

HON. JOHN T. MACGONIGLE

of a long struggle for the office, and Mr. MacGonigle thought the best chance for the place. Soon after his appointment the new collector entered upon his duties and filled the position very acceptably up to the time of his death.

Mr. MacGonigle was married to Alice R. McGrann, daughter of the late Richard McGrann, and sister of B. J. McGrann, the banker and farmer. They did not go to housekeeping until two years before they moved into their handsome new home, No. 214 East King street. There this genial and happy pair dispensed hospitality with lavish hand.

Mr. MacGonigle was a conspicuous member of St. Mary's Catholic church, and a zealous and indefatigable reader of the paper. He was a member of the Grand Lodge of the Grand Old Men of the world, and was one of the early trustees of St. Mary's orphan asylum. He was a member of the Pennsylvania Society, and was one of the directors of the Lancaster Building and Loan association. He always took an active interest in the county fairs, and was a member of the Eastern market house company, and one of the original organizers of the Lancaster City Street Railway company. His judgment on business affairs and value of property was such that he was a frequent arbitrator and viewer in cases of real estate.

With his busy career, Mr. MacGonigle yet retained an indefatigable reader. He was a singularly well read, not only on standard works of literature, but on the lighter reading of the day. He was a firm believer in the Baconian theory of Shakespeare's works, and was a frequent contributor to the literary press. He was a frequent contributor to the literary press, and was a frequent contributor to the literary press.

In his majority career he impressed as a man before the city government the doctrine of economy in the expenditure of appropriations, and every message contained a reference to the need of better water and sewerage facilities, of which he clearly drew the necessity years ago. He it was who secured the Belgian brick street pavement, possibly the best of the recent municipal improvements, and in his capacity of chief municipal officer he did not hesitate to lay hands upon offenders against the law.

John T. MacGonigle was a son of the late Bernard MacGonigle, who settled in Lancaster in 1811, and kept tavern for many years at the General Jackson hotel, or what is now the Eastern Market hotel, on East King street. He was a private of the 11th Pennsylvania, and his military career was a brilliant one. He was a member of the Society of the Friends of the Olden Time, and his military career was a brilliant one.

John T. MacGonigle was a son of the late Bernard MacGonigle, who settled in Lancaster in 1811, and kept tavern for many years at the General Jackson hotel, or what is now the Eastern Market hotel, on East King street. He was a private of the 11th Pennsylvania, and his military career was a brilliant one.

John T. MacGonigle was a son of the late Bernard MacGonigle, who settled in Lancaster in 1811, and kept tavern for many years at the General Jackson hotel, or what is now the Eastern Market hotel, on East King street. He was a private of the 11th Pennsylvania, and his military career was a brilliant one.

John T. MacGonigle was a son of the late Bernard MacGonigle, who settled in Lancaster in 1811, and kept tavern for many years at the General Jackson hotel, or what is now the Eastern Market hotel, on East King street. He was a private of the 11th Pennsylvania, and his military career was a brilliant one.

John T. MacGonigle was a son of the late Bernard MacGonigle, who settled in Lancaster in 1811, and kept tavern for many years at the General Jackson hotel, or what is now the Eastern Market hotel, on East King street. He was a private of the 11th Pennsylvania, and his military career was a brilliant one.

John T. MacGonigle was a son of the late Bernard MacGonigle, who settled in Lancaster in 1811, and kept tavern for many years at the General Jackson hotel, or what is now the Eastern Market hotel, on East King street. He was a private of the 11th Pennsylvania, and his military career was a brilliant one.

John T. MacGonigle was a son of the late Bernard MacGonigle, who settled in Lancaster in 1811, and kept tavern for many years at the General Jackson hotel, or what is now the Eastern Market hotel, on East King street. He was a private of the 11th Pennsylvania, and his military career was a brilliant one.

John T. MacGonigle was a son of the late Bernard MacGonigle, who settled in Lancaster in 1811, and kept tavern for many years at the General Jackson hotel, or what is now the Eastern Market hotel, on East King street. He was a private of the 11th Pennsylvania, and his military career was a brilliant one.

