A girl's face, where the budding rose
Of youthful beauty blooms and grows
By nature's it P conce, awest and good,
To fuller grace of womanhood.
Is there a sight on earth so hat?
Consider well the rown hate
That clouds the forehead pure and white;
The lowely eyes, like stare of light,
In whose clear, hand giance is seen
The soul untroubled and serone;
The ripe, hewiteshing lips, that part
With amiles like sunshine of the heart;
And all the charms, unnoted here,
That blocom sweet from year to year, A GIRL'S PAGE That blocom awest from year to year.

Time changes all. The fairest day
Of short lived aumner fades away,
And on the wintry gurden bed
The petals of the rose are shed;
Time steals the splendor from the hair,
And marks the brow with lines of care;
But there are brauties of the soul
That time and change may not control;
The faith and love, that still are blind
To others' faults, and good and kind,
And swift to help with blessed deede
A sister's or a brother's needs
These grow with years in brighter grace,
And add new beauty to the face.

—J. R. Bustwood,

THE PATENT MEDICINE ALMANAO. O paient medicine almanac!
I was a towering glapt
With a wearth of health and a vim of limb,
To ills end pills defant!
But now I have the phthisic,
and takeevery kind of physic,
Have a touch of sharp bronchitis,
And a restme togetitie.

And a raging tonelitie.

And I feel thy awful twinger, cerebro spinal meningitie.

O patent medicine almanae ! I read thy fearful pages With tears and fears and groans and moans, And shares and achee of ages! Aud now I have the vertigo

And tumbling in the dirt i go:
Have a general blood corruption,
Loss of vigor, lack of gumption,
And I feel that I am travelling down the last stage of consumption.

-From the Yankes Blade

To look upon a bright, beautiful baby and to number that the only medicine it ever takes is Dr. Bull's flaby eyrus, certainly conveits another family to the use of the remedy. The sight of an uniy inflamed boil or sore, to say nothing of its daugorous tendency, should induce any sufferer to try Laxador, the infail ble remedy for these troublesome blood disorders,

A Terrible Misfortune. It is a calamity of the direct kind to feel that one's physical energies are failing in the prime one's physical energies are failing in the prime of life—to feel more nerveless, more dispirited, weaker every day. Yet this is the unhappy lot of hundreds who surround us. A source of renewed strength which science approves, in behalf of which multitudes of the debilitated have and are every day testifying, and which, in countiess instances, has built up constitutions sapped by weakness and infirmity and long unbenefited by other means, surely commends itself to all who need a tonic. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is such a medicine—pure, botanic, soothing to the nerves, promotive of digestion and a fertiliser of the blood. Dyspepsia and nervousness—the first a cause, the second a consequence of lack of stamina—depart when a course of the Bitters is tried. All forms of malarial disease, rheumatism, kidney and bladder troube, constipation and billousness are annihilated by this standard family medicine.

Bupture cure guaranteed by Dr. J. B. Mayer, sel Arch street, Phiadelphia. Ease at once, no operation or delay from business, attested by thousands of cures after others fall, advice free, send for circular.

CUTIOURA REMEDIES. EVERY NIGHT I SCRATCHED

SETT. II, 1881.—Not a trace whatsower of the Gisease from which I suffered has shown itself since my oure.

We cannot do justice to the esteem in which Cutioura, the great Skin Cure, and Cutioura from it, and Cutioura Skin Beautifler, prepared from it, and Cutioura Emotvest, the new Blood Furifier, are held by the thousands appontationands whose lives have been made happy by the cure of agonising, humilisting, liching, soaly and pimply diseases of the skin, scalp and blood, with loss of hair.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catafrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themsalves of it. Deceptive remedies concored by ignorant presenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers is all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful pallistives. But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease he assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of sesing and of teating so affected as to be useless, the uvula so slongared, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.
