order to properly conduct the campaign. Senator Quay is very much disturbed over the exposures of the doings of the Republican bosses. One of the merchants who attended the recent conference told a reporter of the Times yesterday that only one thing was omitted in its report-the fact that John Wanamaker had brought him with $200,000 to be used by Senator Quay in guarding the purity of the ballot-box after the Pennsylvanta manner as expounded by himself. This $200,000, the gentleman said, was the second and last installment of $400,000 which was raised by three committees in Philadelphia-one composed of Union League club men, one headed by Mayor Fitler, and one composed of members of busi-ness men's clubs. "I didn't know about this myself till to-day," continued he, and I sha'n't add to the pile now. Senator Quay must have enough. I don't take much stock myself in his election fraud scare. It is rather attenuated."

Senator Chandler, Jay A. Hubbell and Stephen W. Dorsey are in New York and from this select trio great things are expected, but hardly in the way of honest politics.

The Cable Car Strike.

Chicago is a great city. It is famous for anarchists, fires, riots, wheat deals, sudden wealth and poverty, gorgeous display, breathless energy, large failures, feet and pork factories. Also a few other things. This wonderful city is just at present trying to rivet the world's eye with a strike of novel variety, the cable car strike. The cable car system of Chicago has been one of her chief glories, and her people have been wont to claim that her cable cars ran faster and more steadily than any street cars on earth. The Philadelphia cable system was constantly and justly derided by the Chicago people for its slowness and uncertainity. It was constantly getting out of order to the annoyance of its patrons while the Chicago cables and cars ran smoothly and rapidly day after day and their patrons smiled. Chicago's system was a triumph of ingenuity. Rapid transit solved, the labor of horses dispensed with, but alas not the labor of Because of the omission slon of the inventive genius to devise a perfectly automatic system Chicago is in trouble. He might while he was about it, have invented an attachment whereby a passenger might stop a car and get on board by dropping a nickel in a slot. Then there would be no cable car men to strike. Because of this failure of the inventive public with news of riot, and every day the danger increases. Chicago, like New York, is cursed with a large population of low class foreigners, eager to take advantage of every opportunity for riot, and there may yet be need of troops to repress this growing trouble. Whether the strikers had just cause for complaint is not now the question, for they have alienated sympathy by a resort to violience and peace must be restored. Now if the inventor of the cable system had contrived to dispense with men as well as horses there would have been great hardship to the men displaced, as there always is when machinery first takes the place of manual labor, but the final result would be towards the confining of human labor to work requiring skill and bigh wages. The kind of labor that can easily combine for self-protection as the unskilled cable carmen cannot do.

genius Chicago is now furnishing the

THE Republicans are trying to counteract Harrison's unpopularity among Indians workingmen by employing Knights of plan will be met by Democratic knights.

As President Cleveland says, this is a campaign of information. Chairman Cochran evidently does not agree to make it so. He has called off the Republican orators who evince a disposition to debate the foremost issue-the tariff-because in the few debates with Democrats the result was not water on Harrison's mill.

'RAH for Newark! The rout of the Republicans there on Tuesday indicates they will take the same route on November traversed in 1884. Up Salt River they go

MR. BLAINE called for a trust controlled by Republicans with any political connection. His readers are respectfully referred to Foster's letter: "I was solicited to con-tribute to a protective tariff lesgue, and l replied that if the manufacturers of the United States in their associated capacity were an eleemosynary institution, that I would vote to give them a pension, but that I did not propose myself to contribute money to advance the interests of men who were getting practically the sole benefit, or at least the most directly important benefits of the tariff laws." And he adds, "If I had my way about it, I would put the manufacturers of Pennsylvania under the fire and fry all the fat out of them."

Here are a few of the trusts controlled by these Republicans with this financial political connection. The wool felt trust protected by a duty

In a hearing before a Pittsburg alderman on Tuesday of a complaint against the Pennsylvania company for causing a fatal accident in that city, the following extract from the orders of the company was offered in evidence. "Fourth-The whistie must not be sounded within the limits of the city of Allegheny, or on the tracks of the company in the city of Pittaburg, except in extreme cases, as a call for brakes, or to prevent damage to property or loss of life."

ANOTHER of the famous Fox sisters, whose doings as spiritualistic mediums have often attracted attention, have resolved on a complete exposure of the fraud of spiri nalism. Mrs. Katy Fox Jencken now admits that spiritualism is all humbug from beginning to end. "The biggest humbug of the century." And yet her sister and herself claim to be the founders of the modern system.

SAM SMALL, the famous evangelist, lec-tured in Pittsburg on Wednesday night. In the course of an interview he said he had traveled extensively through Wiscon-sin and Michigan, and he believed the Damocrats would carry both of these states. So far as he could learn a majority of the people there were in favor of tariff reform. Ex Mayor Cooper, of New York, has contributed a got desired the to the Demo-cratic national committee. Ex-Mayor Grace has sent $2,500 to the committee, and it was reported on Tuesday night that Mayor Hewitt had also contributed liberally, but he denied that he had sent a check, and said if he had it was nobody's business any more than it was what were his contributions to his church.

COL. JOSEPH M.
