lowing opinion : In regard to the East End Street Railway company I saw Mr. Nauman, the solicitor of the company, and he stated that councils gave the company consent to lay down tracks, subject to the provisions and regu-lations of an ordinance "Regulating Passenger Railway Companies in the City of Lancaster," as introduced on October 6, 1886. By reference to the minutes of select council of October 6, 1886, I find that such were the conditions under which the con-ment of councils was given.

were the conditions under which the con-ment of councils was given. I would therefore say that the said com-pany is bound by all the provisions of that ordinance which were not changed or alarred on its passage through councils, even though said corporation has not filed in acceptance of the ordinance as provided for in the ordinance. By a comparison of the text of the ordinance with the originates surroduced I find that section 4, which resnetext of the ordinates which reg-nistes the fare and that part of section 1 which fixed the wagon tread of the rails at intros inches were not in the original copy, so that the company would not be bound

A large Arc light has been placed near by in order that everybody can plainly see to that the company would not be bound by these provisions. But that the company is subject to the re-maining provisions, whether it now scorpts the ordinance or not, no one will deny, not even the company. Upon request of Mr. Nauman to formally have the directors of the company scorpt the provisions of the ordinance, he stated they would comply with the ordinance as introduced, in other words the conditions annexed to the grant or consent of councils, but that the direc-ters dit not feel like being bound by new A. Boodie Is Not Taking the Prominent Part It Usually Does In This City.

It Usually Dees in This City. The election in this city is progressing quictly and a big vote is being polled. The workers of the respective parties were on hand early this morning, and when the clock struck seven there was long lines of voters at the polls anxious to deposit their ballots. By an agreement made between representatives of each party no money was to be expended in the purchase of votes. The Democrats kept their part of the bargain made, but from the actions of some of the Repub isan workers the suspicion is strong that they were using money quietly. There were no disturbances of any con-sequence at any of the polling places up to 3 o'clock.

The excitement over bets on the election The excitement over bets on the election was great all day yesterday and the Demo-crats had plenty of money with which to back Cleveland. Towards evening the people grew more and more excited and scon everybody was hot. The place where the betting was livellest was in the saloon of John A. Snyder, on North Queen street. Here a large crowd of men of both parties gathered and the Republicans, who were sore at having been obliged to take water gathered and the Republicans, who were sore at having been obliged to take water during the day, summoned courage and began bluffing. The Democrats met them with solid cash and covered every cent that was shown. In a short time about $2,000 was posted. This was in sums of from $15 to $500 and most of it was on the general re-suit. One bet of $100 was offered by the Democrats on California and it was taken. Democrats on California and it was taken. The betters grew simost wild and every time that the Republicans presented a bold front with money they were repulsed by the Democrats, who covered everything the former could show. The excitement contin-ued until 12 o'clock, when it became neces-sary to shut up the saloon, but the Demo-crats quit in the happlest kind of mood, as they had plenty of money left to wager for which they could find no takers. Such excitement has never been witnessed in Lancaster by sporting men and it will not soon he forgotten. It is very difficult for any one to tell how much money is up in this city on the election, but it is something tre-mendous.

A DARING PLOT.

The Presidency to be Robbed by Means Frandulent Tickets,

A New York special to the Philadelphia Times says: A daring deep-laid plot to steal a sufficient number of electoral votes to carry the election for the Republican s just been unearthed. The scheme party h whose execution has with great ingenuity been delayed until the very day before electors vote in every doubtful Damocratic state, and if successful would seat a Restate, and if successful would seat a Re-publican president in the White House in definition of the expressed will of the people. According to the time-honored but some-what round about method of electing a presi-dent by means of an electoral college, bai-lots are cast in each state for a number of electors whose names, by reason of the fact that they must not be holders of federal or state offices, are comparatively unknown to state offices, are comparatively unknown to the voters. It is the presumptive unfamili-arity with the names of the Democratic electors which gives this bold Republican mancenvre a possible chance of success. New York state, the prize for which both parties are contesting, has thirty-six elec-toral votes. In such a long list of names, it is alleged that the plotters calculate that one Republican name, can be slipped in, so reducing the Democratic electoral college in this state to 35. A systematic attack is therefore made on one man on the genuine licket, and voters in various parts of the state are sppealed to in behalf of substitute candidates of the Reablican faith and well known in the local publican faith and well known in the local-ity. The victim chosen in the New York state is George Bechtel, the well-known Staten Island brewer, whose name appears second on the Democratic electoral ticket. leands of volers received an envelope "Please paste this over the signature of George Bachtel." These envelopes con-tained pasters with the names of Repub-licans well-known in their districts and all men of considerable personal following in their respective walks of life. On Staten faland the name chosen as a substitute for latand the name chosen as a substitute for Mr. Bechtel's was Read Benedict, while in other parts of the state other names were

In other parts of the state other names were used, the request being made in each instance that they should be used in place of George Bechtel. If the scheme worked in anything like the degree hoped for by the Republican managers it would result in a loss of prob-ably several thousand votes to Mr. Bechtel, causing him to run behind one of the Ke usa electors, who would therefore be

The same scheme, with trifling modifica-The same scheme, with trining include-tion, is being worked in other doubtful and Democratic states. In Indiana, West Vir-rinis, New Jorsey, Connectiont, Michigan, Virginis, North Carolina, Nevada and Cali-fornia and several other states the attack is made on one Democratic elector.

Trials of a Freak Hunter.

Trists of a Freak Hunter. The enterprising manager of the Chicago Dime Museum lately read in a Southern piper that a young woman named Little-john had a beard five feet nine inches in length. He at once wrote to the editor to secure the freak for his museum, and received the following reply: "Your favor at hand in regard to Littlejohn woman with beard five feet nine inches long. This is a local joke which grew out of the woman marrying a man named Beard."

In Harrisburg there was the same ex-citement and Democrats put their money up freely. The Republicans based all of their hopes on what Quay had told them, which is the same case here; while the Democrats relied only on Cleveland's great strength. In New York last night the Democrats posted immense sums of money; one bet of $10,000 to $8,000 was made and odd ware should $00 to $8,000 was made and odds were about $100 to $80 on Cleveland.

A Wager Settled.

A wager settled. A peculiar wager was noticed in the IN-TELLIGENCER on Saturday. According to the contract made George Fox was to stand for one day in the hollow of a large willow tree on North Mulberry street if Cleveland was elected. In case of Harmon's election Miles Frankford was in do the super Some Mites Frankford was to do the same. Some Republicans who feared that their man would have to do the standing cut the tree down last night. That settled the wager.