John T. MacGonigle was a son of the late Bernard MacGonigle, who settled in Lancaster in 1811, and kept tavern for many years at the General Jackson hotel, or what is now the Eastern Market hotel, on East King street. He was a private of the 11th Pennsylvania, and his military career was a brilliant one.

John T. MacGonigle was a son of the late Bernard MacGonigle, who settled in Lancaster in 1811, and kept tavern for many years at the General Jackson hotel, or what is now the Eastern Market hotel, on East King street. He was a private of the 11th Pennsylvania, and his military career was a brilliant one.

John T. MacGonigle was a son of the late Bernard MacGonigle, who settled in Lancaster in 1811, and kept tavern for many years at the General Jackson hotel, or what is now the Eastern Market hotel, on East King street. He was a private of the 11th Pennsylvania, and his military career was a brilliant one.

John T. MacGonigle was a son of the late Bernard MacGonigle, who settled in Lancaster in 1811, and kept tavern for many years at the General Jackson hotel, or what is now the Eastern Market hotel, on East King street. He was a private of the 11th Pennsylvania, and his military career was a brilliant one.

WHO CAN EXPLAIN?

What Causes Boilers to Explode?—The views of a Lancaster Mechanic.

EDITOR OF THE LANCASTER PRESS: I read in your paper the supposed cause of the late boiler explosion by some of our machinists and boiler-makers, and I think a good bit more might be said on a very important matter where people's lives and valuable property are in danger of destruction.

Water, what a gracious gift from God to man! It is the most abundant and most useful of all the elements of nature. It is the life-giver to all living creatures, and it is the most valuable of all the elements of nature.

Water, what a gracious gift from God to man! It is the most abundant and most useful of all the elements of nature. It is the life-giver to all living creatures, and it is the most valuable of all the elements of nature.

Water, what a gracious gift from God to man! It is the most abundant and most useful of all the elements of nature. It is the life-giver to all living creatures, and it is the most valuable of all the elements of nature.

Water, what a gracious gift from God to man! It is the most abundant and most useful of all the elements of nature. It is the life-giver to all living creatures, and it is the most valuable of all the elements of nature.

Water, what a gracious gift from God to man! It is the most abundant and most useful of all the elements of nature. It is the life-giver to all living creatures, and it is the most valuable of all the elements of nature.

Water, what a gracious gift from God to man! It is the most abundant and most useful of all the elements of nature. It is the life-giver to all living creatures, and it is the most valuable of all the elements of nature.

Water, what a gracious gift from God to man! It is the most abundant and most useful of all the elements of nature. It is the life-giver to all living creatures, and it is the most valuable of all the elements of nature.

Water, what a gracious gift from God to man! It is the most abundant and most useful of all the elements of nature. It is the life-giver to all living creatures, and it is the most valuable of all the elements of nature.

EDWARD BANKS CONVICTED.

THE JURY FIND HIM GUILTY OF SIX INDICTMENTS CHARGING LARCENY.

He is Sent to Jail For One Year and Nine Months—Benjamin Green Convicted of Committing an Assault on a Woman—A Tree Still Against G. M. Dellinger.

Tuesday Afternoon—Upon the resumption of the trial of Edward Banks, the jury found him guilty of six indictments charging larceny. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty on all six indictments, and the court sentenced him to one year and nine months in the county jail.

The jury in the case against Hiram Banks, next appeared in the role of a defendant in six cases of larceny. A large number of articles were found in the houses where the larceny was committed, and the jury rendered a verdict of guilty on all six indictments.

Benjamin Green was charged with committing an assault and battery on Mrs. Louise Riebel, of Salisbury township. According to the commonwealth's witnesses, Green was with some companions on the night of the assault, and he was the one who struck Riebel.

John C. Klinefelter was indicted for larceny and larceny as a bailee under these circumstances: Cyrus Sherzer, the prosecutor, is the owner of an island in the Susquehanna river, opposite Baltimore, known as Haldeman's Island. The defendant was the tenant farmer, Mr. Sherzer stocked the island with sheep, and the defendant sold one cow for $75, the property of Sherzer, and pocketed the proceeds.

