THE LEAP YEAR PARTY.

Entrement Given by Ladies at Entrement Sail.

In social event of the season in Lancashas been the entertainment given every stor by the ladies, and this being less is a successful effort was made last every to collipse all former efforts by a less reporty at Eshleman's hall.

The idea of a reversal of the principles of lastry was carried out with an amusing roughness, and the gentlemen found only on time by a lady or a married acting as chaperone, they were intro-ed to a receiving committee of five ried gentlemen, Mesara A. J. Stein-t, Walter Franklin, W. U. Hensel, C. J. war and David L. Shenk. They were an accorded to seats and provided with tet and testeful dancing cards with pencil. e of the beaux belies for the former ed is not strictly the masculine of the ter, had their cards of dances rapidly Hed, and some were left to face the awful bility of being wall flowers, a calamity int was more carefully averted by the than it usually is by gentlemen. In not the lesson given of attention to pariners was perfect in its way, and must be noted that Lancaster has never that a more thoroughly successful suclai entertainment. There were twenty dances on the list and the party began at eight and was over by half-past one. Six of the dances were waltess, four polkss, the Yorke was danced three times, the lancers four times, the Po-lees, Varieties and Centennial laucers each lace, Varieties and Centennial laucers each Taylor's orebes.rs. The floor committee was tireless in activity

d thoroughly efficient, and in the square and the rows of chairs almost ant. Some enthusiastic dancers perorming miraculous evolutions in small epace. Miss Messersmith, Mrs. Waler Franklin and Miss Spencer were the floor committee. Throughout the evening the gentlemen were treated like ladies and were not permitted to cross the room without an escort or to remain ding. The ladies hunted up their partners for each dance, and woe to the m who forgot his engagement or could not be found. The draft upon masculine not was at times painfully heavy. When the programme was half completed the en were escorted down stairs to the ard of trade rooms where they found a seautifully desorated table standing at the west end of the room, guarded by a broad ribbon stretched across, and presided over by the following ladies: Mrs. C. J. Swarr, Mrs. A. J. Steinman, Mrs. Walter Franklin and Misses Messersmith, Spencer and Kauffman. The gentlemen were sgalr given coats and the ladies served them with the best of good cheer in lavish abundence and with a care, promptness and good order not often found in a crowded dining room. Croquettes of rare excellence and chicken salad and broiled cysters on the same standard, with clives and saited almonds, were followed by creams, lose, harlegain fruit, cakes and coffee. Dancing was resumed with seal and when the com-pany dispersed the tired but bright faces of the dancers were the best evidence of a

About the middle of Ostober the INTEL LIGHNOUS published an Item giving some of the details of the murder of John P. Mo Cartay, former resident of Strasburg. A letter has been received by Mr. McCartney's brother at Strasburg giving some additional particulars. Deceased had crossed into Mexico and there he was murdered. His body was found in the cabin of a Mexican. The supposition is that he had a large amount of money in his possession received for eatile sold, and that robbery was the motive for the murder. He had but little money, however, as prior to his departure for Mexico he had deposited it in an Arisona bank. The owners of the here young McCartney was em ployed will make every effort to apprehend his murderer. Detectives have been employed to search for the guilty party.

THE INDIAN TO BE SELF-SUSTAINING. Report of the Stouz Commission to the Sec-

Report of the Sioux Communition to the Sectionary of the Interior.

The report of the Sioux commission, prepared by Capt. Prast and Judge Wright, is now in the hands of Secretary Vilas, to be embodied in his September report. The design of the commission, said Captain Prast, to a reporter in Carlisle, was to purchase one-half of the reservation, a tract containing 11,000,000 mores. The remainder was 10 be divided among the indians, who number about 15,000 persons. The price offered was fifty cents per sere. After repeated consultations the commission returned without having accomplished its purpose. The Indians than went to Washington and had several interviews with Secretary Vilas. The secretary agreed that the indians should receive $1 per sore for such of the land as abould be disposed of by the government within two years, 75 cents an acre for such as could be sold within four years and 50 cents an acre for the remainder. The Indians made a proposition that $15,000,000 be deposited to their credit in the United States treasury, bearing interest at 5 per cent per annum. The secretary declined this, and the matter there rests. Captain Pratit's report will advocate radical measures in dealing with the work of educating and elevating the Indians, but latterly he has changed his mind. This sentiment, it seems, is sleen their rests who have been prominently identified with this work. The report sleen recommends the passage of a bill conforming as mearly as possible to the proposition of the Indians, so far as the price of the land is concerned, and making it a law without any forther reference to their wiehes. This will be done in order to prevent the Indians from postponing a further estilement of the matter. The commission in their report specially recommend that the "aquaw men," white men who are married to Indian women, shall be driven away and made to support themselves. The influence of the "squaw men," it is claimed, is hurtful to the Indians. In the present case they are strongly suspected of having used

A Bobemian Romauce.

From the New York Mail.

There was a queer little wedding in the Church of the Bohemian Mission, on East Seventy-fourth street, last Sunday. The only guesis were four men and a little girl. The bride was young and pretty and wore a brown traveling dress, while the groom did not take off his overcoat. Rain was falling heavily without, but all was happiness within. The last chapter of a little romance was being brought to a close. A year ago the groom was a college student in Bohemia. His father, a Hebrew, was and is lo-day the richest man in all the year ago the groom was a college student in Bohemia. His father, a Hebrew, was and is to-day the richest man in all the country. He has vast estates, elegant residences, horses and servants, almost numberiess. His son, the college student, fell in love with a pretty girl who was a Romanist and of poor family. They became engaged. The father threatened, stormed and forbade the marriage. But his boy was really in love, and scraping together enough money to come to Americal landed here six months ago and found employment in the office of an express company. He worked hard, and was able in a short time to send for his fiances. She arrived a few days ago. They were married on Sunday. On Monday they commenced their new life in a third rate boarding house. In marrying the girl the young man voluntarily threw up all claims to the heirship of his father's vast fortune. It will be interesting to see how this match comes out,

A Warning to Young Men. Gen. James A. Walker, of Withevil le Virginian who recently moved to Los Angeles, California, which may serve as a warning to aspiring young men from going to Southern California. Gen. Walker's correspondent writes; "This is the most overrated country in the whole world. They have nothing here except climate, and—such climate! You nearly freeze in the morning and evening and burn up in the middle of the day. Everything is at a most exorbitant price. What do you think of coal being $40 per ton and wood at $14 per cord ? The fruit here is not half so good as it is in the East, with the solitary exception of grapes, which are the finest I have ever seen. The only thing that brings a farmer any revenue is alfalfa hay, which they can only raise by irrigation, which I very costly. The whole of Southern Callfornia is laid off into town and city lots, at from $500 to $5,000 per acre, and each owner expects to sell at those figures to some Eastern tenderfoot."
