Egdraulic Elevator Tested.

The hydraulic elevator in the building of the Poins estate on Chestnut street, opposite the railread station, was tested this morning. It was evident at the first trial that something, was that something was wrong with the water happly, and on uncoupling the supply pipe several dozen pieces of atone and pipe, a lew corn cobs and a piece of brass coupling were taken from it below the strainer. bris had evidently been forced from end of the city main with which the apply pipe connects on Christian street from the extreme end of the main. The connection will be changed so as to leave at the end of the main a pocket for the accumulation of rocks and other trifles, that the city may furnish with its elevator was thoroughly tested and worked with remarkable steediness, case and speed. With the exception of the passenger elevator at the Stevens house this is the only exclusively hydraulic elevator in the city, and though the water pressure at that point is only 25 pounds it raises a load of over 1,200 pounds without hesitation or tremor. A New Corrective for Dogs : Torpedots. From the Boston Post. From the Boston Post.

1 heard of a new and beneficial use to which the ordinary toy torpedo can be put, which goes far to reconcile me to its abuses in the hands of the reckless small boy. A lady at the West End who has a Siye iterrier which has a trick of wandering away from her when out on a walk and snapping good-humoredly at the heels of other people, brings the dog to his senses and her side by throwing a torpedo near him. The terrier is frightened at the explication, and not knowing whence it originates, flies back to his mistress for protection, and is swed into submissiveness for the rect of the walk. It occurs to me that some such system of terrorizing ought to some such system of terrorizing ought to be available with human beings of a cer-tain class, bores for instance, but I imagine that nothing less then dynamite would shake off a bore who had once firmly festened on his victim.

A Mon Terrib'y Injured. From the New Melland Clarion.

On Thursday afternoon Christian Stylicture, residing at Shoptown, rode a mule to Bareville, for the purpose of bringing home several tarticles of tinwars. Shortly after leaving the tim shop he was found lying on the pike in a helpless condition, bleeding profusely, and with his jaw broken near the ohin. He was taken to his home and a surgent summoned who dressed, the injury. The gentleman is doing well, the only inconvenience being the bandages which prevented him from talking freely. It is supposed that the mule frightened at the rattling of the tinwars. The Poor Directors

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH THE W LANCASTER BUSINESS COLLEGE?
Well, if you mean the largest enrollment of pupils for the first week of January since its organization, it is an indication that it is meeting with its reward and that ITS all right.
The L. B. C. does not hold out such inducements as "Fuil Course for $--," which has been characterized by a somewhat caustic write, as a "Bait FOR BULL HEADS," and while that is a rough way of putting it, it is true that the duil bay is the only one to profit by this arrangement. The bright young fellow must pay for the excessive cost of this instruction for the dull one.
DO YOU UNDERSTAND?
OUR patrons are our leading citizens and business men, and to them we would refer all applicants as to standing of this institution.