John C. Klinefelter was indicted for larceny and larceny as a bailee under these circumstances: Cyrus Sherzer, the prosecutor, is the owner of an island in the Susquehanna river, opposite Baltimore, known as Haldeman's Island. The defendant was the tenant farmer, Mr. Sherzer stocked the island with sheep, and the defendant sold one cow for $75, the property of Sherzer, and pocketed the proceeds.

John C. Klinefelter was indicted for larceny and larceny as a bailee under these circumstances: Cyrus Sherzer, the prosecutor, is the owner of an island in the Susquehanna river, opposite Baltimore, known as Haldeman's Island. The defendant was the tenant farmer, Mr. Sherzer stocked the island with sheep, and the defendant sold one cow for $75, the property of Sherzer, and pocketed the proceeds.

John C. Klinefelter was indicted for larceny and larceny as a bailee under these circumstances: Cyrus Sherzer, the prosecutor, is the owner of an island in the Susquehanna river, opposite Baltimore, known as Haldeman's Island. The defendant was the tenant farmer, Mr. Sherzer stocked the island with sheep, and the defendant sold one cow for $75, the property of Sherzer, and pocketed the proceeds.

John C. Klinefelter was indicted for larceny and larceny as a bailee under these circumstances: Cyrus Sherzer, the prosecutor, is the owner of an island in the Susquehanna river, opposite Baltimore, known as Haldeman's Island. The defendant was the tenant farmer, Mr. Sherzer stocked the island with sheep, and the defendant sold one cow for $75, the property of Sherzer, and pocketed the proceeds.

WELSH MOUNTAIN, WAS PUT ON TRIAL FOR

WELSH MOUNTAIN, WAS PUT ON TRIAL FOR

WELSH MOUNTAIN, WAS PUT ON TRIAL FOR

WELSH MOUNTAIN, WAS PUT ON TRIAL FOR

WELSH MOUNTAIN, WAS PUT ON TRIAL FOR

WELSH MOUNTAIN, WAS PUT ON TRIAL FOR

WELSH MOUNTAIN, WAS PUT ON TRIAL FOR

WELSH MOUNTAIN, WAS PUT ON TRIAL FOR

WELSH MOUNTAIN, WAS PUT ON TRIAL FOR

WELSH MOUNTAIN, WAS PUT ON TRIAL FOR

WELSH MOUNTAIN, WAS PUT ON TRIAL FOR

HAS AN EYE ON CANADA.

