A PORT POUND. Louis Rapoteen Can Compose Poetry

The following extracts from a letter re-ceived at this office accompanying a poem, appear to be of literary interest:

"I can compose prose or poetry on any subject any one can mention. I would like to have a position to write for a paper.

give me a show. Sign Louis Napoleon to the top of the piece. I composed the piece herein enciceed. The pages are numbered

The poem, entitled "Courtship and Marriage," deals in the first stanz is with the promises and attentions of a lover and then comes this touching thought:

but oh my when the knot is tied and affections have flown away it the wife should sak the man for a cent he'deay wait till another day

my pocket's empty my money is gone the preacher got it all fifty cents is what we had whon last we left the ball

next that's done the house to sold and the buggy that was so fine because baby wants a pair of shoes and clothing all the time the barrel in the cellar is minus of meat the wife has told the man I must buy some shoes to cover my feet

we must do the best we can

before we were married we had plenty clothes the husband you know would say if we could only get back to our fermer statesays the wife you bet 1'd stay Is married life you know there's fun

if both do pull together but if one site down and the other runs you know there'll be falling weather the end

A ted Looking Man.

Some days ago William McCheaney was arrested in Orange, N.J., for burglary, after a terrible fight, in which he almost killed two policemen. The authorities of that town think that the man is a notorious criminal and they wish to know more about him. They have sent a circular and photograph of the prisoner to Chief of Police Smeltz. The picture shows that the prisoner made great resistance when his photograph was taken. A police officer hands and the prisoner has his face twisted up until it presents a horrible appearance.

Many On the Anxious Beach. From the Philadelphia Inquirer, Ex-Congressman Hiestand, of Lancaster, having withdrawn as a candidate for naval officer in this city, is now in pursuit of the internal revenue collectorship in the Lan-caster district. He has run up against a few other candidates for the same place. Major kilwood Griest, Sam Matt Fridy and Colonel Benjamin Franklin Kehleman, all having been mentioned. There is a good deal of Lancaster that has not yet been heard from, but enough has turned out to make it certain that there will not be a very great trouble in getting people to fill the

THE GREATEST IN THE WORLD.

Peonsy's Immense Purchase of Water Front on New York Bay. The New York World announces that the Pennsylvania railroad company has secured possession of 3,850 feet of shore front on New York bay. It has also purchased a large section of contiguous property. These immense accessions have been made with immense accessions have been made with such systematic secrecy that it is announced to day for the first time that a railroad terminal is to be constructed on the property, and with facilities ample to insure its being one of the largest in the world. This is the end of a long standing series of railroad speculations which have involved chi-fly the Lenigh Valley and the Pennsylvania railroad companies.

An Optreian Specialist, Charles S, Gill, the well-known jewelar of West King street, has just finished a regular West King street, has just finished a regular optician's course in the college of Dr. Julius Ring, the noted oculist of Cleveland, Ohto. Mr. Gill has been studying for several years preparatory to taking this course, and regraduated with very high honors after passing a very creditable examination. Mr. Gill is the first and only person in this city who is a regular graduated optician, and has such a dip'oma. He is now prepared to attend to all visual defects. He is posses ed of the knowledge as well as the 1-struments required; having purchased one of the largest and best sets of lenses in the country. There has long been room for a specialist of this kind in Lancaster, and persons desiring their eye sight preserved will do well by calling on Mr. Gill.
