A LONG FOR OCTOBER Here's a song for gay October, she's a lassie far from tober, lover of the woody vine, Wresched with foliage lair and fine Grapes of amethystine cluster, With a rare and burnished lustre, Fall within ter eager stasp. As a jewel might unclasp.
All the fruitage of the year
Meets its consummation he Apples, resy, russet, yellow, Come within this season mellow; Corn and wheat are stored away, Fafe against a later day. O the sunrise and the dew Othe noon's enchanted blue But the golden afternoon Softens into shadows soon. There's a mist upon the hills, There's a vapor on the rills, There's a whisper in the woods— (Solemn, sylvan solitudes!) Say they all with portent sober, "Say good-bye to aw et Oc ober" What she brings she takes away, Soon November will hold sway. Kneel upon the verdant sod, Pluck the nodding golden rod; Fill your arms will brilliant leaves, Praise the tints the frost-elf weaves. Then with saddened looks and sober, Bid farewell to bright October.