President-Elect Harrison said to Favor the Purchase of It.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—A News special from Indianapolis says: An intimate friend of President-Elect Harrison, a friend and a confidant, like all presidents, will desire to do something that will give his administration a prominent place in the history of his country, and I have reason to believe that one of his first official acts will be the negotiation of a treaty with Great Britain.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—This city was started and shocked this morning by a report that another unfortunate had fallen a victim to the terrible knife of the Whitechapel fiend. In the opinion of the police, the report of a murder in Whitechapel reveals the fact that the woman was only wounded in the throat. She stated to the police that a man visited her lodgings and suddenly attacked her with a knife. She struggled and screamed, and the man, becoming alarmed, fled. The woman was chased fully 300 yards, but escaped.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—F. M. Babby, telegraph operator at Wheelock station, Ibberville parish, endeavored to beat out his brains yesterday on the railroad ties. Falling in this he cut his throat with his jack-knife as he walked with the bloody weapon, and a stream of blood pouring from his throat. Hearing a train approaching, he staggered toward the track, but fell before he reached it. He succeeded, however, in dragging himself near enough to place his neck upon the rail in time to have his head cut off. He was about 19 years old and is supposed to have come from Concord, Ohio.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—A News special from Elgin, Ill., says: Mrs. O. C. Sablin, the wife of the lawyer who pummeled Dr. A. N. Stone, has been subjected to a series of indignities, made an affidavit yesterday in which she says that the published charges wholly without foundation. She charges that her husband occupied her to sign the alleged confession.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Early last evening while Simon Lewis, who keeps a pawn shop on Keoland street, was engaged in his office, and while his daughter was in the rear of the store showing a customer some articles, a stone was thrown through the window and immediately a man from outside reached through the hole thus made and grasped a tray containing 10 diamond rings. Lewis and his daughter attempted to pursue the thief, but could not open the door, the thief having locked it on the outside. It is thought the thief dropped all but two rings valued at $165. Those which he dropped were recovered.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—The African traveler Dr. Baumann has given a full account of the captivity, with its attendant hardships, of himself and Dr. Mayer, his companion. He says they were held by Bushiri, Binliala, an Arab robber, who also has charges with having organized the rising in East Africa against the Germans. Dr. Baumann speaks of a rumor of a rising near the Central Lakes, which would account for the absence of news from Stanley.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Three hundred and ten barrels of naphtha on board the schooner United, exploded at Bristol today, killing three men and caused great havoc. The windows in all the surrounding buildings were wrecked. The oil floating on the water was caught in the Italian strikers held on account of wages due. A justice of the peace read the riot act. The Italians refused to obey the law, and the rioters held on. Three Italians were wounded and one killed. Vandye removed the engines. The men are not paid yet for September work.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Editor Christensen, of the Arbeiter Zeitung is out this week in his paper and throws the red flag to the breeze in his old time style. The English press of Chicago is attacked for the manner in which it opposes the poor and upholds the wealthy, and the paper says the Anarchists in Chicago is far from being dead, and that in a few weeks the organization of its followers will be more complete than it has ever been before. Meetings are being held nightly all over the city for the purpose of reorganizing the forces and exchanging addresses by well-known agitators.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—W. W. Drummond, once a supreme judge of Utah, dropped dead in a low grog shop in this city last evening. The dead man was a Virginian by birth, and in 1831 was appointed to the judiciary by President Pierce. For the last six years he has been known as a drunken pauper, living in the low saloons on the West Side.

BASE BALL MEN IN SESSION

THE LEAGUE DIRECTORS ENDEAVORED TO CHANGE THE RULES.

THE High and Low Ball System Not Generally Commended—Cleveland Litter to Wash the Place of Detroit—Mr. Ward Not to Be Secured by Washington.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Delegated to a convention of National Base Ball League were late arriving at the Fifth avenue hotel today. The joint committee on rules was in session until midnight last night. The committee were the chief topics of discussion this morning, and they were generally commended, with the exception of the high and low ball system. With regard to scoring, the unanimous opinion is that it would be a good thing to do away with the error columns, and substitute therefor a record book.

THE statement that the Washington would endeavor to secure Ward was given by President Hewitt, of the club, who positively denied that his club was an aspirant for the services of Ward. "The Boston man will," said Mr. Hewitt, "and we would like to have him, but $15,000 is a lot." Here Mr. Hewitt gave a long whistle which plainly intimated that Mr. Ward came too high for the Senators.

THE board of directors of the League met at 12:30, an approval of all matters pending in the official presentation of the pennant to the New York club. It also audited the accounts of last season's games and passed upon the average world championship games.

AT noon the convention went into session, and an approval of all matters pending in the official presentation of the pennant to the New York club. It also audited the accounts of last season's games and passed upon the average world championship games.

AT noon the convention went into session, and an approval of all matters pending in the official presentation of the pennant to the New York club. It also audited the accounts of last season's games and passed upon the average world championship games.

AT noon the convention went into session, and an approval of all matters pending in the official presentation of the pennant to the New York club. It also audited the accounts of last season's games and passed upon the average world championship games.

AT noon the convention went into session, and an approval of all matters pending in the official presentation of the pennant to the New York club. It also audited the accounts of last season's games and passed upon the average world championship games.

AT noon the convention went into session, and an approval of all matters pending in the official presentation of the pennant to the New York club. It also audited the accounts of last season's games and passed upon the average world championship games.