LANCASTER, NOVEMBER 7, 1888.

Not Yet Certale.

The returns received as we go to press 4 a. m., show gains for Harrison in the te of New York in some 900 election istricts outside of New York and Brookyn that if continued in the remaining disots will probably overcome the ten and gain of Cleveland in the great les. New York however is a great state and so close that no certainty can felt of the final result of the It seems to be necessary to arry New York to elect the Democratic national ticket. The situation is involved in like doubt to that which so long prevailed four years ago; and the present prospect that Harrison has been chosen may be reversed by later saturns as the supposed election of Blaine

The New York Herald seems to hold Governor Hill and Mayor Hewitt responsible for the loss of New York, and probably the local fight of the New York Democracy had much to do city Democracy had much to do with the loss suffered by the Democratic electoral ticket, as compared with the state ticket. It is not so easy to see that Gov. Hill's candidacy injured the electoral ticket. He has run ahead of the Republican gubernatorial candidate all over the state, probably on the temperance issue. It seems unjust to charge upon Gov-Hill, who has made so a run, any offence for so doing. There is no apparent reason for suspecting him of disloyalty to the Democratic national ticket. Our readers will await full returns from the whole country before conceding Harrison's election; and if it must finally be done, they will have the proud consciousness that our flag does not go down in dishonor but they will feel and know that they may always be proud of the strong and upright national administration which for four years their party has given to the country.

Republican chairmen are notorious for their facility in claiming everything after an election; and on this occasion they have shown their disposition very freely. Chairman Cooper, of our state, claimed the election of Harrison and Morand that New York was Republican by 20,000 majority, at an early hour on election night and before the gre returns could possibly justify it and our Republican fellow townsmen had a howl and a walk around, a court house bell ringing and a high old time generally, with abundant consumption of flery alcohol to attend their gladsome spirits till daylight did appear. If they can continue their pleasantry its early advent may not embarrass them ; but in a great country such as this it is some-before the count is all in.

And there are other states whose count must be awaited. Beside New Jersey, Connecticut, Indiana and California, which are now reported in the Democratic column, but may be transferred to the Republican before the final summing up, Ohio, now considered Republican, possibly may go to the Damocratic side.

Judge Thurman wired Chairman Brice late last night that he did not give up his state. With New York, Connecticut, Indiana and California the Democratic electoral ticket will have 191 votes, 201 being necessary to election. Ohio has 23 electoral votes, and may elect Cleveland and Thurman without New York, if she will.

Without claiming what we do not know that we have, and without conceding what we do not know we have lost, we will await patiently the complete returns of the election which are needed to deter. mine certainly its result.

The Sackville Correspondence.

The Eackville correspondence shows that the minister was dismissed while Lord Salisbury was awaiting information from Washington as to what the minister had said in his interview with newspaper correspondents, which Mr. Phelps advised Lord Salisbury, was the chief cause of offense. Lord Salisbury reasonably claimed, as the Sackville letter was a confidential one and had been published in violation of the seal of privacy upon it, that the writer of it could hardly be recalled on account of it, since it would be impracticable to lay down upon foreign ministers an injunction that would forbid them the private expression of their views upon the affairs of the country to which they were accredited. Our government was not disposed to await the interpretation put upon its minister's conduct by his own government, when it was satisfied that he was no longer a proper representative for it to have communication with; and it accordingly dismissed him, as it had a right to do. Lord Salisbury concedes that any public statement, such as made to a newspaper correspondent, that was obnoxious to our government, would be proper cause for dismissing a minister, as he would not then have the protection necessarily accorded to a private statement of opinion.

It has not been understood here that Lord Sackville's chief offense laid in his newspaper communication. And it is to be said about his letter, that though a minister may be at liberty to privately criticise the government to which he is accredited, yet when his opinions are communicated to the members of that government and are offensive to it, his future communications with it will be naturally embarrassed, and his usefulness as a intermediary so destroyed, that his withdrawal from his post becomes proper.

It Should Not Have Been. Our Republican fellow citizens were excusable for getting somewhat beside themselves on the aunouncement of the enthusiastic chairman of their state mittee, which was so unexpected by them, that their presidential ticket had then elected; but we do not see that they should have been permitted to express their joy by ringing the court house bell and running up the flag upon the court house flag staff. They should have remembered that the court house was not theirs, although all the offices are; and the court-house custodians should have recollected that they are officials of the people of the whole county, Demo-crats as well as Republicans. The court house bell should not be rung in celebration of a party triumph ; and to this we know the respectable sense of the Republican party will agree.

The Indian summer baze o'erhangs the land' The sad election bummer and the tired brass hand Are counting cash. The trees are lealless and the weather fair, With sleepe a vigilance and no despair We wait the smash

Of the whole gigantic Republican joilification over the supposed election of Blaine &

Our turn to obser is coming, and it may not be four years away. THE Republicans who rang the cour house bell on Tuesday night, took an out-rageous liberty with public properly, but perhaps it was just as well to give the customary signal of grave national disaster. CARLISLE and Mills are both re-elected

Hon. De Lorma Imbrie, a clerk in the suditor general's department, died in Harrisburg on Tuesday afternoon. He was a resident of Beaver county and was well known in the western part of the state. He represented his county in the legislature for three years, and was in the Benate in 1802. In 1874 he was chosen secretary of the constitutional convention, an honor that was much sought after by others. He was a man of culture, and had a wide circle of friends. He was about 68 years of age.

A Chinese Tiger Story. From the Pail Mail Gazette.

Here is a Chinese tiger story from a paper called The Hu Pao: West of Kaidin City, Kwantung Province in a wild, mountainous locality, lies the little village of Tak'ang Ts'un. Outside the village is a little old temple of Wu-ti, and the man in charge, who is not a shaven priest, carefully locks himself in at night; but two holes drilled in the door afford him a what hazardous to laugh too soon after an election, as has often been proved.

There is nothing so certain in the election returns up to this writing, as we go to press with our afternoon edition, whatever there may be later, as to warrant unbridled Republican rejoicing. There is an old adage about the slip between the cup and the lip which it is well to remember at election times. New York may be for Harrison as it looks to be; but the may gin is too small to rest securely on before the count is all in. tiger charged in over the prestrate door, and, not seeing the man who was hidden by it, selzed one of the josses which stood on each side of the door in its jaws and galloped away, while the man boited off to the village. The next day some grass-cutters on the mountains found the joss lying on a wild, lonely hillside, where it had been abandoned by the tiger, and recognizing the sacred image, brought it back to the village, and there heard the extraordinary story of its removal. iger charged in over the pr

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

Almost a Wreck It soften the case that a person gets into a run down condition, the cause of which it is almost impossible to determine. From a weak-ened system and impure blood, more and more serious disorders appear, until the constitution breaks down and some definite powerful disease gains a firm hold. When that tired feeling comes on it should be overcome at any cost; flood's flarsaparilia should be taken to revive the declining powers, restore the appetite and vitalize the blood."

"I feel it my duty to tell what I think of Hood's flarsaparenegille.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

I was in a very poor state of health for several months; for four weeks I was unable to work, and nothing seemed to be what I needed. My appetite was poor, I could not sleep, had headache a great deal, pains in the small of the back, my bowels did not move regularly. Why! I seemed almost a complete wreek. In this condition I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and in a short time it did me so much good that I feel Like a New Man I can't beein to tell all the good it did me. My pains and aches are relieved, my sppetité im-proved. Had I realized how much good a sin-
