The Daily Intelligencer.

LANCASTER, OCTOBER 22, 1888,

A High Tariff Man. Mr. John Wanamaker has contributed argely to the success of the Democracy ik. That gentleman also contributed argely in cash to the Republican cam-paign fund for sustaining a high tariff, and now some forty thousand silk weavare wondering what he means by taking down the tariff on sik ribbons ad throwing them out of work. By the Mills bill the ribbons were left untouched ad would have to pay the 50 per cent. uty which has been collected on them to date, though Mr. Wanamaker has suceseded by his suit in getting permission to import them as hat trimmings at a 20 per cent, duty. There is therefore a prospect that every silk ribbon mill in the atry will be obliged to close because a Republican Senate, which failed to pass the Mills bill, has not prevented a Republican candidate for presidential elector from breaking down the tariff protection of silk ribbons. Verily here is a specimen brick of devotion to American labor. It seems that a delegation of silk manufacturers rushed in wild panic last week to implore the mercy of our expiring Congress for their imperilled industry. but they were too late. Senator Ingal's was busy polishing the periods of his adjourning speech, and the other senators were wondering how they could prove that it was a good thing for the poor working people, to have tons of silver stored in the treasury vaults. As for the representatives and the president, they could only point to the Mills bill rejected by the Senate. So these manufacturers are full of wrath, and Mr. Wanamaker is cheerfully preparing to pile up shekels by the sale of imported ribbon, while he pays the campaign committee to whoop up high tariff on wool and raw materials.

The factories may not stop just yet, because they have orders or obligations that will keep them going, and there is every prospect that a Democratic Congress will undo the evil deeds of this high tariff elector, but Mr. Foster will hardly approach these manufacturers in search of any more "fat."

New York.

Conflicting stories from various " re-Hable " sources lead to widely different opinions as to the result in New York, but the vast army of floppers seem to be marching all one way, and the daily record has become so large that the papers have ceased to note any but the most influential. We publish to-day a cheering lot of political notes, and the best thing about them is that they were not hard to find the press is full of more of the same sort and chiefly from New York. The New York World prints three columns of opinions of Republican workingmen who will vote for Cleveland and Thurman and lower taxes, and all reports give firm ground for belief that no matter how fierce the municipal contest may be the Democratic national ticket will command an immense vote of the hard working and hard thinking men of New York City. From the state of New York accounts are cheering where the Democratic canal boat sails though, the Herald correspondent sends a warning that away off in the back anding money and working hard. Interest centres in New York, and the papers of the metropolis evidently believe that President Cleveland cannot remain in the White House unless New York city says so. Democrats a little farther away from that city are smiling quite calmly over the proceedings in the West, while the New Yorkers and many others long and pray for Mr. Hewitt to say something comforting. Meanwhile, Hewitt like the famous " tar baby " in Uncle Remus " ain't sayin' nuffia. " He has silenced the stories of his opposition to Cleveland by a personal contribution of 5,000 to the national Democratic campaign fund but that is not enough. Money may talk at times but just now two short words " I withdraw " would have more value to the party and country than any

The World Rolls On. The growing excitement of the political struggle is obscuring a great deal of interesting news from all parts of the world, and when the battle of ballots is over and the smoke has cleared away we may wake up to the fact that strange events have been in progress, and in spite of the election the world has been rolling on. In our own country there are great business convulsions, such as wheat deals and lead corners, failures of firms of great wealth and the usual weekly budget of robbery, murder and crime, while science, art and industry have been going on with their tireless labor, and religious synods have been debating gravely. A scientific event of great importance is just now beginning to materialize from the Pacific slope, and there are mysterious rumors concerning the wild excitement of the observers who have charge of the Lick telescope. They have it is said some wonderful secret about the moon which they refuse to divulge until they have made further observations with this greatest of telescopes. The papers of the West are already indulging wild rumors of the discovery of a man in the moon though it may be they have only found a cheese mine. Other great events that would find large space in the news columns but for political news are the destruction of spiritualism by the toes of the Fox sisters, ducing spirit rappings, and the rise of John L. Suliivan in literature as a sporting editor.

Emperor William has finished his sturesque prancing over Europe and the next sensation from abroad may be a quarrel between the young emperor and the old iron chancellor, while the foreign correspondent keeps up his eternal utterings of war, and Stanley remains lost in Africa.

The Authorities Must Act.

Three thousand dollars is the reward offered by the Luzerne county authorities for the apprehension of the assassins who parated near Wilkesbarre on Friday. The arder of Paymaster McClure and Hugh lanagan will not pass unavenged. A thousand dollars will induce the best steetives in the country to use every Meavor to ferret out the guilty. The Black and brown Seal Plushes, hard to tell from the clear, and it is probable that the hand REV. DR D. J. O'CONNELL, now president of the American college at Roue, has been appointed bishop of Richmond, to succeed the Right Rev. Dr. Keane, who reiminals, if they belong to the class of ling of the booty they secured will draw attention to them.

A foul murder was that committed within the shadow of this city three weeks ago, and feeble effort was made by local officers to find the cowardly murderer of a woman. Since their failure the county commissioners have been asked by the press to offer a reward for the author of the crime, but they seem to have decided not to open the treasury vaults to compensate criminal hunters for their trouble in capturing any game larger than a horse thief.

The Luzerne county treasury will not be depleted if several thousand dollars has to be taken from it to brink to justice the red-handed scoundrels.

The people of Lancaster county are not satisfied with the refusal of the county commissioners to offer a reward for Mrs. Dellinger's slayer.

NEXT Saturday President Cleveland will review the greatest parade ever made by business men. He will see tens of thousands pus his stand in Broadway, New York. The few business men of the metropolis who are not Democrate are in-deavoring to have Harrison view their demonstration, though Mr. Bisine has announced that he will be there. They are not so enthusiastic over the uncrowned king as they appeared to be when he came from Europe with his twenty six trunks and lordly notions about trusts.

CANDIDATE THURMAN closed his carrpaign in Indiana on Saturday. The last speech was made at Brazil and it was the best of the series. His audience, composed principally of workingmen, were addressed with plain words which must have carried conviction.

YELLOW JACK is working away in the South, but the horror is no longer new and we have cessed to think about it. Many things as terrible are going on constantly, and familiarity with danger breeds contempt and carelessness.

THE Mills bill is just as much the first step towards free trade as the striking of a match is the first step towards burning your own I ouse down.

In another column, under the head of political notes," will be found the opinlons of some business and professional men. What they say of the great issue in this campaign is the result of diligent investigation into a matter that vitally con; cerns their personal interests.

ANOTHER American military invention has been secured by a foreign power. The French government has bought from an American company the invention of Lieut. J. W. Grayson, late of the United States navy, by which dynamite shells may be from guns using ordinary powder. The French government made the offer of $500,000, and contracts were signed on Friday by which we have probably lost control of a device infinitely more valuable than the dynamite gun of Lieut. Zalinekt. In New York on Sunday night the first oint of the large toe of the right foot of Mrs. Margaret Fox Kane gave a staggering blow to spiritualism. Of all the events of the past year this performance of a toe joint would probably be selected as the most important, by a philosopher studying the intellectual development of man and looking for causes of vital importance, for in spite of derision and frequent discoveries of fraud spiritualism has wrecked many a brilliant mind; and one of the mysteries that has befiled all investigation was "spirit rapping," which Mrs. Kane has explained with her too joint. Mrs. Kane is the widow of the celebrated Arctic explorer, Dr. Kane, and a number of years ago made a great sensation by furnishing spirit wrappings to order. She was one of the famous Fox sisters, and together with another of them she determined to make a and announced to a large audience at the Academy of Music that the rappings were produced by certain muscles of the leg, developed when very young. She then proceeded as follows. A plain wooden stool having the properties of s sounding board, was placed in front of her. Removing her shoe she placed her right fact upon the table. The entire house became breathlessly still and was rewarded by a number of little short raps, those mysterious sounds which have for more than thirty years bewildered hundreds of thousands of people in this country and Europe. A committee of three physicians made an examination of her foot during the progress of the rappings, and unhesitatingly agreed that the sounds were made by the action of the REV. JOHN L. SCUDDER delivered an essay on dancing in Brooklyn that was in better temper than many discourses of the clergy on this aubject. He said children and somen danced naturally and when alone, but men really care very little for it. "Man is a rough, burly creature, who takes his delights in ruder sports. He takes more interest in a horse race than a quadrille. He would rather steer a boat through a strong sea than guide his part-ner over a polished floor, and he regards it as effeminate, and does it to please the ladies. This is the way most men feel about dancing." He found no fault with dancing, but with its abuse. Some, he said, "divide the community into two classes-one is walking toward heaven, the other is waitz ng into hell, but they are in the minority. In this age such heroic treatment will not work." The speaker thought that people should go home early, and not spend an entire night at a bait "I we hours for the purpose is enough. To many it is a dance of death, for they expose themselves to draughts in light ciothing. Then there is a proper way to dance. A man should not clasp a woman in his arms, simply guide her. Dancing to be pure should be confined to the home circle, and not public balls. Dancing of women with men they never saw before is bad business. Behind the diamond studded shirt front may be a moral leper. Some young fellows who belong to the eite might better be characterized as belonging to the 'heilite.' Dancing as an innecent amusement is not immoral, and the church could approve of it when rightly
